Senate OKs Pact Rollcall Plan

House Group Backs April 15 Tax Deadline

Change In Filing Dates Would Ease Load For Millions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee agreed today to give some 55 million individual income taxpayers a month longer to labor over their tax returns—effective next year.

Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-NY) said in a statement the new plan would "make taxpaying easier for millions of Americans."

"In addition," Reed said, "the change in filing dates will ease the burden of those who assist in the preparation of returns." Tax lawyers and accountants have protested that most of their work is jammed now into the period from Jan. 1 to March 15.

Corporation Date Unchanged

The committee made no change in the March 15 date for filing corporation income tax returns, but it extended some of the deadlines for farmers and for several million taxpayers required to file estimates of their income in advance and make quarterly payments.

The deadline for advance estimates of a current year's income (and the first payment) would be shifted from March 15 to April 15.

No changes were made in the present dates of June 15, Sept. 15 and Jan. 15 for filing amended estimates and the last three quarterly payments. Final returns for individuals under this system would be shifted from March 15 to April 15.

Spreads Payments Evenly

Reed noted that under present law millions of taxpayers must pay their final quarterly installment on Jan. 15, based on their estimated income, "and then have only two months before they must again make substantial payments to the tax collector. This lumping together of tax payments simply serves to increase the difficulties of our taxpayers, especially those with small resources. The change agreed to today will spread payments more evenly."

Under present law, individuals are required to file estimates and make quarterly payments if they make more than $4,500 from salaries and wages, plus $600 for each exemption they claim, or if they have other income of more than $100.

Three Persons Killed, 60 Hurt In Calcutta Riot

CALCUTTA, India, Feb. 16 (AP)—Thousands of Communist - led rioters battled police and Indian army troops today in wild street fighting that wrecked a section of the city near Government House.

In a lingering stench of smoke and tear-gas three persons were shot dead and 60 wounded when police finally fired into rioters milling around Government House tonight.

(Parts of Calcutta apparently were isolated from local reporters. Advices reaching New Delhi said a mob smashed and set fire to books in the U. S. information agency's library in the business center of Calcutta.

Army Troops Called In

(Primary objective of the rioters apparently was the Bengali state legislative chambers in support of a teachers' strike and they burned the U. S. library en route.)

Police had to call in army troops late tonight to help restore order after the rioters persistently reformed and attacked.

Troops patrolled the stone-littered streets through the night in parts of the city that looked as though they had been torn by war bombings.

Assembly of more than five persons was forbidden by official order; carrying of weapons was outlawed.

44 Rioters Arrested

Five policemen, including two officers, were gravely injured and 16 mounted police and six horses were hurt. Forty-four rioters were arrested.

The rioting began when 10,000 demonstrators began the march on Government House and were challenged by police.

The rioters hurled paving stones through plate-glass windows, tore down street lights and stoned police vans.

Marilyn Monroe Shatters Quiet On Korean Front

WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Wednesday, Feb. 17 (AP)—Marilyn Monroe shattered the quiet on the Korean front yesterday.

Cheers, whistles and popping flash bulbs greeted the soldiers' favorite pin-up as she began her Korean tour.

The Reds on the other side must have thought the boys were getting up steam for an offensive.

More than 30,000 airmen, Marines and soldiers crowded into her first three shows.

She sang a little. But nobody minded that. The boys just came to see her. Her cocktail dress had a plunging neckline.

Men perched atop telephone poles and clambered over jeeps and tanks while firing away at the actress with their cameras.

First Money Bill Cut 5½ Millions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee, cutting only 5½ million dollars from President Eisenhower's requests, today recommended $3,333,241,600 for operating the Treasury and Post Office Departments during the year starting July 1.

Of the total, $577,855,600 was for the Treasury Department, and $2,755,386,000 for the Post Office Department. The Post Office estimated that stamp sales and other operating revenues would bring in $2,431,000,000 of the amount it will spend.

The bill is the first of a dozen major appropriations measures by which Congress will provide funds to operate the government next year. A second, providing funds for numerous independent government agencies, is expected to be ready next week.

The Treasury-Post Office bill will come up for House debate later this week.

Its total was cut only $5,541,400, or less than two-tenths of one per cent, from Eisenhower's recommended $3,338,783,000, but is $50,491,150 below the amount the two departments received this year.

Farm Couple Driven To Suicide By Grief

VANITA, Okla., Feb. 16 (AP)—A middle-aged farm couple, who friends said had brooded deeply since the highway accident deaths of their only son and daughter eight months ago, took their lives today after burning all their property.

Sheriff Jim Ince said both John McCord, 54, and his wife, 52, left suicide notes indicating grief for their children prompted their action.

They were found lying on a quilt which they had spread in a garden 100 yards from their four-room house. Each had been shot in the head, and a .32 caliber pistol lay between them.

Roosevelt Paid Debts With Loan From His Mother

PASADENA, Calif., Feb. 16 (AP)—Jimmy Roosevelt testified today he borrowed $100,000 from his mother, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, mostly to pay bills accumulated in his unsuccessful campaign for California governor four years ago.

"I found that there is nothing deader than a dead candidate," he said at the court battle on the demand of his estranged wife for $3,500 monthly temporary support.

Mrs. Romelle Roosevelt, 38, seeks the support for herself and their three children pending trial of the couple's separate maintenance suits. She has accused Roosevelt of misconduct with 12 women.

$72,185.15 In Red

Jimmy's lawyer filed today an amended balance sheet showing that as of last Jan. 31 He was in the red $72,185.15—contrary to his wife's claim that he is worth two million. Jimmy's previous balance sheet introduced at the hearing said his liabilities exceeded assets by $50,292.43.

The late President Franklin D. Roosevelt's eldest son testified the loan, at five per cent interest, was protected by an insurance policy on his life. The Roosevelt family finances then got a bit of an airing.

Paid Political Debts

He said his mother had pointed out that under his father's will she received "no money except interest from my father's estate and that her only estate is largely made up of the $100,000 which she made available to me.

"And she felt she must safeguard the people to whom she would like to leave some money at her death by making sure that she can be repaid the money which she had loaned me."

His attorney, Samuel B. Picone, asked what he did with the $100,000.

Roosevelt replied it went to pay political debts "and to help me pay an obligation which I had incurred guaranteeing my sister's account in Arizona."

Strong French Attacks Force Vietminh Back

Threat To Fortress Eased As Reds Yield Two Hill Positions

HANOI, Indochina, Feb. 16 (AP)—French Union forces seized the offensive in northwestern Indochina today. Troops 4,000 to 5,000 strong broke out of Dien Bien Phu in attacks on three Vietminh "elite" divisions long threatening that embattled American-equipped fortress.

The French claimed the Communist-led rebels suffered heavy, uncounted losses. They described their own as "appreciable."

Union troops, tired of their 88-day wait for a rebel attack, knocked out many rebel gun emplacements in the surrounding hills and forced the Vietminh to withdraw nine miles or more from Dien Bien Phu. They captured two rebel hill positions in fierce hand-to-hand combat.

French Beef Up Punch

While the French had made previous sorties, they beefed up their punch today more than ever before. Dien Bien Phu is the last French stronghold in the Thai country 180 miles west of Hanoi.

"My aim is to destroy the enemy," Gen. Rene Cogny, French commander in northern Indochina, declared. He issued a permanent order of the day today which said: "Attack, attack, attack."

French Sengalese and Moroccan units and Foreign Legionnaires hacked their way through the jungle to seize Vietminh hill positions.

French Strategy Not Clear

It was not yet clear whether the French side—believed outnumbered as much as 6 to 1 by the estimated 36,000 rebels in Vietminh's Divisions 312, 316, and 351—were drawing the rebels into a decisive battle.

But it appeared the Vietminh had lost any chance for the present to recapture Dien Bien Phu. The rebels shied off too long from tangling with the firepower of tanks, armored units, mobile artillery, mortars, heavy machineguns, and other American-made weapons airlifted into the dusty plain fortress.

FBI Probe Of Warren Reported Under Way

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The FBI was reported today to have begun an investigation of Earl Warren, as requested by Sen. Langer (R-ND) in connection with the former California governor's nomination to be chief justice of the United States.

Langer, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, could not be reached for comment. But other sources said the FBI had started a check on Warren such as it customarily makes on nominees for various federal judicial posts.

Such checks are routine procedure, but the Justice Department took the position this practice did not extend to Supreme Court justices, and especially to a chief justice, and did not direct the FBI to probe Warren before his appointment.

Marine Corps Opens Public Probe Of Schwable Germ War Confession

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—A hearing to determine whether a court martial will be proposed for Marine Col. Frank W. Schwable for confessing falsely to germ warfare opened today before a military court of inquiry.

Schwable repudiated the confession after his release as a Red war prisoner and said it was extracted through "extreme torment."

The hearing was thrown open to the press and public. It got off to a slow, routine start, given over to developing preliminary background information. Later on, former war prisoners and several doctors will be called as witnesses. The proceedings may run on for three weeks.

It is for the court of inquiry, made up of three Marine generals and a Navy admiral, to decide on the basis of the hearing whether Schwable's conduct warrants trial by court-martial or whether the circumstances of his confession were such as to recommend against it. The panel itself makes no determination of guilt or innocence.

The 45-year-old colonel is the first Marine in history, officials said, to face a court of inquiry for his conduct while a war prisoner. Still on active duty and living in nearby Arlington, Va., Schwable was the senior Marine officer captured in Korea.

He and Major Roger Bley of Cabool, Mo., were seized when their plane was shot down July 8, 1952, while they were on a non-combat mission and accidentally crossed enemy lines. Schwable at the time was chief of staff for the 1st Marine Air Wing.

Bley, who is to be called as a witness, also confessed to germ warfare. So also did 33 members of the Air Force, whose cases are under investigation by a special commission.

No Headway Made On Austrian Pact

BERLIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—Russia tonight refused again to free Austria from Red troops in an independence treaty to be signed now, but offered to talk in 1955 about a military withdrawal.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov tried to sugarcoat his proposal for Austria's indefinite occupation with the suggestion it could be discussed anew next year.

The Western powers, together with Austria, accused Molotov of transforming the Austrian treaty draft into a "tragic fraud" and quickly turned down his new amendment.

But the Big Four foreign ministers' conference agreed to devote another session on Thursday — adjournment day — to the Austrian issue.

West Attacks Amendment

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault attacked the Molotov amendment as making no real difference to his original occupation proposal. This would leave four power armies in Austria as long as Germany is divided between the East and West.

Attributing his military demands on Austria to the anti-Soviet threat he sees in the European Defense Community with West German troops, Molotov lashed back at the Allied ministers:

"It seems to us that if this (EDC) treaty is not ratified in 1954 it will go into the ash heap and we are not sorry about that."

Molotov Supplies Words

Molotov demanded that the West sanction Russia's continued occupation of Austria in these words:

"In connection with the delay of the conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany, the governments of the United States, United Kingdom and France and the Soviet Union shall have the right, after the coming into force of the treaty with Austria, to postpone temporarily the withdrawal of their troops from the territory of the respective zones of Austria.

"At the same time the governments of the four powers deem it necessary not later than in 1955 to reconsider the question of the date of withdrawal of the four power from the territory of Austria."

Red-Led Strike Rioting Subdued By Italian Police

ROME, Feb. 16 (AP)—Communists went on strike and rioted in Italy today and were quickly subdued in rough encounters with riot police ordered into action by the new government.

The demonstrations — obviously aimed at harassing the fledgling regime of Premier Mario Scelba—left one man dead, scores injured and more than 500 in jail.

Although the Red-bossed strike was centered in Rome, the sharpest rioting was in Milan where Communists claimed club-wielding police killed a 55-year-old worker taking part in an unauthorized demonstration.

Victim Had Weak Heart

Police said the victim had a weak heart and presumably died of a heart attack. The Interior Ministry in Rome supported this claim.

The strike in Rome was a 24-hour protest for higher wages marked by some minor violence. The situation dramatized the major problems of Scelba's week-old regime—communism and pay hike demands.

Armed riot police, organized as an anti-Communist weapon by Scelba six years ago when he was interior minister, moved in fast. Their red jeeps dashed toward the crowd of several hundreds and sent most fleeing into side streets.

Ministers Back Scelba

The short-lived demonstration took place only a few blocks from Viminale Palace, where Scelba was meeting for the second time with the cabinet he hopes will bring a period of stable government to Italy.

A brief announcement after the meeting said the ministers had given unanimous support to Scelba's program, which included answers to the mounting demands of labor, both Communist and non-Communist, for higher wages and other benefits. No details were given, but Scelba has indicated he will try to push through strong social reform measures in the hope of softening leftist opposition.

ILA Moving Closer To Union With UMW

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Independent International Longshoremen's Assn. reportedly moved somewhat closer today to a merger with John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers.

ILA officials from Southern ports met here today, then conferred with UMW chiefs looking to a merger which would make ILA a self-ruling division in the catch-all district 50 of the coal miners' union.

Official comment was lacking when the day-long talks ended, but informed sources said the discussion got down to such fine points as a new name for ILA, which was expelled from the AFL last September because of alleged domination by racketeers.

Backs Change In Constitution By 72-16 Vote

Requirement Added To Bricker Measure As Real Test Nears

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Senate voted 72-16 today in favor of amending the Constitution to require record, rollcall votes whenever it ratifies or rejects a treaty.

It attached the requirement to the controversial Bricker amendment, the chief aim of which is to put sharp limitations on the President's treaty-making powers.

President Eisenhower is firmly opposed to the key section of the Bricker amendment—sponsored by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio)—but Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said the President does not object to the compulsory rollcall clause.

Many treaties in the past have been ratified by voice votes. Sometimes only a handful of senators have been present when the ratification took place.

Some Ridiculed Idea

Although some senators ridiculed the idea of amending the constitution to require a rollcall vote, arguing the same thing could be accomplished by a simple change in the Senate rules, most of them voted for the provision.

Like the first test vote on the Bricker amendment yesterday, today's vote was not regarded as a key to how the Senate will line up when the time comes for a decision on the main issue.

Sen. Cooper (R-Ky), Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) and the 14 Democrats who joined them in opposing the rollcall proposal today might be considered, however, as a bloc which is against any change in the Constitution at this time.

First Real Test Near

The first real voting test may come tomorrow when administration leaders will move to amend Article VI of the Constitution to require that all treaties must be made in "pursuance" to the Constitution to become the supreme law of the land.

This is the same constitutional rule that applies to federal laws. Administration leaders feel that extending it to treaties will permit the courts to review treaties when their constitutionaliy is challenged.

Six Mich. Red Leaders Guilty

DETROIT, Feb. 16 (AP)—A federal court jury today found six top Michigan Communists guilty of Smith Act violations after just six hours of deliberation on four months of prosecution and defense evidence.

The defendants, Saul Wllman, Nat Ganley, Mrs. Helen A. Winter, Thomas D. Dennis Jr., William Allan and Philip Schatz face maximum prison sentences of five years.

Judge Frank A. Picard set Friday as the date for their sentencing.

Fred W. Kaess, U. S. district attorney in charge of the government's case, said: "The jurors' verdict in the Detroit case again proclaimed to the nation that the insidious, materialist Communist conspiracy must be stopped. Freedom loving people everywhere should be inspired by the resounding guilty verdict," he said.

Teamsters Back Plan For Ferrying Trucks

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 16 (AP)—The AFL Teamsters Union today endorsed trucking industry plans to cut transportation costs by ferrying thousands of loaded truck-trailers by ship along the Atlantic Coast.

Dave Beck, Teamsters Union President, disclosed that one firm is ready to build four specially designed ships each capable of carrying 240 fully loaded truck-trailers, and predicted rapid expansion of such service along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

"This is the trucking industry's answer to high road taxes imposed by the states, and we won't stand in the way of progress," Beck said.

Congress To Get Ike's Atom Message Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower will send his atomic energy message to Congress tomorrow.

The White House already has announced the message will ask amendment of the Atomic Energy Act to allow sharing of some atomic information with this country's allies and a greater participation by private industry in the development of atomic energy for peacetime power purposes.

Widow Joyfully Prepares For Return Of Foster Son

MONROE, Wis., Feb. 16 (AP)—"I've got everything waiting for Jeffrey," a young widow who has fought to retain her 2½-year-old foster son from the state cried today. "I just can't wait till I get him."

But Mrs. Dorothy Tschudy, 29, and the toys she has in readiness may wait a long while for the little boy she mothered for most of his life. The Wisconsin attorney general's office said at Madison it would oppose execution of a County Court decision yesterday awarding Jeffrey to Mrs. Tschudy, and would appeal the decision to the state Supreme Court.

"I'm so happy I don't know which way to turn," said Mrs. Tschudy, who has worked as a hospital nurse's aid since her husband's death from a heart attack a year ago. "I've prayed so hard."

The death of Vernon Tschudy, 30, precipitated the action by which the State Department of Public Welfare took Jeffrey away from his foster mother last fall on the grounds two parents were necessary for adoption. Columbia County Judge Elton J. Morrison ruled last night the department overstepped its authority in that move, and granted Mrs. Tschudy's petition for adoption.

But while the young foster mother joyfully prepared for baby Jeffrey's return, officialdom questioned whether the little boy would be taken out of his new, unidentified home and returned to Mrs. Tschudy pending an appeal.

South Korean Threat Not Taken Seriously

SEOUL, Wednesday, Feb. 17 (AP)—South Korea threatened yesterday to prevent 3,000 Indian troops from leaving for home until given satisfaction over 76 Korean War prisoners taken away to India.

The Indian command promptly hinted helicopters might fly out the troops from the neutral zone to ships at the port of Inchon.

The feeling around U. S. 8th Army headquarters appeared to be that South Korea was bluffing and no official notice of the threat was necessary.

The 76 prisoners were Koreans who had fought on the Red side and, when captured, asked to be sent to neutral countries.

Still Wasn't Raid-Proof

ANGOLA, La., Feb. 16 (AP)—Moonshiners at the state penitentiary here thought they had a raid proof still.

The Angolite, inmate weekly, told today of a recent raid by prison security officers.

Crazed Woman Shoots Five Relatives, Two Fatally, Self

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—A berserk woman firing a target rifle with marksman's accuracy today turned a darkened home into a ghostly shooting gallery and wounded five women relatives, two of them fatally. Then, survivors said, she put a nearly fatal bullet into her own head.

The bodies of Miss Marion Gilbert, 30, and her sister, Virginia Gilbert, 26, both clad in nightgowns, were found in the living room of their home in suburban Clinton Heights.

Nearby lay another sister, Eleanor, 33. Beside her was the .22 caliber rifle she used in her favorite sports, target shooting and hunting.

State Police Inspector Joseph W. Sayers said the other survivors reported Eleanor had wielded the gun.

However, he said, they were too upset to give a full story right away, and no motive was uncovered.

Eleanor was taken to Memorial Hospital in Alabany. Also in the hospital, but not considered in serious condition, were:

Mrs. Eleanor Gilbert, 56, mother of the three girls, and her two sisters, Mrs. Katherine Baumann, 59, and Miss Florence Haggerty, who will be 54 tomorrow.

The women all lived together in the three-bedroom brick house.

Weather Forecast

This is the same constitutional rule that applies to federal laws. Administration leaders feel that extending it to treaties will permit the courts to review treaties when their constitutionaliy is challenged.

Three Persons Killed, 60 Hurt In Calcutta Riot

CALCUTTA, India, Feb. 16 (AP)—Thousands of Communist - led rioters battled police and Indian army troops today in wild street fighting that wrecked a section of the city near Government House.

In a lingering stench of smoke and tear-gas three persons were shot dead and 60 wounded when police finally fired into rioters milling around Government House tonight.

(Parts of Calcutta apparently were isolated from local reporters. Advices reaching New Delhi said a mob smashed and set fire to books in the U. S. information agency's library in the business center of Calcutta.

Army Troops Called In

(Primary objective of the rioters apparently was the Bengali state legislative chambers in support of a teachers' strike and they burned the U. S. library en route.)

Police had to call in army troops late tonight to help restore order after the rioters persistently reformed and attacked.

Troops patrolled the stone-littered streets through the night in parts of the city that looked as though they had been torn by war bombings.

Assembly of more than five persons was forbidden by official order; carrying of weapons was outlawed.

44 Rioters Arrested

Five policemen, including two officers, were gravely injured and 16 mounted police and six horses were hurt. Forty-four rioters were arrested.

The rioting began when 10,000 demonstrators began the march on Government House and were challenged by police.

The rioters hurled paving stones through plate-glass windows, tore down street lights and stoned police vans.

Marilyn Monroe Shatters Quiet On Korean Front

WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Wednesday, Feb. 17 (AP)—Marilyn Monroe shattered the quiet on the Korean front yesterday.

Cheers, whistles and popping flash bulbs greeted the soldiers' favorite pin-up as she began her Korean tour.

The Reds on the other side must have thought the boys were getting up steam for an offensive.

More than 30,000 airmen, Marines and soldiers crowded into her first three shows.

She sang a little. But nobody minded that. The boys just came to see her. Her cocktail dress had a plunging neckline.

Men perched atop telephone poles and clambered over jeeps and tanks while firing away at the actress with their cameras.

Roosevelt Paid Debts With Loan From His Mother

PASADENA, Calif., Feb. 16 (AP)—Jimmy Roosevelt testified today he borrowed $100,000 from his mother, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, mostly to pay bills accumulated in his unsuccessful campaign for California governor four years ago.

"I found that there is nothing deader than a dead candidate," he said at the court battle on the demand of his estranged wife for $3,500 monthly temporary support.

Mrs. Romelle Roosevelt, 38, seeks the support for herself and their three children pending trial of the couple's separate maintenance suits. She has accused Roosevelt of misconduct with 12 women.

$72,185.15 In Red

Jimmy's lawyer filed today an amended balance sheet showing that as of last Jan. 31 He was in the red $72,185.15—contrary to his wife's claim that he is worth two million. Jimmy's previous balance sheet introduced at the hearing said his liabilities exceeded assets by $50,292.43.

The late President Franklin D. Roosevelt's eldest son testified the loan, at five per cent interest, was protected by an insurance policy on his life. The Roosevelt family finances then got a bit of an airing.

Paid Political Debts

He said his mother had pointed out that under his father's will she received "no money except interest from my father's estate and that her only estate is largely made up of the $100,000 which she made available to me.

"And she felt she must safeguard the people to whom she would like to leave some money at her death by making sure that she can be repaid the money which she had loaned me."

His attorney, Samuel B. Picone, asked what he did with the $100,000.

Roosevelt replied it went to pay political debts "and to help me pay an obligation which I had incurred guaranteeing my sister's account in Arizona."

Red-Led Strike Rioting Subdued By Italian Police

ROME, Feb. 16 (AP)—Communists went on strike and rioted in Italy today and were quickly subdued in rough encounters with riot police ordered into action by the new government.

The demonstrations — obviously aimed at harassing the fledgling regime of Premier Mario Scelba—left one man dead, scores injured and more than 500 in jail.

Although the Red-bossed strike was centered in Rome, the sharpest rioting was in Milan where Communists claimed club-wielding police killed a 55-year-old worker taking part in an unauthorized demonstration.

Victim Had Weak Heart

Police said the victim had a weak heart and presumably died of a heart attack. The Interior Ministry in Rome supported this claim.

The strike in Rome was a 24-hour protest for higher wages marked by some minor violence. The situation dramatized the major problems of Scelba's week-old regime—communism and pay hike demands.

Armed riot police, organized as an anti-Communist weapon by Scelba six years ago when he was interior minister, moved in fast. Their red jeeps dashed toward the crowd of several hundreds and sent most fleeing into side streets.

Ministers Back Scelba

The short-lived demonstration took place only a few blocks from Viminale Palace, where Scelba was meeting for the second time with the cabinet he hopes will bring a period of stable government to Italy.

A brief announcement after the meeting said the ministers had given unanimous support to Scelba's program, which included answers to the mounting demands of labor, both Communist and non-Communist, for higher wages and other benefits. No details were given, but Scelba has indicated he will try to push through strong social reform measures in the hope of softening leftist opposition.

Six Mich. Red Leaders Guilty

DETROIT, Feb. 16 (AP)—A federal court jury today found six top Michigan Communists guilty of Smith Act violations after just six hours of deliberation on four months of prosecution and defense evidence.

The defendants, Saul Wllman, Nat Ganley, Mrs. Helen A. Winter, Thomas D. Dennis Jr., William Allan and Philip Schatz face maximum prison sentences of five years.

Judge Frank A. Picard set Friday as the date for their sentencing.

Fred W. Kaess, U. S. district attorney in charge of the government's case, said: "The jurors' verdict in the Detroit case again proclaimed to the nation that the insidious, materialist Communist conspiracy must be stopped. Freedom loving people everywhere should be inspired by the resounding guilty verdict," he said.

Teamsters Back Plan For Ferrying Trucks

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 16 (AP)—The AFL Teamsters Union today endorsed trucking industry plans to cut transportation costs by ferrying thousands of loaded truck-trailers by ship along the Atlantic Coast.

Dave Beck, Teamsters Union President, disclosed that one firm is ready to build four specially designed ships each capable of carrying 240 fully loaded truck-trailers, and predicted rapid expansion of such service along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

"This is the trucking industry's answer to high road taxes imposed by the states, and we won't stand in the way of progress," Beck said.

First Money Bill Cut 5½ Millions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee, cutting only 5½ million dollars from President Eisenhower's requests, today recommended $3,333,241,600 for operating the Treasury and Post Office Departments during the year starting July 1.

Of the total, $577,855,600 was for the Treasury Department, and $2,755,386,000 for the Post Office Department. The Post Office estimated that stamp sales and other operating revenues would bring in $2,431,000,000 of the amount it will spend.

The bill is the first of a dozen major appropriations measures by which Congress will provide funds to operate the government next year. A second, providing funds for numerous independent government agencies, is expected to be ready next week.

The Treasury-Post Office bill will come up for House debate later this week.

Its total was cut only $5,541,400, or less than two-tenths of one per cent, from Eisenhower's recommended $3,338,783,000, but is $50,491,150 below the amount the two departments received this year.

FBI Probe Of Warren Reported Under Way

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The FBI was reported today to have begun an investigation of Earl Warren, as requested by Sen. Langer (R-ND) in connection with the former California governor's nomination to be chief justice of the United States.

Langer, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, could not be reached for comment. But other sources said the FBI had started a check on Warren such as it customarily makes on nominees for various federal judicial posts.

Such checks are routine procedure, but the Justice Department took the position this practice did not extend to Supreme Court justices, and especially to a chief justice, and did not direct the FBI to probe Warren before his appointment.

"I've just about chopped my row out."

Mrs. Alexander died today.

Farm Couple Driven To Suicide By Grief

VANITA, Okla., Feb. 16 (AP)—A middle-aged farm couple, who friends said had brooded deeply since the highway accident deaths of their only son and daughter eight months ago, took their lives today after burning all their property.

Sheriff Jim Ince said both John McCord, 54, and his wife, 52, left suicide notes indicating grief for their children prompted their action.

They were found lying on a quilt which they had spread in a garden 100 yards from their four-room house. Each had been shot in the head, and a .32 caliber pistol lay between them.

Marine Corps Opens Public Probe Of Schwable Germ War Confession

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—A hearing to determine whether a court martial will be proposed for Marine Col. Frank W. Schwable for confessing falsely to germ warfare opened today before a military court of inquiry.

Schwable repudiated the confession after his release as a Red war prisoner and said it was extracted through "extreme torment."

The hearing was thrown open to the press and public. It got off to a slow, routine start, given over to developing preliminary background information. Later on, former war prisoners and several doctors will be called as witnesses. The proceedings may run on for three weeks.

It is for the court of inquiry, made up of three Marine generals and a Navy admiral, to decide on the basis of the hearing whether Schwable's conduct warrants trial by court-martial or whether the circumstances of his confession were such as to recommend against it. The panel itself makes no determination of guilt or innocence.

The 45-year-old colonel is the first Marine in history, officials said, to face a court of inquiry for his conduct while a war prisoner. Still on active duty and living in nearby Arlington, Va., Schwable was the senior Marine officer captured in Korea.

He and Major Roger Bley of Cabool, Mo., were seized when their plane was shot down July 8, 1952, while they were on a non-combat mission and accidentally crossed enemy lines. Schwable at the time was chief of staff for the 1st Marine Air Wing.

Bley, who is to be called as a witness, also confessed to germ warfare. So also did 33 members of the Air Force, whose cases are under investigation by a special commission.

South Korean Threat Not Taken Seriously

SEOUL, Wednesday, Feb. 17 (AP)—South Korea threatened yesterday to prevent 3,000 Indian troops from leaving for home until given satisfaction over 76 Korean War prisoners taken away to India.

The Indian command promptly hinted helicopters might fly out the troops from the neutral zone to ships at the port of Inchon.

The feeling around U. S. 8th Army headquarters appeared to be that South Korea was bluffing and no official notice of the threat was necessary.

The 76 prisoners were Koreans who had fought on the Red side and, when captured, asked to be sent to neutral countries.

Still Wasn't Raid-Proof

ANGOLA, La., Feb. 16 (AP)—Moonshiners at the state penitentiary here thought they had a raid proof still.

The Angolite, inmate weekly, told today of a recent raid by prison security officers.

The culprits figure the smokestack would carry off unnoticed the fumes.

Widow Joyfully Prepares For Return Of Foster Son

MONROE, Wis., Feb. 16 (AP)—"I've got everything waiting for Jeffrey," a young widow who has fought to retain her 2½-year-old foster son from the state cried today. "I just can't wait till I get him."

But Mrs. Dorothy Tschudy, 29, and the toys she has in readiness may wait a long while for the little boy she mothered for most of his life. The Wisconsin attorney general's office said at Madison it would oppose execution of a County Court decision yesterday awarding Jeffrey to Mrs. Tschudy, and would appeal the decision to the state Supreme Court.

"I'm so happy I don't know which way to turn," said Mrs. Tschudy, who has worked as a hospital nurse's aid since her husband's death from a heart attack a year ago. "I've prayed so hard."

The death of Vernon Tschudy, 30, precipitated the action by which the State Department of Public Welfare took Jeffrey away from his foster mother last fall on the grounds two parents were necessary for adoption. Columbia County Judge Elton J. Morrison ruled last night the department overstepped its authority in that move, and granted Mrs. Tschudy's petition for adoption.

But while the young foster mother joyfully prepared for baby Jeffrey's return, officialdom questioned whether the little boy would be taken out of his new, unidentified home and returned to Mrs. Tschudy pending an appeal.

ILA Moving Closer To Union With UMW

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Independent International Longshoremen's Assn. reportedly moved somewhat closer today to a merger with John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers.

ILA officials from Southern ports met here today, then conferred with UMW chiefs looking to a merger which would make ILA a self-ruling division in the catch-all district 50 of the coal miners' union.

Official comment was lacking when the day-long talks ended, but informed sources said the discussion got down to such fine points as a new name for ILA, which was expelled from the AFL last September because of alleged domination by racketeers.

Crazed Woman Shoots Five Relatives, Two Fatally, Self

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—A berserk woman firing a target rifle with marksman's accuracy today turned a darkened home into a ghostly shooting gallery and wounded five women relatives, two of them fatally. Then, survivors said, she put a nearly fatal bullet into her own head.

The bodies of Miss Marion Gilbert, 30, and her sister, Virginia Gilbert, 26, both clad in nightgowns, were found in the living room of their home in suburban Clinton Heights.

Nearby lay another sister, Eleanor, 33. Beside her was the .22 caliber rifle she used in her favorite sports, target shooting and hunting.

State Police Inspector Joseph W. Sayers said the other survivors reported Eleanor had wielded the gun.

However, he said, they were too upset to give a full story right away, and no motive was uncovered.

Eleanor was taken to Memorial Hospital in Alabany. Also in the hospital, but not considered in serious condition, were:

Mrs. Eleanor Gilbert, 56, mother of the three girls, and her two sisters, Mrs. Katherine Baumann, 59, and Miss Florence Haggerty, who will be 54 tomorrow.

The women all lived together in the three-bedroom brick house.

Congress To Get Ike's Atom Message Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower will send his atomic energy message to Congress tomorrow.

The White House already has announced the message will ask amendment of the Atomic Energy Act to allow sharing of some atomic information with this country's allies and a greater participation by private industry in the development of atomic energy for peacetime power purposes.

Demo Senators Blast Butter Price Prop Cut

"Death Blow" To Dairy Farmers, Humphrey Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Angry debate over the Eisenhower administration's farm policies erupted on the Senate floor today as Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) contended that lower price supports for butter will deal "a death blow" to many dairy farmers.

Across the capitol, Rep. Andresen (R-Minn) led a move to block the administration's order for a slash of 15 parity points in federal price props for dairy products.

Reportedly with support from some farm state Democrats and Republicans, Andresen introduced a bill providing that dairy price supports for any year should not be reduced "by more than five per cent."

In the Senate, bitter charges and countercharges, liberally spiced with political overtones, centered on Secretary of Agriculture Benson's announcement yesterday that the support level for butter will be cut from 90 to 75 per cent of parity—the legal maximum—effective April 1.

Parity is a formula designed to give farmers a fair return on their products in relation to the prices of basic things they buy.

One after another, Democratic senators rose to join in critical blasts at the administration's farm program, designed to shift from rigid high-level price supports to a sliding-scale "flexible" system aimed at trimming the present huge stocks of government-held farm surpluses.

At one point, Humphrey shouted that lower supports would mean "millions of children" would not get a glass of milk because dairymen could not operate at lower prices, and he told the Senate:

"A government that can't figure out what to do with too much food certainly will never be able to balance a budget."

Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill), defending Benson, accused the Democrats of engaging in "frothy talk" which he said reminded him of troubles that beset the Hoover administration in 1931.

Dirksen said that in their campaign to defeat former President Hoover the Democrats deliberately blocked Hoover's program to combat the then deepening depression, and he declared:

"You beat a great statesman, but while you were doing it you crucified a country."

Describing the current economic dip as a natural result of the end of the Korean War, Dirksen told the Senate:

"President Eisenhower will swing the country out of it within a few months."

"Buried" Man Turns Up Very Much Alive

PASSAIC, N. J., Feb. 16 (AP)—The City of Passaic buried a man officials thought was 78-year-old John Dudik in a pauper's grave early this month, but now Dudik has turned up very much alive.

The big question now is:

Who was buried in his place in East Ridgelawn Cemetery in nearby Clifton?

The mystery case started Feb. 6 when police answered a call from rooming house operator Louis Pfefferbaum, who said he found a roomer dead in bed. It was Dudik's bed and Pfefferbaum said it was Dudik, police reported.

Yesterday, Eugene Kelly, a social case worker for the City Welfare Department, went to the rooming house to check on relief clients.

He saw a man he recognized.

"What are you doing here?" Kelly asked.

"I live here," the man replied.

"But we buried you earlier this month," Kelly told the real John Dudik.

Now Detective Sgt. Andrew Pokrywka has been assigned by police to find out just who it was the city buried.

'Find' Indicates Size Of Cavern Underestimated

CRYSTAL CAVE, Ky., Feb. 16 (AP)—An exploration party today recorded a remarkable variation of 17 degrees in the temperature of Crystal Cave.

The discovery indicated, a spokesman for the National Speleological (cave study) Society said, that the cave's network of underground passages may vastly exceed the 53 miles now estimated by geologists.

Crystal Cave lies in the Mammoth Cave National Park area, 100 miles south of Louisville. Crystal's explored passages total only 10½ miles. An expedition of 55 men and women, sponsored by the society, is engaged in the most extensive exploration ever undertaken in this area, noted for its numerous caverns.

The temperature readings, taken 300 feet below the earth's surface, ranged from 42 degrees to 59 degrees Fahrenheit. They were recorded a mile apart by Donald N. Cournoyer of Arlington, Va., expedition meteorologist.

Cournoyer, who set up his instruments in a mile-long cavern with a curved roof, said he never before had observed such a marked temperature difference except near a cave entrance. Normally the temperature remains relative constant through a cave.

Burton S. Faust of Washington, D. C., a patent examiner who has been exploring caves for 35 years, said the temperature variation might be caused by "freak air currents usually found only in caves of vast extent."

There is a possibility that Crystal Cave may be connected with Mammoth Cave, one of the seven modern wonders of the world, which has 150 miles of explored corridors. The two caves are only four miles apart.

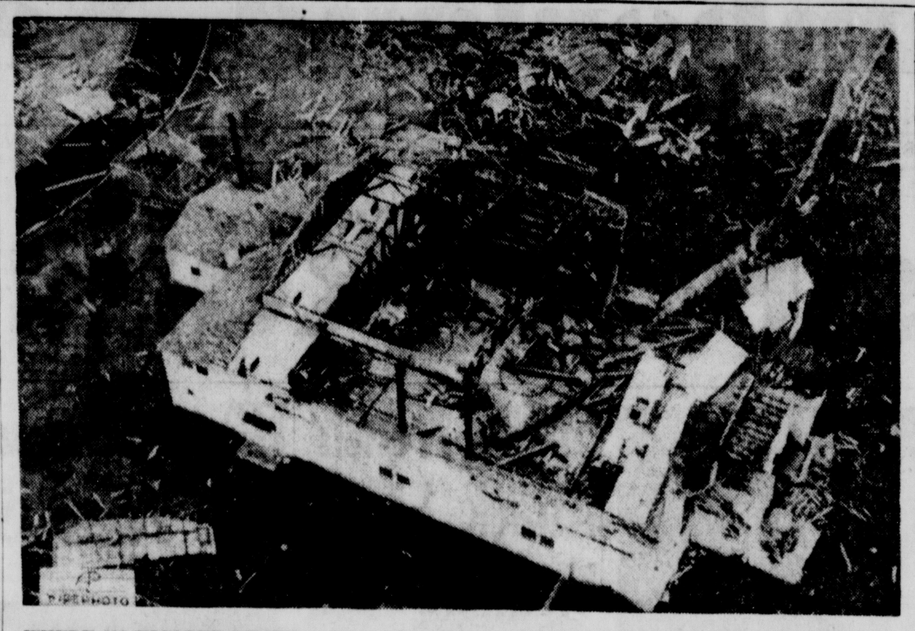
Attorneys Say Negro To Get Execution Stay

BALTIMORE, Feb. 16 (AP) — Attorneys for Sylvester W. Madison, scheduled to hang shortly after midnight Thursday, filed two special court motions claiming new evidence today and said they had been assured the governor would grant a stay of execution.

Madison, 25-year-old Negro, has been sentenced to die on the gallows for the slaying of a West Baltimore grocer in April, 1951.

His counsel filed the motions in Circuit Court late today, one to strike out the death sentence, the other asking a new trial on the basis of new evidence.

Attys. Thomas J. Kenney and Terrence E. Burke said they had been assured Gov. McKeldin would grant an executive stay once the motions were filed. They said the length of the stay would probably be for the time necessary for their motions to be heard.



WHERE 100 ESCAPED DEATH — Ruins of the College of The Ozarks gym in Clarksville, Ark., are shown after more than 100 persons escaped death when a tornado struck. Twenty persons were injured, most of them spectators at a basketball game in the gym. Damage was estimated at $200,000.

New Method Of Statistic Collection Indicates 3,087,000 Unemployed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Weeks announced tonight that a new method of collecting statistics indicates the number of unemployed in early January was 3,087,000 or about 728,000 more than previously reported.

He said studies would be made so as to determine which method is the more accurate.

The new method put the number of employed persons at 59,778,000, which was only about 25,000 fewer than the figure arrived at under the old system.

In government statistics, a change in the number of employed does not necessarily mean an equal change in the number of jobless. This is why:

When a person is out of a job, he is not classed as unemployed unless government statisticans figure he is looking for a job. For example, a housewife who takes a Christmas job and then goes back to her kitchen is not ranked as unemployed.

Officials have emphasized that much of the increase in unemployment in January was seasonal in nature.

The new figures announced tonight were preliminary and resulted from the first trial of a new method of sampling.

Apologetic Slayer Hanged In Canada

STRATFORD, Ont., Feb. 16 (AP)—A former Canadian paratrooper dropped through a hangman's trap here today after apologizing to the witnesses for being a burden on them.

Reuben Henry Norman, 27, was hanged early this morning for the noonday murder of Jean Marie Satchell, 17, on a downtown street Feb. 2, 1953, after a brief argument. He gave himself up immediately after the shooting. Perth County Sheriff L. H. Morgan, who attended the hanging, said Norman declared as he mounted the scaffold:

"I offered myself to my country and now I am called to a greater service. I realize I'm an undue burden on you people called to witness my execution and I ask God to bless you all."

Major coal mine disasters — in which five or more men are killed —account for only seven per cent of all coal mine fatalities in the United States.

Ridgway Says New Rockets Added To Army's Arsenal

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 16 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway told today of two new rockets added to the Army's arsenal—a guided missile with a range of more than 50 miles and a big aimed rocket capable of hitting battlefield targets about 17 miles behind the enemy front lines.

The Army chief of staff didn't name them in a prepared address for the Society of the Four Arts, a group which sponsors a series of lectures, but he obviously was referring to the guided missile "Corporal" and the heavy bombardment rocket "Honest John."

Both weapons are presumed to be designed for use of either conventional or atomic explosive warheads.

Ridgway said "the disparity in manpower between the United States and the forces of the Communist bloc which are today the greatest threat to our national security makes American technological superiority in weapons and equipment mandatory. . . . Ever uppermost in our minds is the realization that in the Soviet Union the search for more effective weapons and equipment is proceeding apace."

The general said the Army accordingly is exploiting fire power of all types. He mentioned the 280 millimeter cannon, which can shoot an atomic shell about 30 miles, and he said:

To implement the power of our artillery still further, we are exploiting the capabilities of rockets and guided missiles. Guided missiles give the Army the ability to fire with accuracy deep into enemy territory from well inside our own lines, and rockets offer mobility, accuracy, and heavy fire power at relatively cheap cost."

D'Alesandro Lawyers Fight For Trial Delay

BALTIMORE, Feb. 16 (AP) — The defense called a string of newsmen today in its effort to obtain a long delay in the trial of Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro, 20-year-old son of Baltimore's mayor, on perjury charges.

Judge S. Ralph Warnken stuck, for the time being at least, to his announced intention to bringing the case to trial on March 1.

He promised an early decision on the defense motion to delay the trial.

One reason set forth in the motion was a contention widespread publicity about the case made it impossible for young D'Alesandro to get a fair jury trial in Baltimore now.

The newsmen were called to testify about the extent of stories carried by wire news services, radio and television.

Cournoyer, who set up his instruments in a mile-long cavern with a curved roof, said he never before had observed such a marked temperature difference except near a cave entrance. Normally the temperature remains relative constant through a cave.

Burton S. Faust of Washington, D. C., a patent examiner who has been exploring caves for 35 years, said the temperature variation might be caused by "freak air currents usually found only in caves of vast extent."

There is a possibility that Crystal Cave may be connected with Mammoth Cave, one of the seven modern wonders of the world, which has 150 miles of explored corridors. The two caves are only four miles apart.

Attorneys Say Negro To Get Execution Stay

BALTIMORE, Feb. 16 (AP) — Attorneys for Sylvester W. Madison, scheduled to hang shortly after midnight Thursday, filed two special court motions claiming new evidence today and said they had been assured the governor would grant a stay of execution.

Madison, 25-year-old Negro, has been sentenced to die on the gallows for the slaying of a West Baltimore grocer in April, 1951.

His counsel filed the motions in Circuit Court late today, one to strike out the death sentence, the other asking a new trial on the basis of new evidence.

Attys. Thomas J. Kenney and Terrence E. Burke said they had been assured Gov. McKeldin would grant an executive stay once the motions were filed. They said the length of the stay would probably be for the time necessary for their motions to be heard.

"Buried" Man Turns Up Very Much Alive

PASSAIC, N. J., Feb. 16 (AP)—The City of Passaic buried a man officials thought was 78-year-old John Dudik in a pauper's grave early this month, but now Dudik has turned up very much alive.

The big question now is:

Who was buried in his place in East Ridgelawn Cemetery in nearby Clifton?

The mystery case started Feb. 6 when police answered a call from rooming house operator Louis Pfefferbaum, who said he found a roomer dead in bed. It was Dudik's bed and Pfefferbaum said it was Dudik, police reported.

Yesterday, Eugene Kelly, a social case worker for the City Welfare Department, went to the rooming house to check on relief clients.

He saw a man he recognized.

"What are you doing here?" Kelly asked.

"I live here," the man replied.

"But we buried you earlier this month," Kelly told the real John Dudik.

Now Detective Sgt. Andrew Pokrywka has been assigned by police to find out just who it was the city buried.

Ridgway Says New Rockets Added To Army's Arsenal

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 16 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway told today of two new rockets added to the Army's arsenal—a guided missile with a range of more than 50 miles and a big aimed rocket capable of hitting battlefield targets about 17 miles behind the enemy front lines.

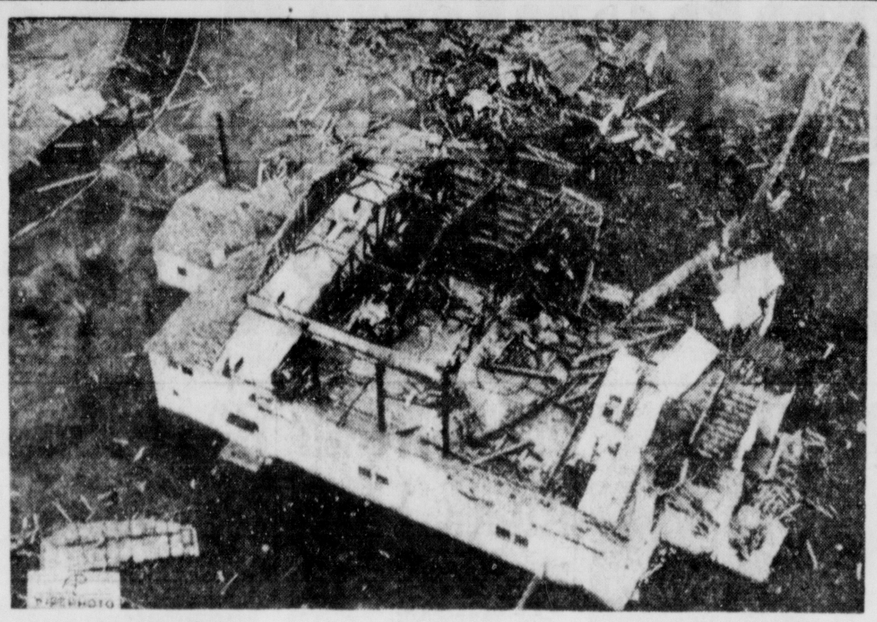
The Army chief of staff didn't name them in a prepared address for the Society of the Four Arts, a group which sponsors a series of lectures, but he obviously was referring to the guided missile "Corporal" and the heavy bombardment rocket "Honest John."

Both weapons are presumed to be designed for use of either conventional or atomic explosive warheads.

Ridgway said "the disparity in manpower between the United States and the forces of the Communist bloc which are today the greatest threat to our national security makes American technological superiority in weapons and equipment mandatory. . . . Ever uppermost in our minds is the realization that in the Soviet Union the search for more effective weapons and equipment is proceeding apace."

The general said the Army accordingly is exploiting fire power of all types. He mentioned the 280 millimeter cannon, which can shoot an atomic shell about 30 miles, and he said:

"To implement the power of our artillery still further, we are exploiting the capabilities of rockets and guided missiles. Guided missiles give the Army the ability to fire with accuracy deep into enemy territory from well inside our own lines, and rockets offer mobility, accuracy, and heavy fire power at relatively cheap cost."



WHERE 100 ESCAPED DEATH — Ruins of the College of The Ozarks gym in Clarksville, Ark., are shown after more than 100 persons escaped death when a tornado struck. Twenty persons were injured, most of them spectators at a basketball game in the gym. Damage was estimated at $200,000.

New Method Of Statistic Collection Indicates 3,087,000 Unemployed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Weeks announced tonight that a new method of collecting statistics indicates the number of unemployed in early January was 3,087,000 or about 728,000 more than previously reported.

He said studies would be made so as to determine which method is the more accurate.

The new method put the number of employed persons at 59,778,000, which was only about 25,000 fewer than the figure arrived at under the old system.

In government statistics, a change in the number of employed does not necessarily mean an equal change in the number of jobless. This is why:

When a person is out of a job, he is not classed as unemployed unless government statisticans figure he is looking for a job. For example, a housewife who takes a Christmas job and then goes back to her kitchen is not ranked as unemployed.

Officials have emphasized that much of the increase in unemployment in January was seasonal in nature.

The new figures announced tonight were preliminary and resulted from the first trial of a new method of sampling.

Apologetic Slayer Hanged In Canada

STRATFORD, Ont., Feb. 16 (AP)—A former Canadian paratrooper dropped through a hangman's trap here today after apologizing to the witnesses for being a burden on them.

Reuben Henry Norman, 27, was hanged early this morning for the noonday murder of Jean Marie Satchell, 17, on a downtown street Feb. 2, 1953, after a brief argument. He gave himself up immediately after the shooting. Perth County Sheriff L. H. Morgan, who attended the hanging, said Norman declared as he mounted the scaffold:

"I offered myself to my country and now I am called to a greater service. I realize I'm an undue burden on you people called to witness my execution and I ask God to bless you all."

D'Alesandro Lawyers Fight For Trial Delay

BALTIMORE, Feb. 16 (AP) — The defense called a string of newsmen today in its effort to obtain a long delay in the trial of Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro, 20-year-old son of Baltimore's mayor, on perjury charges.

Judge S. Ralph Warnken stuck, for the time being at least, to his announced intention to bringing the case to trial on March 1.

He promised an early decision on the defense motion to delay the trial.

One reason set forth in the motion was a contention widespread publicity about the case made it impossible for young D'Alesandro to get a fair jury trial in Baltimore now.

The newsmen were called to testify about the extent of stories carried by wire news services, radio and television.

Dean Kept Up Morale As POW By Swatting 40,716 Flies For .850 "Batting Average"

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16 (AP)—Maj. Gen. William F. Dean kept up his morale as a Communist prisoner in Korea by computing his "batting averages" on the flies he killed.

"The trick is never to swat a fly when he is standing still," Dean writes in his Saturday Evening Post account of three years as a captive of the Reds.

"Wait until he starts walking or lifts his front feet to wash. Then you bust him because he can't take off without shifting position first."

Dean said he killed a grand total of 40,716 flies, running up his average on hits and misses to .850.

"Anyone who wants to challenge my three-year swatting record will have to show me the flies," he boasted.

For his other type of mental gymnastics:

"Then one day I began working on squares and square roots and really got interested. I memorized the squares of numbers from 1 to 100. Then I began hunting for fast systems of squaring.

"For example, the squares of numbers between 10 and 20 have the same right-hand digits as those between 60 and 70 and the relationship follows through. So the square of 40 is 1600; the square of 41 is 1681 and the square of 42 is 1764 and the square of 90 is 8100, the square of 91 is 8281 and so on.

"If you're not interested in mathematics, this sort of thing may drive you to beating your head against a wall but, believe me, it kept me from beating my head against one."

Dean told how 1951 was "my worst year." He suffered from malaria. He probably saved his life by demanding and getting atabrine. His North Korean guards kept shifting him about and hiding him lest their Chinese allies learn of the high-ranked prisoner and take him over.

Israel Abolishes Death Penalty For Murder

JERUSALEM, Israeli Section, Feb. 16 (AP)—Israel today abolished the death penalty for murder.

The Knesset (Parliament) by a 61-33 vote passed the controversial bill first introduced four years ago making the penalty for murder life in prison instead of hanging. Treason against the state or betrayal to enemies or similar offenses under the army code still are punishable by hanging.

The term "forecastle" is a survival from early fighting ships which had castles or towers to aid in the fighting on bow and stern.

HERO — Eugene Boothe (above), San Francisco Examiner carrier, is credited with saving the life of Thomas Mullens, 22-year-old waiter. Boothe, 25, smelled gas while delivering papers early in the morning. He awakened the apartment manager. The two broke into Mullens' apartment and found him sprawled unconscious as gas poured from the kitchen stove. They revived Mullens by an open window, and he said he had turned on the gas to make coffee, then dozed. Apparently the burner failed to catch flame from the pilot light.

The first aviation subdivision in the United States will be located near Palm Springs, Calif. Each house will have a hangar and will front on an airplane strip.

Man, 92, Figures Out Way To Avoid Taxes On Income

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Earl E. Dudding, sprightly and vigorous at 92, has solved one of modern man's toughest problems. He has figured out a way to avoid paying income taxes.

"I guess," Dudding said today, "I'm the only man in the country who has worked on a job for 40 years and never paid any. Not a penny."

Dudding's solution is simple. As founder and president of the Prisoners Relief Society, Dudding says he never has received any income from it. Hence, no income taxes.

Simple though this solution may seem, Dudding admits it never has gone over too well with the income tax people.

"They keep sending me those blanks," he said. "Why, only last year they came around again, checking up on me."

Checking up on Dudding can be a pretty bewildering experience.

For even if he is 92, he sets a fast pace. He tells you how he still drives the society's car, a 22-year-old red Auburn which is full of zip at 390,000 miles. He recalls the days when he used to practice medicine.

A nine-year-old girl skips in. "Mine," says Dudding. "She's nine years old. I had four children by my first wife and four by my second. Run along, child." The older children, he said, now help support him.

Dudding keeps jumping from his chair to hustle upstairs for additional material. And anytime he notices the reporter's pencil is idle, he's apt to offer some advice. "You better write that down," he said.

It was in 1909 that Dudding first became interested in what happens to ex-convicts.

"I shot a man," he said. "I spent three years, eight months and six days in prison at Moundsville, W. Va. After I got out, they found two witnesses that would have cleared me."

In 1914 he and some Huntington, W. Va., business leaders founded the society.

"We hadn't been at it long before we realized what we were up against," Dudding said. "We'd got these ex-convicts jobs, but it didn't mean a thing because 75 per cent of them were alcoholics or drug addicts.

"You better put that down."

Dudding said liquor and dope pulled down the ex-convicts' hemoglobin count. So he worked out a system of putting them on a farm, and feeding them on malted milk, to build up their blood. Then, he said, he followed this up by finding them farm jobs, far away from their former haunts.

According to Dudding, 28,000 of every million inhabitants are chronic drunks or drug addicts, and he figures the problem is worse than ever.

The society is backing a bill, introduced by Rep. Bailey, (D-WVa), to set up a special bureau of clinics to handle the problem. The clinics are to be headed by a man of 20 years experience. And the way Dudding sees it, it looks like just the spot for an ambitious youngster of 92.

Communist World Has Army Of 10,000,000 Men

LONDON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Communist world has boosted the size of its regular armed forces to around 10 million men, the House of Commons was told today.

Nigel Birch, parliamentary secretary for defense, told questioners the Soviet Union since 1951 has built up her force by 150,000 men to a total of 4¾ million. He said the biggest increase was in the Soviet navy.

The Eastern European Communist nations have added nearly 120,000 men in the same period for a total of 1,190,000, Birch reported.

Red China was said to have regular armed forces totalling more than four million men.

Indochina And Korea

French representatives at the Berlin conference are reported to be making a determined bid for U. S. approval of negotiations with Communist China for peace in Indochina. The complicated maneuver stands as a symbol of the eight-year-old war that more and more French are calling la guerre pourrie — freely translated as "the mixed-up war."

The report came as the fighting for Luang Prabang approached a climax. Loss of the Laotian royal capital by the French and native forces would not necessarily mean the loss of all of Laos to the Communist Viet Minh. But if the Red forces of Ho Chi Minh should win control of Laos, they would command a good two-thirds of Indochina, for they now dominate more than half of Viet Nam. Of the Indochinese Associated States only Cambodia appears as yet unthreatened by the Reds.

The end of the shooting in Korea freed French veterans there to fight in Indochina. At the same time Chinese Communist arms aid to the Viet Minh was at least doubled. Conservative estimates place the current rate of Red deliveries at about 1,000 tons a month.

A communique issued after a conference between President Eisenhower and Rene Mayer, then premier of France, on March 28, 1953, labeled the Indochinese and Korean wars "parts of the same pattern" and said the wars could not be won "without full recognition of their interdependence."

But there are important differences between the wars. The Korean conflict was directly caused by Red aggression; the fighting lasted three years and 32 days. The heavy fighting in Indochina broke out in mid-December 1946, after long deterioration of the armistice agreement of March 6 of that year between Ho and the French.

As of January 4 last, the war in Indochina had cost France 15,681 of its own troops, killed or missing, as well as 21,589 loyal Indochinese, 10,118 Africans, 6907 Foreign Legionnaires. The U. S. killed or missing in Korea totaled almost 30,000.

The fighting in Korea, up to the limits of its terrain, was a war of massed forces heavily supported by artillery; it was an air, land, and sea war. The guerilla fighting in Indochina has been called by Hanson Baldwin of The New York Times a "confused military-political war," a "struggle of attrition," with no military solution in sight. The French completely control the air; the Viet Minh have anti-aircraft guns but no planes.

The French continue to train native troops in Indochina, but less effectively than the U. S. command trained and equipped 16 divisions of South Koreans. This is in part due to native resistance to French "colonialism." Recently elements of the First Viet Namese Division defected, turning against Emperor Bao Dai and the French.

The French view the Indochinese War as a civil war, and thus have not taken it before the UN. But just such a course is advocated by retired U. S. Admiral Zacharias:

"We must propose to the U.N. immediately that Indochina is a threat to world peace; that the U.N. on the basis of full and immediate independence for Indochina be allowed to take over the country as a trusteeship until the peoples of Indochina can be set up; that . . . the present fighting be stopped and an election be conducted by the U.N.; that a plain declaration be made that failure to adhere to such peaceful moves will result in the U.N. using everything at its disposal to convince any dissenter that this is the only profitable course of action to pursue."

Confirming A Chief Justice

The Senate Judiciary Committee is taking up again the nomination of Earl Warren to be chief justice. Chairman Langer (R., N.D.) has said that one question before the committee is whether to go through the routine of asking the FBI for findings on Warren, now serving under a recess appointment.

Nobody expects the committee to report unfavorably on the nominee or many votes, if any, to be cast against him on the floor of the Senate. Yet the late Charles Evans Hughes, one of the really great chief justices, ran into considerable opposition when he was nominated early in 1930.

The Hughes nomination had no trouble in committee, but set off three days of debate on the floor. The opposition, accusing the nominee of having become ultra conservative, mustered 26 votes against him, to 52 for confirmation.

In May of the same year the Senate Judiciary Committee reported unfavorably on the nomination of Federal Judge John J. Parker to be associate justice of the Supreme Court. He was accused of being anti-labor and anti-Negro, and the Senate rejected him by vote of 41 to 39 (he is still on the federal bench).

In 1916 the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis for the Supreme Court set off lengthy committee hearings. He was confirmed, by vote of 47 to 22, four months after the nomination was received. In 1949 the nominations of Tom C. Clark and Sherman Minton produced, respectively, 8 and 14 votes against confirmation.

One Of Four In Error

Taxpayers as well as the United States Treasury should benefit by the nationwide "education" program initiated by the Internal Revenue Service. The former will find it easier to make out their tax returns correctly. The latter should not only get some revenue which now escapes it but will be spared the bookkeeping and trouble which are put upon it as the result of taxpayers' mistakes.

According to a report in the Wall Street Journal, a special survey reveals the fact that one out of every four tax returns contains at least one error. There is no suggestion that these mistakes, or any large part of them, are intentional. It is simply the case that many people do not know how to make out their returns in a proper manner.

To enlighten the taxpayers the International Revenue Service is enlisting the aid of the newspapers and will establish many more "tax booths" in field offices, and assign a corps of circuit riders to work in the rural areas.

While there always will be thousands of men and women who need special assistance, it is hoped that the enlarged program will effect a sharp reduction in the 4,500,000 man-hours and the $8,000,000 which was devoted to this task last year.

From Stomach To Duodenum

This article, the fourth in a series on digestion, deals with the duodenum, that part of the intestine next to the stomach. This word, derived from the Latin, means "12" and indicates that the structure is 12-finger breadths long. It is shaped like a horseshoe and there are two openings half-way along its course. The tiny tube leading from the pancreas empties into one opening, and the duct emerging from the liver and gall bladder drains into the other.

Practically all chemical digestion and absorption of food occurs in the small intestine, which is approximately 20 feet long, and coils around the various abdominal organs like a bowl of spaghetti. It is divided into three sections: the duodenum, the jejunum, and the ileum. Food remains in the small bowel seven to eight hours before being propelled into the large intestine. In general, the upper portion of the gastro intestinal tract may be referred to as a secreting factory in which the necessary juices are produced to prepare nutriment for entry into the blood stream.

The duodenum is a busy workshop. The acid reaction of the partially digested material coming from the stomach must be neutralized. Lining the walls of the duodenum is a type of gland not found elsewhere in the body. The function of these glands is to manufacture a substance that mixes readily with the acid in the food, making it alkaline. Meanwhile a hormone is being formed in the wall of the duodenum which, on being absorbed into the circulation, travels to the near-by liver and pancreas, causing these organs to pour forth bile and pancreatic juice. Secretions are now coming from everywhere. This complicated yet simple cycle works in harmony to lay the groundwork for the full utilization of food.

Several ferments also are present. Proteins, which were changed partially by the gastric juices, are attacked by erepsin. Certain starches that the mouth secretions failed to convert into sugar are now acted upon. Fats are broken down into thousands of tiny globules. The resulting mixture, which is churned thoroly and reduced to a liquid consistency, is ready to proceed along the intestine for the final stages of digestion.

The duodenum, like other tissues of the body, is subject to disease. The most common lesion is ulcer, followed by duodenitis, inflammation of the lining membrane of the structure.

COLD FINGERS

F. D. writes: Could underactive thyroid gland cause cold finger tips?

REPLY

Yes. In this condition, coldness of the hands and feet is common. When thyroid extract is taken, metabolism improves and the affected parts become warm.

DANDRUFF AND BALDNESS

M. L. writes: Does dandruff lead to loss of hair?

REPLY

No but in some scalp disorders such as ringworm, dandruff and baldness may co-exist.

FULL BLOODED

D. R. writes: Does drinking cause polycythemia vera?

REPLY

No. To my knowledge, no one knows why some persons possess an oversupply of red corpuscles and hemoglobin (coloring matter) at sea levels and in the absence of a heart or respiratory disorder. The use of radioactive phosphorus is an excellent way to decrease the number of red cells.

SORE HEELS

W. T. writes: What causes pain in the heels on arising? After I walk around a bit, pain disappears.

REPLY

Rheumatism acts this way in that pain is noticeable on arising and is relieved by activity. Involvement of the joints of the foot is not as common as those of the back, knees, and hips.

LIFE AGAINST LIFE

M. O. writes: What does the word antibiotic mean?

REPLY

It is an old scientific term that was revived when penicillin came into being. It means pitting one life against another. Penicillin, for example, is made from a living mold and is capable of killing other living organisms such as streptococci and staphylococci.

VITAMINS FOR AGED

F. C. writes: Do old people need vitamins?

REPLY

Only when their diet is inadequate. This occurs most frequently when older men and women who live alone are not interested in cooking good meals as well as in oldsters who are sick mentally or physically or have difficulty in chewing food.

Five Democrats Recommended Against Prosecution Of Rep. Bramblett, Republican; California GOP Official Ordered Prosecution Of Congressman

WASHINGTON—The inside story of how Congressman Ernest Bramblett of California was tried and convicted can now be told. His prosecution caused the firing of five Democratic lawyers who didn't want to prosecute this Republican congressman.

They were overruled by a new Justice Department executive who happens to be a Republican and who ordered the case to trial.

Though Attorney General Brownell has been charged with playing politics in certain cases, his associates certainly did not play politics in this one.

Here is how the backstage story unfolds:

In December 1952, as the Truman administration was about to leave office, the Democratic Central Committee of Santa Barbara, Calif., which is part of Bramblett's district, sent a telegram to Attorney General James McGranery, a Democrat, which read in part:

"Drew Pearson has filed with the Justice Department his published charge that Congressman Ernest Bramblett obtained salary kickbacks from his employes. We urge that you prosecute before new administration comes in and whitewashes this."

The telegram went in due course to Charles Murray, then assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's Criminal Division, who forwarded it on to his chief assistant, Andrew Oehmann, with this note:

"Andy—let's not assume justice will miscarry when our successors take over. Give this the usual treatment."

Murray's confidence in the ensuing Republican administration was not misplaced. They proved more anxious to prosecute a fellow Republican than did certain Democrats.

Democrats Say No

The kickback charges against Bramblett were reprocessed in due course, and on January 14, Attorney General McGranery, the outgoing attorney general, ordered prosecution in a letter which he himself signed.

Since only six days remained before Eisenhower was to be inaugurated and Attorney General Brownell took over, it was obviously impossible to prosecute and the matter was delayed. It did not come before the new Republican chief of the Criminal Division, Warren Olney, III, until March.

At that time there passed across his desk a routine recommendation that the criminal charges against Congressman Bramblett be dismissed. Ordinarly, Olney might have ok'd the recommendation, since it was signed by men familiar with the case. But being new in office and being from California, as is Bramblett, he took a second look.

The five subordinate attorneys who found no ground for prosecuting the Republican congressman were all appointed by Democrats. Despite this unanimous recommendation, the more Olney looked at the case the more skeptical he became that either some kind of a fix had been put in to save Bramblett or else a trap had been laid to embarrass him as the new chief of the Criminal Division.

So he asked for the entire Bramblett file and turned it over to an independent attorney of his own choosing.

New Documents Discovered

This attorney turned up several interesting and extremely important documents which had been held out of the abbreviated file which had come across the desk of the new assistant attorney general.

One of them was the signed order by Attorney General McGranery for criminal prosecution. His letter listed several laws which Bramblett had violated. It was emphatic and unequivocal.

Another was a notation that Edward B. Williams, Bramblett's attorney, had called at the Justice Department on January 9, 1953, stating that he was acquainted with Mr. Olney, the new Republican who was about to take over the Criminal Division. The memo stated that Williams mentioned this friendship and asked for favorable consideration in the Bramblett case.

testimony that Bramblett had phoned his campaign manager,

Later it developed in court John Hardaway, at about this time, telling him not to worry, that everything was being "fixed."

The omission of these two documents from the file handed to Olney was significant. The McGranery letter, categorically recommending prosecution, showed that the outgoing Democrats were all set to throw the book at Bramblett. The second document, stating that Williams, a reputed friend of Olney's, asked for favorable consideration, might have led to the conclusion that Olney, the new Republican chief, was fixing a case for a friend.

So Olney called in the five Democratic attorneys and fired them. He also ordered the prosecution of Bramblett.

Reason for firing the five attorneys was not that they made a mistake in recommending dismissal of the Bramblett case, but because they withheld pertinent information. The deliberate omission of Attorney General McGranery's letter from the files appeared either calculated to carry out a fix for Bramblett or else to entrap the new Republican chief into dismissing criminal charges against a fellow Republican.

Olney is not a man who dismisses cases haphazardly—regardless of politics. He was appointed by Governor Earl Warren, now chief justice, as chief counsel of the California Crime Commission where he did a bang-up job of cleaning up the gambling racket and the underworld bosses which for a time dominated parts of that state.

So Olney insisted that the Bramblett case go before a grand jury. The California Congressman has now been indicted, tried and found guilty.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Case Of Dr. Einstein

I was up in Burlington, Vt., to do one of those pro and con jobs which is called a debate when, by staying too long after the session was over, I encountered the case of the learned Dr. Albert Einstein, who was described to me as a scientist and logician. It was intended that I should stand in awe before a scientist.

To put the business on an understandable level, I said that to me he is an authority on Mozart and a violinist. When it comes to the kind of science with which he deals, I am silenced by my ignorance of the field. It shocked them that I would not admit that because Dr. Einstein has won distinction in his particular trade, he is also an authority on American political institutions, constitutional law and kindred subjects concerning which his public remarks are not too bright.

I was attacked pretty hard by the group, which consisted mostly of students and one adult who sounded like a lawyer. Their insistence was that I must venerate this aged gentleman because he is a scientist, that he gave this country the atom bomb, and that he was sound when he advised scientists to refuse to testify before congressional committees, which, I believe, one or two did, mentioning Einstein as their authority.

Whereupon I said that this gentleman, Einstein, was persecuted in his own country, was driven from it by Hitler, found sanctuary among us, was given here every opportunity to ply his trade, art and science, and that the least he could do would be to avoid interfering in our affairs beyond his knowledge, understanding and competence. I also said that I did not believe that an adult could settle in a country not his own, ground himself in its national traditions, absorb the meaning of its institutions and become assimilated in its society. I mentioned some well known exceptions such as Carl Schurz and Jacob Riis.

The gist of all this is the thought that because a man is a scientist or a university professor that he, for some reason, stands apart from the rest of us poor guys; that scientists constitute some kind of an elite who are to be worshipped even when they step out of their specialties and discuss subjects about which it is obvious from the context that they know nothing. It is like the two Kinsey books on human relations which the zoologist, Kinsey, prepared to establish the materialistic basis of the institution of marriage and the morals of famly life and came up with an ugly, mechanistic distortion of all that is beautiful and noble in the relations between man and woman.

It is surprising that the sociologists union did not resist Kinsey's invasion of its field. Since all this Kinsey business, I have received considerable mail indicating that perversion is normal and that what the human race has long regarded as morality is unusual and abnormal and a camouflage for indecency. This I am supposed to accept as final because it is based on premises growing out of a small sampling of men and women by a scientist who is also a university professor. One columnist wrote a series of articles which I read attentively and which seemed to me to be a defense of perversion based on so-called scientific studies.

The dogmatism of the scientists puts the dogmatism of the theologians to shame. For whereas the theologians admit that some things have to be taken on faith and that some have no greater authority than revelation by God to man, the scientists seem to say that if it is written by qualified persons and is printed in the books, it is right until a new book is written saying the contrary. It is like the argument about the fat and the skinny. Just now the vogue runs to curves.

We are all more or less dogmatic, and who am I not to admit to such a characterization! But the moral of this tale is not dogmatism; it is that refugees who have found sanctuary in our land ought to be grateful for their advantage and ought not to spoil it for others by acting so contrary to our institutions that public opinion is aroused against all aliens. You can't bite the hand that gave you a break without arousing resentment.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — A method of cutting down the number of strikes in America and at the same time increasing the value of collective bargaining has been approved by President Eisenhower as a desirable addition to federal law. But, unfortunately, labor union leaders as well as some management groups have been rejecting the formula without studying the possibility of amending it to make it suitable to both sides.

There has been a great deal of misunderstanding, for instance, in recent weeks about a pre-strike vote to be taken among the workers. If the purpose of the vote were merely to find out whether the officers fully represent the union members in declaring a strike, there would be no value in the plan. For, on such occasions, the workers would always vote anyhow to uphold the hands of their negotiators.

Must Decide Maximum

But the latest version of the so-called "pre-strike" plan goes much deeper into the question of avoiding the huge economic losses suffered in this country every year by workers and management alike. It calls for a pre-strike vote only on the "final" offer by management.

This means that management would have to decide the maximum that it was willing to concede and to stand on it firmly, even if a strike did come. If the management of a company, as a result of a strike, gave better terms than it did in its so-called "final" offer, it would never again be regarded as sincere when it made a "final" offer, and there would always be a tendency to regard such an offer as merely a step in the bargaining process. Management's loss would then be obvious.

So far as the workers are concerned, if they rejected the "final" offer and a strike did materialize and they didn't come out any better in the end than they would have if they had accepted the offer made before the strike was called, there would be fewer strikes subsequently. For both the leaders and the workers would know the next time that a strike was not going to be beneficial.

The advantages to the union under a constructively developed pre-strike-vote plan would be much greater than under any present system of threatened strikes or protracted negotiation during strikes. For, if the employer made his maximum concession in his "final" offer, the workers by their vote would be taking full responsibility for accepting or rejecting it, and the officers would not be on the spot as they often are today when, in a complicated negotiation, they cannot always tell what move to make next. If the truth were told, many a union leader would confess that in some instances he misjudged management's firmness and that, if he had known before a strike was called all that he learned during a strike and after it was over, he might have compromised and accepted a "final" offer before the strike was declared.

Direct Stake In Decision

There are rumblings throughout the industrial world, coming from workers and their families, that strikes are needlessly called. The workers themselves often feel that a management offer is good enough and that to go out on strike means an unnecessary loss of pay for the worker.

Certainly there is no logical reason why under a democratic system the workers should not be permitted to vote on management's "final" offer. They and their families have a direct stake in the decision and too often it is made by a small group of negotiators who find themselves in a strait jacket where they cannot call off a strike without themselves being discredited for having started it.

One objection made is that any formula to let the workers vote before a strike is called means introducing the machinery of the federal government into the picture. An alternative suggestion to which President Eisenhower is strongly inclined, and one that is favored also by Senator Alexander Smith, Republican, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, is to keep the federal government out of it altogether and to specify by law that unions shall include in their constitutions a clause setting up a formula for a pre-strike vote. The law would provide that, unless a union had such a cause in its constitution, it would not be eligible to conduct collective bargaining negotiations.

The procedure for the strike vote would be one to be worked out between management and labor in each case so as to insure a secret ballot. The National Labor Relations Board or the U. S. Mediation Service would come in to help adjust any question of procedure on which the two sides could not agree.

May Save Billions

Certainly the new plan for a pre-strike vote on the "final" offer of management might not in every case prevent a strike but, if it succeeded in preventing 85 per cent of the strikes, America would save billions of dollars every year. The largest part of this, of course, would be savings to the workers, who rarely ever gain enough out of the agreement finally consummated after a strike to make up for what they lose in their pay envelopes during a prolonged strike.

Labor union leaders may find on further examination that a pre-strike vote on the "final" offer of management gives them the biggest stimulus to successful negotiations they have ever had and still prevents immense economic losses to all concerned.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—(INS)—Radio Free Europe came up recently with a pathetic story about an Albanian refugee who thought the coming of Communist control to his country in 1944 was heaven-sent, but now has escaped to Greece to tell his sad tale.

The young man worked like a beast of burden to wring a living for his mother, young sister and himself out of an acre of tough Albanian land. Came the Communists and their land reform. The young man suddenly had 15 acres.

"We were rich as Can Guza was, and he was the richest man of all that province," he said after his recent escape. "The gift of the land excited my imagination so that I wanted to buy sheep and have a herd, and my land would be the best tilled land in the whole region. And my mother would be happy and little Salihe (the sister) would get married to the best boy of the village."

On the Monday after the land had been given a Communist commission called on the little family. As owners of that much land, the commissioner said, the family would have to pay an annual tax of 17 kilos of meat, 6 kilos of wool, 80 eggs, 400 kilos of wheat and 10,000 lek, the equivalent of $330. It was also ordered that all produce be sold to the village collective, which bought at about one tenth the market price.

The youth tried to give back the land to the Reds but was told that would constitute treason. He and his mother and sister went to work as never before. Each year the family fell farther behind in its taxes.

The young man was drafted. In time he returned to his native village as a sergeant-graduate of a Tirana military school. He hardly recognized his mother and sister. Back-breaking work had turned them into crones. The tax bill now amounted to 70,000 lek—five to seven years of income for an Albanian farmer.

The sergeant escaped, with the permission of relatives who promised to look out for the mother and for a sister who would never now marry "the best boy of the village." The refugee is haunted by the visions of all who burst through the Iron Curtain.

"I dream every night about my mother and my sister," he said. "I see my mother before the police . . . I am convinced the Communists will set fire to my house out of vengeance, as they did to Xhemal Gergi's home when he escaped in 1947 and to Kolia Bilali's home a year later . . ."

Mention of Albania brings up the question, "What ever became of King Zog?"

Zog is still being pushed around, this time by Egypt. Unofficially, the U. S. government has expressed its concern for him and Queen Geraldine, whose mother was an American. The assumption is that Zog—though he may not be remembered among the all-time benevolent monarchs — is a rallying point in Communist Albania for those who work for or hope for a return to freedom.

Ahmed Bey Zogu, better known as King Zog I, has suffered exile for 14 years. With his queen and their 2-day old son, Prince Skander, they fled the Italian invasion of April, 1939, to refuge first in Greece, then Turkey and England.

Zog was ready to return to Albania at the end of World War II but the Reds had the country by the throat. In 1946 King Farouk invited him to live in Egypt and recognized the royal Albanian legation in Cairo as the correct one.

In 1951 Zog came to the U. S. and purchased a New York home "with a bucket of jewels," one report said. Probably was a much more prosaic deal. He said he wanted Prince Skander to go to an American school. He returned to Cairo and promptly ran into trouble when Farouk took it on the lam.

He and his household were placed under police surveillance last October. Zog drew a pistol when a policewoman, accompanied by army and police units, searched his residence and announced she would search the queen. Shortly there after Zog's household firearms were seized.

The U. S. government has suggested to Gen. Naguib's government that it would be "unfortunate for the cause of freedom" if Zog is not permitted to leave Egypt with his honor and dignity unimpaired.

Indochina And Korea

French representatives at the Berlin conference are reported to be making a determined bid for U. S. approval of negotiations with Communist China for peace in Indochina. The complicated maneuver stands as a symbol of the eight-year-old war that more and more French are calling la guerre pourrie — freely translated as "the mixed-up war."

The report came as the fighting for Luang Prabang approached a climax. Loss of the Laotian royal capital by the French and native forces would not necessarily mean the loss of all of Laos to the Communist Viet Minh. But if the Red forces of Ho Chi Minh should win control of Laos, they would command a good two-thirds of Indochina, for they now dominate more than half of Viet Nam. Of the Indochinese Associated States only Cambodia appears as yet unthreatened by the Reds.

The end of the shooting in Korea freed French veterans there to fight in Indochina. At the same time Chinese Communist arms aid to the Viet Minh was at least doubled. Conservative estimates place the current rate of Red deliveries at about 1,000 tons a month.

A communique issued after a conference between President Eisenhower and Rene Mayer, then premier of France, on March 28, 1953, labeled the Indochinese and Korean wars "parts of the same pattern" and said the wars could not be won "without full recognition of their interdependence."

But there are important differences between the wars. The Korean conflict was directly caused by Red aggression; the fighting lasted three years and 32 days. The heavy fighting in Indochina broke out in mid-December 1946, after long deterioration of the armistice agreement of March 6 of that year between Ho and the French.

As of January 4 last, the war in Indochina had cost France 15,681 of its own troops, killed or missing, as well as 21,589 loyal Indochinese, 10,118 Africans, 6907 Foreign Legionnaires. The U. S. killed or missing in Korea totaled almost 30,000.

The fighting in Korea, up to the limits of its terrain, was a war of massed forces heavily supported by artillery; it was an air, land, and sea war. The guerilla fighting in Indochina has been called by Hanson Baldwin of The New York Times a "confused military-political war," a "struggle of attrition," with no military solution in sight. The French completely control the air; the Viet Minh have anti-aircraft guns but no planes.

The French continue to train native troops in Indochina, but less effectively than the U. S. command trained and equipped 16 divisions of South Koreans. This is in part due to native resistance to French "colonialism." Recently elements of the First Viet Namese Division defected, turning against Emperor Bao Dai and the French.

The French view the Indochinese War as a civil war, and thus have not taken it before the UN. But just such a course is advocated by retired U. S. Admiral Zacharias:

"We must propose to the U.N. immediately that Indochina is a threat to world peace; that the U.N. on the basis of full and immediate independence for Indochina be allowed to take over the country as a trusteeship until the peoples of Indochina can be set up; that . . . the present fighting be stopped and an election be conducted by the U.N.; that a plain declaration be made that failure to adhere to such peaceful moves will result in the U.N. using everything at its disposal to convince any dissenter that this is the only profitable course of action to pursue."

Confirming A Chief Justice

The Senate Judiciary Committee is taking up again the nomination of Earl Warren to be chief justice. Chairman Langer (R., N.D.) has said that one question before the committee is whether to go through the routine of asking the FBI for findings on Warren, now serving under a recess appointment.

Nobody expects the committee to report unfavorably on the nominee or many votes, if any, to be cast against him on the floor of the Senate. Yet the late Charles Evans Hughes, one of the really great chief justices, ran into considerable opposition when he was nominated early in 1930.

The Hughes nomination had no trouble in committee, but set off three days of debate on the floor. The opposition, accusing the nominee of having become ultra conservative, mustered 26 votes against him, to 52 for confirmation.

In May of the same year the Senate Judiciary Committee reported unfavorably on the nomination of Federal Judge John J. Parker to be associate justice of the Supreme Court. He was accused of being anti-labor and anti-Negro, and the Senate rejected him by vote of 41 to 39 (he is still on the federal bench).

In 1916 the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis for the Supreme Court set off lengthy committee hearings. He was confirmed, by vote of 47 to 22, four months after the nomination was received. In 1949 the nominations of Tom C. Clark and Sherman Minton produced, respectively, 8 and 14 votes against confirmation.

One Of Four In Error

Taxpayers as well as the United States Treasury should benefit by the nationwide "education" program initiated by the Internal Revenue Service. The former will find it easier to make out their tax returns correctly. The latter should not only get some revenue which now escapes it but will be spared the bookkeeping and trouble which are put upon it as the result of taxpayers' mistakes.

According to a report in the Wall Street Journal, a special survey reveals the fact that one out of every four tax returns contains at least one error. There is no suggestion that these mistakes, or any large part of them, are intentional. It is simply the case that many people do not know how to make out their returns in a proper manner.

To enlighten the taxpayers the International Revenue Service is enlisting the aid of the newspapers and will establish many more "tax booths" in field offices, and assign a corps of circuit riders to work in the rural areas.

While there always will be thousands of men and women who need special assistance, it is hoped that the enlarged program will effect a sharp reduction in the 4,500,000 man-hours and the $8,000,000 which was devoted to this task last year.

From Stomach To Duodenum

This article, the fourth in a series on digestion, deals with the duodenum, that part of the intestine next to the stomach. This word, derived from the Latin, means "12" and indicates that the structure is 12-finger breadths long. It is shaped like a horseshoe and there are two openings half-way along its course. The tiny tube leading from the pancreas empties into one opening, and the duct emerging from the liver and gall bladder drains into the other.

Practically all chemical digestion and absorption of food occurs in the small intestine, which is approximately 20 feet long, and coils around the various abdominal organs like a bowl of spaghetti. It is divided into three sections: the duodenum, the jejunum, and the ileum. Food remains in the small bowel seven to eight hours before being propelled into the large intestine. In general, the upper portion of the gastro intestinal tract may be referred to as a secreting factory in which the necessary juices are produced to prepare nutriment for entry into the blood stream.

The duodenum is a busy workshop. The acid reaction of the partially digested material coming from the stomach must be neutralized. Lining the walls of the duodenum is a type of gland not found elsewhere in the body. The function of these glands is to manufacture a substance that mixes readily with the acid in the food, making it alkaline. Meanwhile a hormone is being formed in the wall of the duodenum which, on being absorbed into the circulation, travels to the near-by liver and pancreas, causing these organs to pour forth bile and pancreatic juice. Secretions are now coming from everywhere. This complicated yet simple cycle works in harmony to lay the groundwork for the full utilization of food.

Several ferments also are present. Proteins, which were changed partially by the gastric juices, are attacked by erepsin. Certain starches that the mouth secretions failed to convert into sugar are now acted upon. Fats are broken down into thousands of tiny globules. The resulting mixture, which is churned thoroly and reduced to a liquid consistency, is ready to proceed along the intestine for the final stages of digestion.

The duodenum, like other tissues of the body, is subject to disease. The most common lesion is ulcer, followed by duodenitis, inflammation of the lining membrane of the structure.

COLD FINGERS

F. D. writes: Could underactive thyroid gland cause cold finger tips?

REPLY

Yes. In this condition, coldness of the hands and feet is common. When thyroid extract is taken, metabolism improves and the affected parts become warm.

DANDRUFF AND BALDNESS

M. L. writes: Does dandruff lead to loss of hair?

REPLY

No but in some scalp disorders such as ringworm, dandruff and baldness may co-exist.

FULL BLOODED

D. R. writes: Does drinking cause polycythemia vera?

REPLY

No. To my knowledge, no one knows why some persons possess an oversupply of red corpuscles and hemoglobin (coloring matter) at sea levels and in the absence of a heart or respiratory disorder. The use of radioactive phosphorus is an excellent way to decrease the number of red cells.

SORE HEELS

W. T. writes: What causes pain in the heels on arising? After I walk around a bit, pain disappears.

REPLY

Rheumatism acts this way in that pain is noticeable on arising and is relieved by activity. Involvement of the joints of the foot is not as common as those of the back, knees, and hips.

LIFE AGAINST LIFE

M. O. writes: What does the word antibiotic mean?

REPLY

It is an old scientific term that was revived when penicillin came into being. It means pitting one life against another. Penicillin, for example, is made from a living mold and is capable of killing other living organisms such as streptococci and staphylococci.

VITAMINS FOR AGED

F. C. writes: Do old people need vitamins?

REPLY

Only when their diet is inadequate. This occurs most frequently when older men and women who live alone are not interested in cooking good meals as well as in oldsters who are sick mentally or physically or have difficulty in chewing food.

Five Democrats Recommended Against Prosecution Of Rep. Bramblett, Republican; California GOP Official Ordered Prosecution Of Congressman

WASHINGTON—The inside story of how Congressman Ernest Bramblett of California was tried and convicted can now be told. His prosecution caused the firing of five Democratic lawyers who didn't want to prosecute this Republican congressman.

They were overruled by a new Justice Department executive who happens to be a Republican and who ordered the case to trial.

Though Attorney General Brownell has been charged with playing politics in certain cases, his associates certainly did not play politics in this one.

Here is how the backstage story unfolds:

In December 1952, as the Truman administration was about to leave office, the Democratic Central Committee of Santa Barbara, Calif., which is part of Bramblett's district, sent a telegram to Attorney General James McGranery, a Democrat, which read in part:

"Drew Pearson has filed with the Justice Department his published charge that Congressman Ernest Bramblett obtained salary kickbacks from his employes. We urge that you prosecute before new administration comes in and whitewashes this."

The telegram went in due course to Charles Murray, then assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's Criminal Division, who forwarded it on to his chief assistant, Andrew Oehmann, with this note:

"Andy—let's not assume justice will miscarry when our successors take over. Give this the usual treatment."

Murray's confidence in the ensuing Republican administration was not misplaced. They proved more anxious to prosecute a fellow Republican than did certain Democrats.

Democrats Say No

The kickback charges against Bramblett were reprocessed in due course, and on January 14, Attorney General McGranery, the outgoing attorney general, ordered prosecution in a letter which he himself signed.

Since only six days remained before Eisenhower was to be inaugurated and Attorney General Brownell took over, it was obviously impossible to prosecute and the matter was delayed. It did not come before the new Republican chief of the Criminal Division, Warren Olney, III, until March.

At that time there passed across his desk a routine recommendation that the criminal charges against Congressman Bramblett be dismissed. Ordinarily, Olney might have ok'd the recommendation, since it was signed by men familiar with the case. But being new in office and being from California, as is Bramblett, he took a second look.

The five subordinate attorneys who found no ground for prosecuting the Republican congressman were all appointed by Democrats. Despite this unanimous recommendation, the more Olney looked at the case the more skeptical he became that either some kind of a fix had been put in to save Bramblett or else a trap had been laid to embarrass him as the new chief of the Criminal Division.

So he asked for the entire Bramblett file and turned it over to an independent attorney of his own choosing.

New Documents Discovered

This attorney turned up several interesting and extremely important documents which had been held out of the abbreviated file which had come across the desk of the new assistant attorney general.

One of them was the signed order by Attorney General McGranery for criminal prosecution. His letter listed several laws which Bramblett had violated. It was emphatic and unequivocal.

Another was a notation that Edward B. Williams, Bramblett's attorney, had called at the Justice Department on January 9, 1953, stating that he was acquainted with Mr. Olney, the new Republican who was about to take over the Criminal Division. The memo stated that Williams mentioned this friendship and asked for favorable consideration in the Bramblett case.
testimony that Bramblett had phoned his campaign manager,

Later it developed in court John Hardaway, at about this time, telling him not to worry, that everything was being "fixed."

The omission of these two documents from the file handed to Olney was significant. The McGranery letter, categorically recommending prosecution, showed that the outgoing Democrats were all set to throw the book at Bramblett. The second document, stating that Williams, a reputed friend of Olney's, asked for favorable consideration, might have led to the conclusion that Olney, the new Republican chief, was fixing a case for a friend.

So Olney called in the five Democratic attorneys and fired them. He also ordered the prosecution of Bramblett.

Reason for firing the five attorneys was not that they made a mistake in recommending dismissal of the Bramblett case, but because they withheld pertinent information. The deliberate omission of Attorney General McGranery's letter from the files appeared either calculated to carry out a fix for Bramblett or else to entrap the new Republican chief into dismissing criminal charges against a fellow Republican.

Olney is not a man who dismisses cases haphazardly—regardless of politics. He was appointed by Governor Earl Warren, now chief justice, as chief counsel of the California Crime Commission where he did a bang-up job of cleaning up the gambling racket and the underworld bosses which for a time dominated parts of that state.

So Olney insisted that the Bramblett case go before a grand jury. The California Congressman has now been indicted, tried and found guilty.

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Case Of Dr. Einstein

I was up in Burlington, Vt., to do one of those pro and con jobs which is called a debate when, by staying too long after the session was over, I encountered the ease of the learned Dr. Albert Einstein, who was described to me as a scientist and logician. It was intended that I should stand in awe before a scientist.

To put the business on an understandable level, I said that to me he is an authority on Mozart and a violinist. When it comes to the kind of science with which he deals, I am silenced by my ignorance of the field. It shocked them that I would not admit that because Dr. Einstein has won distinction in his particular trade, he is also an authority on American political institutions, constitutional law and kindred subjects concerning which his public remarks are not too bright.

I was attacked pretty hard by the group, which consisted mostly of students and one adult who sounded like a lawyer. Their insistence was that I must venerate this aged gentleman because he is a scientist, that he gave this country the atom bomb, and that he was sound when he advised scientists to refuse to testify before congressional committees, which, I believe, one or two did, mentioning Einstein as their authority.

Whereupon I said that this gentleman, Einstein, was persecuted in his own country, was driven from it by Hitler, found sanctuary among us, was given here every opportunity to ply his trade, art and science, and that the least he could do would be to avoid interfering in our affairs beyond his knowledge, understanding and competence. I also said that I did not believe that an adult could settle in a country not his own, ground himself in its national traditions, absorb the meaning of its institutions and become assimilated in its society. I mentioned some well known exceptions such as Carl Schurz and Jacob Riis.

The gist of all this is the thought that because a man is a scientist or a university professor that he, for some reason, stands apart from the rest of us poor guys; that scientists constitute some kind of an elite who are to be worshipped even when they step out of their specialties and discuss subjects about which it is obvious from the context that they know nothing. It is like the two Kinsey books on human relations which the zoologist, Kinsey, prepared to establish the materialistic basis of the institution of marriage and the morals of famly life and came up with an ugly, mechanistic distortion of all that is beautiful and noble in the relations between man and woman.

It is surprising that the sociologists union did not resist Kinsey's invasion of its field. Since all this Kinsey business, I have received considerable mail indicating that perversion is normal and that what the human race has long regarded as morality is unusual and abnormal and a camouflage for indecency. This I am supposed to accept as final because it is based on premises growing out of a small sampling of men and women by a scientist who is also a university professor. One columnist wrote a series of articles which I read attentively and which seemed to me to be a defense of perversion based on so-called scientific studies.

The dogmatism of the scientists puts the dogmatism of the theologians to shame. For whereas the theologians admit that some things have to be taken on faith and that some have no greater authority than revelation by God to man, the scientists seem to say that if it is written by qualified persons and is printed in the books, it is right until a new book is written saying the contrary. It is like the argument about the fat and the skinny. Just now the vogue runs to curves.

We are all more or less dogmatic, and who am I not to admit to such a characterization! But the moral of this tale is not dogmatism; it is that refugees who have found sanctuary in our land ought to be grateful for their advantage and ought not to spoil it for others by acting so contrary to our institutions that public opinion is aroused against all aliens. You can't bite the hand that gave you a break without arousing resentment.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — A method of cutting down the number of strikes in America and at the same time increasing the value of collective bargaining has been approved by President Eisenhower as a desirable addition to federal law. But, unfortunately, labor union leaders as well as some management groups have been rejecting the formula without studying the possibility of amending it to make it suitable to both sides.

There has been a great deal of misunderstanding, for instance, in recent weeks about a pre-strike vote to be taken among the workers. If the purpose of the vote were merely to find out whether the officers fully represent the union members in declaring a strike, there would be no value in the plan. For, on such occasions, the workers would always vote anyhow to uphold the hands of their negotiators.

Must Decide Maximum

But the latest version of the so-called "pre-strike" plan goes much deeper into the question of avoiding the huge economic losses suffered in this country every year by workers and management alike. It calls for a pre-strike vote only on the "final" offer by management.

This means that management would have to decide the maximum that it was willing to concede and to stand on it firmly, even if a strike did come. If the management of a company, as a result of a strike, gave better terms than it did in its so-called "final" offer, it would never again be regarded as sincere when it made a "final" offer, and there would always be a tendency to regard such an offer as merely a step in the bargaining process. Management's loss would then be obvious.

So far as the workers are concerned, if they rejected the "final" offer and a strike did materialize and they didn't come out any better in the end than they would have if they had accepted the offer made before the strike was called, there would be fewer strikes subsequently. For both the leaders and the workers would know the next time that a strike was not going to be beneficial.

The advantages to the union under a constructively developed pre-strike-vote plan would be much greater than under any present system of threatened strikes or protracted negotiation during strikes. For, if the employer made his maximum concession in his "final" offer, the workers by their vote would be taking full responsibility for accepting or rejecting it, and the officers would not be on the spot as they often are today when, in a complicated negotiation, they cannot always tell what move to make next. If the truth were told, many a union leader would confess that in some instances he misjudged management's firmness and that, if he had known before a strike was called all that he learned during a strike and after it was over, he might have compromised and accepted a "final" offer before the strike was declared.

Direct Stake In Decision

There are rumblings throughout the industrial world, coming from workers and their families, that strikes are needlessly called. The workers themselves often feel that a management offer is good enough and that to go out on strike means an unnecessary loss of pay for the worker.

Certainly there is no logical reason why under a democratic system the workers should not be permitted to vote on management's "final" offer. They and their families have a direct stake in the decision and too often it is made by a small group of negotiators who find themselves in a strait jacket where they cannot call off a strike without themselves being discredited for having started it.

One objection made is that any formula to let the workers vote before a strike is called means introducing the machinery of the federal government into the picture. An alternative suggestion to which President Eisenhower is strongly inclined, and one that is favored also by Senator Alexander Smith, Republican, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, is to keep the federal government out of it altogether and to specify by law that unions shall include in their constitutions a clause setting up a formula for a pre-strike vote. The law would provide that, unless a union had such a cause in its constitution, it would not be eligible to conduct collective bargaining negotiations.

The procedure for the strike vote would be one to be worked out between management and labor in each case so as to insure a secret ballot. The National Labor Relations Board or the U. S. Mediation Service would come in to help adjust any question of procedure on which the two sides could not agree.

May Save Billions

Certainly the new plan for a pre-strike vote on the "final" offer of management might not in every case prevent a strike but, if it succeeded in preventing 85 per cent of the strikes, America would save billions of dollars every year. The largest part of this, of course, would be savings to the workers, who rarely ever gain enough out of the agreement finally consummated after a strike to make up for what they lose in their pay envelopes during a prolonged strike.

Labor union leaders may find on further examination that a pre-strike vote on the "final" offer of management gives them the biggest stimulus to successful negotiations they have ever had and still prevents immense economic losses to all concerned.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—(INS)—Radio Free Europe came up recently with a pathetic story about an Albanian refugee who thought the coming of Communist control to his country in 1944 was heaven-sent, but now has escaped to Greece to tell his sad tale.

The young man worked like a beast of burden to wring a living for his mother, young sister and himself out of an acre of tough Albanian land. Came the Communists and their land reform. The young man suddenly had 15 acres.

"We were rich as Can Guza was, and he was the richest man of all that province," he said after his recent escape. "The gift of the land excited my imagination so that I wanted to buy sheep and have a herd, and my land would be the best tilled land in the whole region. And my mother would be happy and little Salihe (the sister) would get married to the best boy of the village."

On the Monday after the land had been given a Communist commission called on the little family. As owners of that much land, the commissioner said, the family would have to pay an annual tax of 17 kilos of meat, 6 kilos of wool, 80 eggs, 400 kilos of wheat and 10,000 lek, the equivalent of $330. It was also ordered that all produce be sold to the village collective, which bought at about one tenth the market price.

The youth tried to give back the land to the Reds but was told that would constitute treason. He and his mother and sister went to work as never before. Each year the family fell farther behind in its taxes.

The young man was drafted. In time he returned to his native village as a sergeant-graduate of a Tirana military school. He hardly recognized his mother and sister. Back-breaking work had turned them into crones. The tax bill now amounted to 70,000 lek—five to seven years of income for an Albanian farmer.

The sergeant escaped, with the permission of relatives who promised to look out for the mother and for a sister who would never now marry "the best boy of the village." The refugee is haunted by the visions of all who burst through the Iron Curtain.

"I dream every night about my mother and my sister," he said. "I see my mother before the police . . . I am convinced the Communists will set fire to my house out of vengeance, as they did to Xhemal Gergi's home when he escaped in 1947 and to Kolia Bilali's home a year later . . ."

Mention of Albania brings up the question, "What ever became of King Zog?"

Zog is still being pushed around, this time by Egypt. Unofficially, the U. S. government has expressed its concern for him and Queen Geraldine, whose mother was an American. The assumption is that Zog—though he may not be remembered among the all-time benevolent monarchs — is a rallying point in Communist Albania for those who work for or hope for a return to freedom.

Ahmed Bey Zogu, better known as King Zog I, has suffered exile for 14 years. With his queen and their 2-day old son, Prince Skander, they fled the Italian invasion of April, 1939, to refuge first in Greece, then Turkey and England.

Zog was ready to return to Albania at the end of World War II but the Reds had the country by the throat. In 1946 King Farouk invited him to live in Egypt and recognized the royal Albanian legation in Cairo as the correct one.

In 1951 Zog came to the U. S. and purchased a New York home "with a bucket of jewels," one report said. Probably was a much more prosaic deal. He said he wanted Prince Skander to go to an American school. He returned to Cairo and promptly ran into trouble when Farouk took it on the lam.

He and his household were placed under police surveillance last October. Zog drew a pistol when a policewoman, accompanied by army and police units, searched his residence and announced she would search the queen. Shortly there after Zog's household firearms were seized.

The U. S. government has suggested to Gen. Naguib's government that it would be "unfortunate for the cause of freedom" if Zog is not permitted to leave Egypt with his honor and dignity unimpaired.

Three-Pronged Headache Plagues W. Virginia As Fire Season Nears

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 16 (AP)—Forest fires already are burning in West Virginia, the spring statutory fire season opens next month, and the fire suppression fund is $40,000 in the red.

That is the three-pronged headache plaguing the Conservation Department.

Conservation Director Carl J. Johnson said today the fire season last fall cost the department about $150,000 and this fiscal year's fire suppression fund has been overdrawn by $75,000. He said $36,000 was received from the governor's contingent fund to help out.

As a result, the fire program for the March 1-May 31 season definitely will have to be curtailed. So far, the director has three ideas:

1. The department is going to try to use one of its airplanes to patrol forests in the Eastern Panhandle and the other to be used in the Northern Panhandle in an attempt to get along without fire towers.

2. Johnson is writing wildlife organizations in the state asking them to fight fire without compensation this spring. The department usually pays 25 cents an hour for unorganized help and 40 cents an hour for organized crews trained as a unit.

3. "We're going to crack down on brush burning." Burning of brush is prohibited during the fire season from 5 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Johnson said conservation officers would be instructed to "strictly enforce it."

W. Va. Refuses To Pay College Association

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 16 (AP)—The state auditor of West Virginia today called the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools a "profiteering outfit" and refused to authorize payment of $350 from West Virginia University to the association.

Auditor Edgar B. Sims told university President Irvin Stewart that "the state of West Virginia does not owe tribute to any profiteering outfit and it would seem that this concern is run for the financial gain of the operators."

Sims told Stewart his official reason for denying payment was that "no proof has been given that any services have been rendered to the state of West Virginia by this outfit."

The North Central Association with headquarters in Chicago, is the largest of several regional accrediting organizations in the country. Such associations set and enforce academic standards for member schools. Among benefits, students from one accredited school can transfer to another without question as to the courses he has taken.

Race Tracks Oppose Hike In State Tax

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 16 (AP)—Bettors get used to losing, but race track owners were worried today over losing the bettors and horses.

The tracks knocked an idea of Del. Boone (D-Baltimore County) that an increase from 10 to 15 per cent in the tax on betting might be the way to gain five million dollars for the State. The extra five per cent would belong to the State according to Boone's thought.

But the tracks, horse owners and the chairman of the Maryland Racing Commission sought to convince Boone that higher tax might run them out of business.

At the same time, they gave Boone and his four members of a subcommittee an insight into the sport. In the first place, Yancy Christmas, owner and trainer, told them "racing is strictly a gambling proposition."

Then John Jackson, general manager of Pimlico, informed them it is the big bettor that counts and who scouts around for the best percentage.

"Busloads came down to Pimlico last year from New York," he related. "They didn't come to see the beautiful trees. They came down here because it was advantageous."

He explained they were taking advantage of Maryland's 10 per cent bite of the tax dollar compared with the 15 in New York.

D. Eldred Rinehart, racing commission chairman, also cited New York as an example of what might happen when the tax is increased.

Horse Race Bet Figures In Trial Of Bank Teller

BALTIMORE, Feb. 16 (AP) — A prosecution witness testified today he was "under the impression" Victor H. McSherry Jr., lost a $1,500 horse race bet, although the Hagerstown bank teller, on trial for embezzlement, told him he won the bet.

The witness was Jack H. Fisher, Hagerstown service station operator and former employe of McSherry.

McSherry is charged with forging two checks totaling $23,000 and changing one from $9,389 to $4,389 and pocketing the difference. The government accuses McSherry of charging off the $28,000 total to accounts of Eyerly Realty Co. and Eyerly's Department Store at the Nicodemus National Bank.

Fisher testified he went to the Charles Town, W. Va., race track with McSherry in the spring of 1952 and said McSherry told him he bet $1,500 on a single horse race.

The witness said he was "under the impression" McSherry lost the bet, but under cross examination by Baltimore defense attorney A. Fred Taylor acknowledged he "wasn't sure."

He also acknowledged that at McSherry's first trial on the charges he testified he was told by McSherry the bet was won.

The checks McSherry is alleged to have forged or falsified were cashed in November and December of 1952. The defendant testified at a previous trial last November he won at the race tracks large sums of money which showed up in his personal bank deposits.

A jury deadlocked at the first trial.

A new witness appeared at today's session, Harry Meyers, 18-year-old Williamsport service station attendant.

Meyers testified he saw McSherry with $6,000 in his possession at one time in the spring of 1952 and $8,000 on another occasion. He said McSherry, a fellow employe in a Hagerstown service station at the time, told him he won the money at the West Virginia race track.

'Medical Negligence' Is Denied By Hospital

BALTIMORE, Feb. 16 (AP)—University Hospital said today there is no evidence to demonstrate "medical negligence" in its handling of an indigent patient who died last Saturday of heart disease.

Kurt H. Nork, assistant hospital director, said there had been "no outright denial of treatment," and "at no time did any of the personnel suggest removal of the patient from the accident room."

Nork said John Bush, 60, died of a type of heart ailment "frequently impossible to diagnose prior to death."

Nork's statement said internes at the hospital twice examined Bush. They found he was suffering from malnutrition, debilitation, and perhaps some chronic illness. They concluded he needed good food and rest rather than emergency medical attention. The hospital arranged for him to stay at a mission.

The police report on the case said Bush was arrested at one time Saturday morning on the hospital's complaint. It also said an interne put Bush out of the hospital later when the police sent him back.

ADMITS HE WAS RED — Dr. Wilbur Lee Mahaney, social science teacher at West Philadelphia High School, told the House Un-American Activities Subcommittee yesterday that he was a member of the Communist Party from about 1935 until 1948. Eight other Philadelphia school teachers called before the group refused to answer questions about Communist membership.

Baltimore Co. Demo Lines Drawn Tighter

TOWSON, Md., Feb. 16 (AP)—Battle lines between Democratic factions in Baltimore County were drawn tighter today when William J. Green of Catonsville, president of a wholesale lumber firm, announced he will be a candidate for county commissioner.

Green will run on a ticket headed by Christian H. Kahl, former long-time commissioner who is making a bid this year for the county's seat in the State Senate.

James A. Pine, former attorney to the county commissioners, previously announced he will be a candidate for commissioner on the Kahl ticket.

Kahl and Pine said they plan to have a slate of candidates for all county offices, running in opposition to Michael J. Birmingham and his associates who now make up the three-man board of county commissioners.

Three-Pronged Headache Plagues W. Virginia As Fire Season Nears

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 16 (AP)—Forest fires already are burning in West Virginia, the spring statutory fire season opens next month, and the fire suppression fund is $40,000 in the red.

That is the three-pronged headache plaguing the Conservation Department.

Conservation Director Carl J. Johnson said today the fire season last fall cost the department about $150,000 and this fiscal year's fire suppression fund has been overdrawn by $75,000. He said $36,000 was received from the governor's contingent fund to help out.

As a result, the fire program for the March 1-May 31 season definitely will have to be curtailed. So far, the director has three ideas:

1. The department is going to try to use one of its airplanes to patrol forests in the Eastern Panhandle and the other to be used in the Northern Panhandle in an attempt to get along without fire towers.

2. Johnson is writing wildlife organizations in the state asking them to fight fire without compensation this spring. The department usually pays 25 cents an hour for unorganized help and 40 cents an hour for organized crews trained as a unit.

3. "We're going to crack down on brush burning." Burning of brush is prohibited during the fire season from 5 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Johnson said conservation officers would be instructed to "strictly enforce it."

W. Va. Refuses To Pay College Association

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 16 (AP)—The state auditor of West Virginia today called the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools a "profiteering outfit" and refused to authorize payment of $350 from West Virginia University to the association.

Auditor Edgar B. Sims told university President Irvin Stewart that "the state of West Virginia does not owe tribute to any profiteering outfit and it would seem that this concern is run for the financial gain of the operators."

Sims told Stewart his official reason for denying payment was that "no proof has been given that any services have been rendered to the state of West Virginia by this outfit."

The North Central Association with headquarters in Chicago, is the largest of several regional accrediting organizations in the country. Such associations set and enforce academic standards for member schools. Among benefits, students from one accredited school can transfer to another without question as to the courses he has taken.

Race Tracks Oppose Hike In State Tax

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 16 (AP)—Bettors get used to losing, but race track owners were worried today over losing the bettors and horses.

The tracks knocked an idea of Del. Boone (D-Baltimore County) that an increase from 10 to 15 per cent in the tax on betting might be the way to gain five million dollars for the State. The extra five per cent would belong to the State according to Boone's thought.

But the tracks, horse owners and the chairman of the Maryland Racing Commission sought to convince Boone that higher tax might run them out of business.

At the same time, they gave Boone and his four members of a subcommittee an insight into the sport. In the first place, Yancy Christmas, owner and trainer, told them "racing is strictly a gambling proposition."

Then John Jackson, general manager of Pimlico, informed them it is the big bettor that counts and who scouts around for the best percentage.

"Busloads came down to Pimlico last year from New York," he related. "They didn't come to see the beautiful trees. They came down here because it was advantageous."

He explained they were taking advantage of Maryland's 10 per cent bite of the tax dollar compared with the 15 in New York.

D. Eldred Rinehart, racing commission chairman, also cited New York as an example of what might happen when the tax is increased.

Horse Race Bet Figures In Trial Of Bank Teller

BALTIMORE, Feb. 16 (AP) — A prosecution witness testified today he was "under the impression" Victor H. McSherry Jr., lost a $1,500 horse race bet, although the Hagerstown bank teller, on trial for embezzlement, told him he won the bet.

The witness was Jack H. Fisher, Hagerstown service station operator and former employe of McSherry.

McSherry is charged with forging two checks totaling $23,000 and changing one from $9,389 to $4,389 and pocketing the difference. The government accuses McSherry of charging off the $28,000 total to accounts of Eyerly Realty Co. and Eyerly's Department Store at the Nicodemus National Bank.

Fisher testified he went to the Charles Town, W. Va., race track with McSherry in the spring of 1952 and said McSherry told him he bet $1,500 on a single horse race.

The witness said he was "under the impression" McSherry lost the bet, but under cross examination by Baltimore defense attorney A. Fred Taylor acknowledged he "wasn't sure."

He also acknowledged that at McSherry's first trial on the charges he testified he was told by McSherry the bet was won.

The checks McSherry is alleged to have forged or falsified were cashed in November and December of 1952. The defendant testified at a previous trial last November he won at the race tracks large sums of money which showed up in his personal bank deposits.

A jury deadlocked at the first trial.

A new witness appeared at today's session, Harry Meyers, 18-year-old Williamsport service station attendant.

Meyers testified he saw McSherry with $6,000 in his possession at one time in the spring of 1952 and $8,000 on another occasion. He said McSherry, a fellow employe in a Hagerstown service station at the time, told him he won the money at the West Virginia race track.

'Medical Negligence' Is Denied By Hospital

BALTIMORE, Feb. 16 (AP)—University Hospital said today there is no evidence to demonstrate "medical negligence" in its handling of an indigent patient who died last Saturday of heart disease.

Kurt H. Nork, assistant hospital director, said there had been "no outright denial of treatment," and "at no time did any of the personnel suggest removal of the patient from the accident room."

Nork said John Bush, 60, died of a type of heart ailment "frequently impossible to diagnose prior to death."

Nork's statement said internes at the hospital twice examined Bush. They found he was suffering from malnutrition, debilitation, and perhaps some chronic illness. They concluded he needed good food and rest rather than emergency medical attention. The hospital arranged for him to stay at a mission.

The police report on the case said Bush was arrested at one time Saturday morning on the hospital's complaint. It also said an interne put Bush out of the hospital later when the police sent him back.

ADMITS HE WAS RED — Dr. Wilbur Lee Mahaney, social science teacher at West Philadelphia High School, told the House Un-American Activities Subcommittee yesterday that he was a member of the Communist Party from about 1935 until 1948. Eight other Philadelphia school teachers called before the group refused to answer questions about Communist membership.

Baltimore Co. Demo Lines Drawn Tighter

TOWSON, Md., Feb. 16 (AP)—Battle lines between Democratic factions in Baltimore County were drawn tighter today when William J. Green of Catonsville, president of a wholesale lumber firm, announced he will be a candidate for county commissioner.

Green will run on a ticket headed by Christian H. Kahl, former long-time commissioner who is making a bid this year for the county's seat in the State Senate.

James A. Pine, former attorney to the county commissioners, previously announced he will be a candidate for commissioner on the Kahl ticket.

Kahl and Pine said they plan to have a slate of candidates for all county offices, running in opposition to Michael J. Birmingham and his associates who now make up the three-man board of county commissioners.

Plans Day Of Prayer

Plans were made to observe World Day of Prayer at the meeting of the Murley's Branch Women's Society of Christian Service. Mrs. Eva Bender presided. The observance will be held at the church March 5.

Articles of clothing were brought to the meeting for a box to be sent to New Windsor. It was decided to hold a bake sale in Flintstone April 17.

Mrs. Sue Kisamore conducted the devotional program with Mrs. Zola Browning, Mrs. Evelyn Heavner, Mrs. Shirley Shriver, Mrs. Hazel Stonestreet presenting a discussion on "Rural Negroes and the Church." Mrs. Ruth Weicht was hostess to the society at her home and served refreshments with Mrs. Ora Thompson offering prayer. Several guests also attended.

Girl Scout Leaders Training Course Will Begin Tomorrow

The first session of a group leadership course for new leaders of Brownie, Intermediate and Senior Girl Scout troops will be held tomorrow at the Girl Scout House from 7:30 until 9:30 o'clock.

The course is planned in a series of eight sessions, once a week, and is designed to "help new leaders have a satisfying group experience, begin to understand and enjoy their jobs and get some of the knowledge, skills and confidence they need to do their jobs well," Miss Olive Hurlburt, executive director, said last evening.

Including exhibits, demonstrations, discussions and film strips, the course will be given by Miss Hurlburt, assisted by experienced leaders and committee members.

Miss Hurlburt explained that the additional trained leadership will make it possible for new troops to be started in some sections and other troops to be reorganized. Additional registrations will be accepted at the scout house today and tomorrow morning.

Four workshops for both new and experienced leaders have been planned, the first of which is tonight at the scout house, on the theme, "Adventuring in the Arts, Music and Dramatics." Topics for the other three, which are to be held each month, are, "Getting Along Together in a Troop," "Nature Exploring," and "Fun in the Out-of-Doors."

Thought First Of Family When Told He's Doomed By Cancer, Man Says

OMAHA, Feb. 16 (AP)—What does a man think of when he gets the news that he has not much longer to live?

"I thought first of my sweet family, then of the wonderful world around me," 45-year-old Arnold J. Howes of Omaha said today.

Howes, a slim, dark-haired mechanic, learned two weeks ago that death from cancer seems inevitable.

"I have six months, maybe more, maybe less," he said.

But "If you have tried to live right, as I have, there is no fear of death."

"It was a shock at first, all right. It wasn't a shock that I was going to die as much as a shock of leaving my family."

He and his pretty blonde wife, 31, have two children, Dennis, a month old, and David, 2½.

Illness has plagued Howes since his marriage four years ago, and has drained the family financially.

After cancer struck, Howes' right lung was removed but the disease spread.

Howes feared the worst so he asked his pastor, the Rev. John W. McNally, of St. Bridgets Roman Catholic Church to query the doctors.

"I just didn't have the heart to ask the doctors myself," Howes said. "But when Father McNally told me I decided it wouldn't get me down.

"Like he said, I can't sit around and feel sorry for myself. I'm not whipped yet. Miracles have happened and maybe one will happen to me."

Howes said his knowledge of impending death "makes a person appreciate the wonders of nature."

"I like to get outside and watch the children play, see the trees sway in the breeze, watch young people return from school and cars go up and down the street.

"You realize that things we take for granted really are pretty wonderful."

Cops 'Lecture' Earned

BAY CITY, Mich., Feb. 16 (AP)—The night watchman at the Lewis Manufacturing Co. admitted tripping the burglary system "so I'd get some policemen to show up."

Two squad cars and four patrolmen were sent to the lumber firm to "catch the burglar." They found the watchman wanted help in moving a car from the company's parking lot. Police gave him a lecture.

25 Paratroopers Hurt In Two Mass Jumps

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Feb. 16 (AP) — Twenty-five Army paratroopers were injured in two mass parachute jumps into the chill, thin air 1,000 feet above the high plains east of the Rocky Mountains today.

Officials said eight men were hurt seriously. They suffered broken hips, legs and shoulders.

The injured were among 720 members of the 511th Airborne Infantry Regiment which made the jumps—highest above sea level ever tried by the Army—as the climax to several weeks of training in Colorado.

The event took place before several hundred spectators at Camp Carson. The camp is 6,000 feet above sea level.

Court Rules Heiress Can Marry Non-Jew

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—A New York court ruled today that a Park Ave. heiress may marry outside the Jewish faith without losing a share in her millionaire great-grandfather's estate.

The decision, by a 3-2 vote of the Appellate Division, reversed a surrogate's ruling that Miss Jean L. Tanburn must lose a 10-thousand dollar cash inheritance plus $6,500 annually if she made good her announced intention of marrying non-Jewish Donelson Morrison Kelley Jr.

The will of the great-grandfather Abraham S. Rosenthal, had a clause which barred marriage into other faiths for any of his heirs.

Reader's Digest Reports:
ONLY NEW COLGATE DENTAL CREAM
with Miracle Anti-Enzyme Ingredient GARDOL*
HAS THE CLINICAL PROOF!
(Proof that Brings New Hope to Millions for LIFETIME PROTECTION AGAINST TOOTH DECAY)

5 QUICK FACTS FROM THE READER'S DIGEST ARTICLE
"What About Anti-Enzyme Toothpastes?" December, 1953

1. Reader's Digest says—The most effective anti-enzyme toothpaste ingredient tested was developed in the Colgate-Palmolive Company laboratories.
(It's Colgate's miracle ingredient Gardol (Sodium N-Lauroyl Sarcosinate)—found in no other leading toothpaste!)

2. Reader's Digest says—One of the foremost dental authorities in the world proved that this ingredient binds itself effectively to the teeth—holds acid formation below the decay level in 95 per cent of cases tested.
(Unlike ordinary toothpaste ingredients, effective only for minutes, this protection won't rinse off—won't wear off—all day or all night!)

3. Reader's Digest says—Even 12 hours after brushing, this new Colgate anti-enzyme discovery continues to guard against the enzymes that cause tooth decay.
(Thus, just daily morning and night brushings guard against decay-causing enzymes every minute of the day and night!)

4. Reader's Digest says—In clinical tests, supervised by leading dental authorities—for a full year—people who used ordinary toothpastes averaged almost two and a half times more new cavities than those who used New Colgate Dental Cream with Gardol (Sodium N-Lauroyl Sarcosinate). In fact, of the group using New Colgate's, 4 out of 5 developed no new cavities at all!
(A group of distinguished dentists examined this evidence and agreed—New Colgate Dental Cream with Gardol gives the surest protection against tooth decay ever offered by any toothpaste!)

5. Reader's Digest says—New Colgate Dental Cream is the only toothpaste with clinical proof of its effectiveness in actually reducing the formation of new cavities.

Black And White "Flat" Pictures Head Academy Award Nominations

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 16 (AP)—Despite Hollywood's new dimensional look, top honors in the Academy nominations went to two black and white "flat" pictures last night—"From Here to Eternity" and "Roman Holiday."

"From Here to Eternity," Columbia's hard-hitting Army story, was given 13 chances for Oscars when the awards are presented March 25. The film was nominated for all its five stars, as well as for best picture, direction, screenplay and other categories.

"Roman Holiday," filmed by Paramount in Rome, nabbed 10 nominations, including those for best production, direction, screenplay and star, newcomer Audrey Hepburn. The petite British actress was rated the favorite for the actresses' Oscar.

Of the nominees for the best picture award, only one was filmed in the wide screen process. That was "The Robe," first film made in CinemaScope. It will compete for the top Oscar with "From Here to Eternity," "Julius Caesar," "Roman Holiday," and "Shane."

The field for the top Oscar for an actress is perhaps the youngest in Hollywood history. Besides Miss Hepburn, the nominees are: Leslie Caron, "Lili;" Ava Gardner, "Mogambo;" Deborah Kerr, "From Here to Eternity;" Maggie McNamara, "The Moon Is Blue."

The nominees for the actors' foremost Oscar are also unusually young. They are: Marlon Brando, "Julius Caesar;" Richard Burton, "The Robe;" Montgomery Clift, "From Here to Eternity;" William Holden, "Stalag 17," and Burt Lancaster, "From Here to Eternity."

Other nominations in the major categories include:

Best documentary features: "The Conquest of Everest;" "The Living Desert" and "A Queen is Crowned."

"From Here to Eternity," and "Roman Holiday" were far ahead of their competitors. Following those two films were "Shane" and "Lili," with six nominations apiece, and two custome epics, Julius Caesar" and "The Robe," with five each. It is the first time in many years that two pictures have so dominated the nominations.

Nominations were made by 13,075 members of the film industry who voted for selections in their own crafts. Final winners will be selected by the 1600 Academy members, representing leaders of the industry. The Oscars will be handed out March 25 with the usual whoopla at Hollywood's Pantages Theater.

The event will be telecast nationally for the second year in a row.

As she walked for the first time in a year, Mrs. Maher said "It's a miracle."

Breeder Finds Brisk Demand For Buffalo

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 16 (AP)—There's a brisk demand for live buffalo, much to the surprise of Gene Clark who is disposing of part of the herd he raised near Independence, Kan.

Clark stopped here today on his way home after a 6,000-mile truck trip in which he delivered 30 animals for an average of $250 per head.

After Clark's plan for disposing of the buffalo, because of the drought, was mentioned on a TV program orders began pouring in.

Two buffalo went to a New York suburbanite who has a small yard and plans to keep them in his garage. Asked why the New Yorker wanted them, Clark replied:

"You know, that's exactly what I wanted to know as I was putting the buffalo into the garage. The fellow said having two buffalo just sounded like an interesting idea."

Group Is Red Front If Communist Party Dominates It

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—The test of whether an organization is a Communist front will be based solely on whether it is dominated and controlled by the Communist party, the Federal Subversive Activities Control Board ruled today.

Former Sen. Harry P. Cain (R-Wash) a board member, announced the board's ruling at a hearing on whether the Labor Youth League is an alleged Communist front organization.

Samuel Gruber, league attorney, argued that the board's finding last April 20 that the Communist party was an action group substantially controlled by Moscow was not binding on the youth league because it was not a party to that proceeding.

Gruber held that the youth league could not be deemed a Communist front unless it were proven at the present hearing that the Communist party was an action group.

The board's ruling termed this argument "absurd." It said:

"It is not reasonable to believe that the Congress, when it passed the Subversive Activites Control Act (Internal Security Act) intended that the board, once having made a determination finding an organization to be a Communist action organization, is required thereafter to re-litigate the same issue in every so-called Communist front proceeding. . . .

"To arrive at such an absurd conclusion, would be simply to frustrate the congressional intent and indefinitely postpone and delay any proceedings initiated by the attorney general."

There was no immediate decision as to whether the Labor Youth League is a Communist front organization.

Black And White "Flat" Pictures Head Academy Award Nominations

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 16 (AP)—Despite Hollywood's new dimensional look, top honors in the Academy nominations went to two black and white "flat" pictures last night—"From Here to Eternity" and "Roman Holiday."

"From Here to Eternity," Columbia's hard-hitting Army story, was given 13 chances for Oscars when the awards are presented March 25. The film was nominated for all its five stars, as well as for best picture, direction, screenplay and other categories.

"Roman Holiday," filmed by Paramount in Rome, nabbed 10 nominations, including those for best production, direction, screenplay and star, newcomer Audrey Hepburn. The petite British actress was rated the favorite for the actresses' Oscar.

Of the nominees for the best picture award, only one was filmed in the wide screen process. That was "The Robe," first film made in CinemaScope. It will compete for the top Oscar with "From Here to Eternity," "Julius Caesar," "Roman Holiday," and "Shane."

The field for the top Oscar for an actress is perhaps the youngest in Hollywood history. Besides Miss Hepburn, the nominees are: Leslie Caron, "Lili;" Ava Gardner, "Mogambo;" Deborah Kerr, "From Here to Eternity;" Maggie McNamara, "The Moon Is Blue."

The nominees for the actors' foremost Oscar are also unusually young. They are: Marlon Brando, "Julius Caesar;" Richard Burton, "The Robe;" Montgomery Clift, "From Here to Eternity;" William Holden, "Stalag 17," and Burt Lancaster, "From Here to Eternity."

Other nominations in the major categories include:

Best documentary features: "The Conquest of Everest;" "The Living Desert" and "A Queen is Crowned."

"From Here to Eternity," and "Roman Holiday" were far ahead of their competitors. Following those two films were "Shane" and "Lili," with six nominations apiece, and two custome epics, Julius Caesar" and "The Robe," with five each. It is the first time in many years that two pictures have so dominated the nominations.

Nominations were made by 13,075 members of the film industry who voted for selections in their own crafts. Final winners will be selected by the 1600 Academy members, representing leaders of the industry. The Oscars will be handed out March 25 with the usual whoopla at Hollywood's Pantages Theater.

The event will be telecast nationally for the second year in a row.

Breeder Finds Brisk Demand For Buffalo

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 16 (AP)—There's a brisk demand for live buffalo, much to the surprise of Gene Clark who is disposing of part of the herd he raised near Independence, Kan.

Clark stopped here today on his way home after a 6,000-mile truck trip in which he delivered 30 animals for an average of $250 per head.

After Clark's plan for disposing of the buffalo, because of the drought, was mentioned on a TV program orders began pouring in.

Two buffalo went to a New York suburbanite who has a small yard and plans to keep them in his garage. Asked why the New Yorker wanted them, Clark replied:

"You know, that's exactly what I wanted to know as I was putting the buffalo into the garage. The fellow said having two buffalo just sounded like an interesting idea."

Group Is Red Front If Communist Party Dominates It

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—The test of whether an organization is a Communist front will be based solely on whether it is dominated and controlled by the Communist party, the Federal Subversive Activities Control Board ruled today.

Former Sen. Harry P. Cain (R-Wash) a board member, announced the board's ruling at a hearing on whether the Labor Youth League is an alleged Communist front organization.

Samuel Gruber, league attorney, argued that the board's finding last April 20 that the Communist party was an action group substantially controlled by Moscow was not binding on the youth league because it was not a party to that proceeding.

Gruber held that the youth league could not be deemed a Communist front unless it were proven at the present hearing that the Communist party was an action group.

The board's ruling termed this argument "absurd." It said:

"It is not reasonable to believe that the Congress, when it passed the Subversive Activites Control Act (Internal Security Act) intended that the board, once having made a determination finding an organization to be a Communist action organization, is required thereafter to re-litigate the same issue in every so-called Communist front proceeding. . . .

"To arrive at such an absurd conclusion, would be simply to frustrate the congressional intent and indefinitely postpone and delay any proceedings initiated by the attorney general."

There was no immediate decision as to whether the Labor Youth League is a Communist front organization.

Benson Denies Spending Public Funds On Cottage

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson has denounced as "a malicious, sensational smear story" a published account of the expenditure of public funds to fix up a cottage for weekend visits by the secretary and his family.

In telling the House Appropriations Committee about it, Benson said he used the cottage but "I have nothing to hide." His testimony, given Feb. 1 in connection with department budget requests, was made public yesterday.

The cottage is on property formerly used as an Army remount station, at Front Royal, Va., and now operated by the Agriculture Department as a beef cattle research center.

Benson said the department spent $1,610 out of Bureau of Animal Husbandry funds to repair the cottage.

When repairs were completed last July, Benson said, the department set charges for use of the cottage at the rate of $2 a day, "in conformity with the custom at several department field stations where facilities are available for official visitors to stay overnight."

Benson submitted a statement to the committee saying:

"The building has been occupied on nine nights between July 7 and Dec. 31, 1953, the occupants in each case being Secretary Benson and members of his family.

"Because the amounts were small, the charges were not collected from the secretary following each occupancy but the station superintendent reported each use of the cottage and at the end of the year the secretary was billed in the amount of $18. Payment has been made and deposited in miscellaneous receipts of the Treasury."

Benson said also that all personal belonging of the Benson family had been removed from the cottage, because he wanted things not only to be right but to seem right.

Seasick Elephants Removed From Ship

GENOA, Italy, Feb. 16 (AP)— A group of young elephants bound for European zoos and circuses were taken off a ship today with jumbo-sized cases of seasickness.

The animals were heading for Rotterdam on the cargo vessel Lekkerkerk. The skipper said they were so seasick they would have died if they had gone further. He unloaded them here for shipment by rail.

As soon as they set foot on land, the grateful elephants went into a dance and trumpeted with joy.

Home Sweet Home

Not So Humble Now

A century ago when John Howard Payne wrote "Home, Sweet Home," the average dwelling was indeed humble . . . no central heating . . . oil lamps . . . few bathtubs . . . water from the well heated on the kitchen coal stove . . . a musty, dark icebox . . . a seldom-used "parlor".

Today's average home isn't so humble. It has automatic central heating, a gleaming automatic range, refrigerator, and many other work-saving appliances. Water pours from taps in kitchen and bathroom automatically heated. The parlor has become a living room with radio and television.

Today's higher standard of living calls for greater home protection. If you have not recently reviewed your life insurance program, make sure that, whatever happens to you, your family can maintain the home with its comforts and conveniences.

Handling Charges For Food Products Exceed Amount Paid To Farmers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The bill for processing, transporting and marketing U.S. food products last year was larger than the amount farmers were paid for the materials, the Agriculture Department reported today.

Total charges for processing, transporting and selling were reported at $24,500,000,000 compared with about $20,025,000,000 paid farmers.

That means, the department said, that of every dollar the consumer spent for food last year, the farmers got about 45 cents. In the previous year, the producer got an average of 47 cents. During World War II, the farm share rose to 52 cents.

The department said that in 1953, prices farmers received for food products averaged 6 per cent below 1952, but that marketing charges increased 1 per cent.

In analyzing the marketing costs, the department said average hourly earnings of employes in food marketing enterprises were approximately 5 per cent higher than in 1952.

Home Sweet Home

Not So Humble Now

A century ago when John Howard Payne wrote "Home, Sweet Home," the average dwelling was indeed humble . . . no central heating . . . oil lamps . . . few bathtubs . . . water from the well heated on the kitchen coal stove . . . a musty, dark icebox . . . a seldom-used "parlor".

Today's average home isn't so humble. It has automatic central heating, a gleaming automatic range, refrigerator, and many other work-saving appliances. Water pours from taps in kitchen and bathroom automatically heated. The parlor has become a living room with radio and television.

Today's higher standard of living calls for greater home protection. If you have not recently reviewed your life insurance program, make sure that, whatever happens to you, your family can maintain the home with its comforts and conveniences.

Handling Charges For Food Products Exceed Amount Paid To Farmers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The bill for processing, transporting and marketing U.S. food products last year was larger than the amount farmers were paid for the materials, the Agriculture Department reported today.

Total charges for processing, transporting and selling were reported at $24,500,000,000 compared with about $20,025,000,000 paid farmers.

That means, the department said, that of every dollar the consumer spent for food last year, the farmers got about 45 cents. In the previous year, the producer got an average of 47 cents. During World War II, the farm share rose to 52 cents.

The department said that in 1953, prices farmers received for food products averaged 6 per cent below 1952, but that marketing charges increased 1 per cent.

In analyzing the marketing costs, the department said average hourly earnings of employes in food marketing enterprises were approximately 5 per cent higher than in 1952.

Surplus Food Being Sought For County

In an effort to obtain surplus food for the hundreds of needy persons in Allegany County, the Board of Commissioners has decided to contact Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools, who is in charge of the program in Maryland.

William H. Lemmert, president of the board, instituted the action yesterday when he said he had received many requests from needy citizens for assistance of some kind. Commissioners James Holmes and James Orr joined with Lemmert in deciding that surplus government food should be sought.

The commissioners said there are hundreds of unemployed persons in the county who need this type assistance.

It is believed that cheese, powdered milk and butter will be available from the huge stocks of these food items the government has stored in warehouses and refrigeration plants. Actual plans for the food distribution will be made after the full facts in the matter are ascertained and an allotment given to the county.

The commissioners said that the assistance of a number of organizations will be required in the program. These include the Allegany County Welfare Board and Associated Charities, which will certify eligibles; American Red Cross chapters in various communities, Salvation Army, volunteer fire companies and United Mine Workers of America locals.

More Funds Slated For Allegany County

Allegany County would get additional revenue amounting to $63,776 as a result of the alcoholic beverages tax approved in the General Assembly Monday night.

Based on 1952 liquor sales, the state treasury would lose almost $900,000 as a result of the measure passed in the legislature.

Garrett County, where only beer sales are legal, would be able, under this law, to continue its local tax on that beverage. It netted $50,300 last year.

A tax bill, introduced by Del. Horace P. Whitworth Jr., which would cost Baltimore City and three counties about $1,300,000 a year came up for a committee hearing today amid reports it might be watered down.

House Speaker Luber (D-Balto 5th) said he understood amendments were being drawn to make the measure less drastic to the subdivisions which would lose money.

The bill calls, in effect, for a tax on corporation property where it is instead of a similar levy paid only at the location of the corporation's principal offices. The House Ways and Means Committee took the measure up yesterday.

A spokesman for Baltimore city, which would lose an estimated $1,200,000 a year under the bill in its present form, last week charged a big utility firm with using it as a club.

Edwin Harlan, deputy city solicitor, said the utility hoped the bill would force Baltimore city to withdraw its opposition to proposed rate increases for the utility.

Besides Baltimore city, losers would include Frederick, Wicomico and Garrett counties by amounts of $101,500, $67,600 and $1,000, respectively.

Two Boys Being Held For Theft Of Dynamite Caps; Hearing Set

Two South End boys, 13 and 15, will be given a hearing Saturday in Juvenile Court for the theft of dynamite caps which caused injury to a four-year-old Monday night.

Richard Arbogast, son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy E. Arbogast, 209 Maple Street, was treated at Memorial Hospital after a blasting cap exploded as he and a group of other children played.

Police said the boy's left leg below the knee was peppered with fragments.

Officer Robert Gilpin, who investigated, told his superiors the two older boys admitted breaking the lock on a steel box at the G. C. Sensabaugh Company, Inc. stone quarry off Oldtown Road near the city dump.

The youths said they took a box of blasting caps, several of which were brought to the city, about 50 feet of fuse and 30 feet of wire. The stolen property was recovered.

Police released the pair into the custody of their parents pending trial on delinquency charges.

Liquor Board Says Spinetta Not Guilty Of Violation

The Allegany County Board of License Commissioners yesterday ruled that Joseph J. Spinetta, operator of Lee's Tavern, 60 North Mechanic Street, was not guilty of operating an establishment contrary to the peace and safety of the community.

Walter C. Capper, board chairman, filed the opinion. Spinetta and his attorney, Harold E. Naughton, attended the meeting.

The board yesterday did suspend the beer license of Frank Raccosta, operator of the Queen City Tavern, 10 Queen City Pavement, for 30 days, effective at midnight Thursday, February 18, and continuing through Saturday, March 20. Raccosta may not resume sale of beer until Monday morning, March 22. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris fined Raccosta $500 in Circuit Court January 20 on a charge of illegally selling beer to a 16-year-old boy.

The Spinetta opinion of the board's chairman, which was concurred in by Stanley Hamilton and James E. Kenney, board members, follows in part:

One Saw Disturbance

City Police Officers Carl E. Williams, Kenneth W. Morrissey, Leo Law, E. Gordon Hite, John Powers and Charles E. Cubbage testified concerning visits they made to the tavern to investigate complaints.

Only one of the officers was able to state that he actually saw any disturbance in the tavern and this took place on Christmas Eve when four men engaged in a fight on the dance floor. They were arrested and taken to the police station.

Several of the other officers testified they had visited the place and noticed the patrons in general were behaving all right. One officer said some of the patrons did not have good reputations among police and some were known as being part of the "Front Street crowd". He further stated that none of the women in the place when he had gone there at the request of Spinetta were prostitutes.

Observes Hours

Earl R. Willison, investigator for the board, said he visited the place at night on at least 20 occasions and had never discovered any disturbances and the establishment was conducted all right when Spinetta was there. Willison said on several occasions Spinetta's bartender and a woman worker "got out of line", probably as a result of drinking. Willison also said Spinetta was very careful to observe the legal closing hours and usually called the police when he anticipated any trouble brewing in the place.

The board stated it had never received any complaint about the tavern except the one by Chief Flynn.

"After careful consideration of the testimony," the board stated, "we conclude that Spinetta's place of business was not operated contrary to the peace and safety of the community and therefore find him not guilty of the charge."

Loud And Noisy

"However, we think the operation of these premises is too loud and noisy and that Spinetta should take steps to control this by forbidding certain well known characters access to the tavern and by seeing to it that his bartenders constantly remain sober and at all times able to control any disturbance which might take place."

City To Support Fort Cumberland Stamp Campaign

The Mayor and Council Monday adopted a resolution calling for the issuance of a commemorative stamp to mark the bicentennial of Fort Cumberland.

The resolution, similar to one passed by the Maryland House of Delegates recently, calls for the Post Office Department to issue a stamp on January 26, 1955, to commemorate the establishment of the historic fort at the Gateway to the West.

The action was taken at the request of Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian for the Cumberland Free Public Library, co-sponsor with the Allegany County Historical Society on the stamp project.

Potomac River Dam Job Is Ahead Of Schedule

The contractor on the Potomac River industrial dam is six months ahead of schedule and is currently working around the clock when weather permits.

The E. J. Albrecht Company is at the point where it was originally planned the firm would be in July 1954.

A company spokesman pointed out the mild winter has made it possible for work to continue. There had been planned a layoff during the extremely cold months.

However, concrete was poured on the Maryland side of the dam during December and January in temperatures much below freezing through the utilization of heated mixes and heat treatment of the forms.

The coffer dam that surrounded the Maryland side for the construction of spillway and center pier is being moved to the Ridgeley side to allow pouring of the other spillway.

During transfer of steel sheeting and dirt to fill the coffer dam, cranes are working as much as 24 hours day.

The crews are on the job on two eight-hour shifts, and will remain on this schedule pending good weather.

The company spokesman said the first phase of the Wills Creek paving contract is nearly completed with only 20 to 25 working days remaining.

He added the west wall is finished and 500 feet remains to be paved on the North Mechanic Street side.

Nearly one half of the Netherlands is below sea level at normal high tide.

About 40 per cent of America's homes now have one or more dogs.

Routch Will Speak At LaVale PTA Meet

Refreshments will be served by the homeroom mothers of the classes taught by Mrs. Jane Lucas Snyder and Miss Margaret H. Beck.

The Allegany County Board of License Commissioners yesterday ruled that Joseph J. Spinetta, operator of Lee's Tavern, 60 North Mechanic Street, was not guilty of operating an establishment contrary to the peace and safety of the community.

Walter C. Capper, board chairman, filed the opinion. Spinetta and his attorney, Harold E. Naughton, attended the meeting.

The board yesterday did suspend the beer license of Frank Raccosta, operator of the Queen City Tavern, 10 Queen City Pavement, for 30 days, effective at midnight Thursday, February 18, and continuing through Saturday, March 20. Raccosta may not resume sale of beer until Monday morning, March 22. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris fined Raccosta $500 in Circuit Court January 20 on a charge of illegally selling beer to a 16-year-old boy.

The Spinetta opinion of the board's chairman, which was concurred in by Stanley Hamilton and James E. Kenney, board members, follows in part:

One Saw Disturbance

City Police Officers Carl E. Williams, Kenneth W. Morrissey, Leo Law, E. Gordon Hite, John Powers and Charles E. Cubbage testified concerning visits they made to the tavern to investigate complaints.

Only one of the officers was able to state that he actually saw any disturbance in the tavern and this took place on Christmas Eve when four men engaged in a fight on the dance floor. They were arrested and taken to the police station.

Several of the other officers testified they had visited the place and noticed the patrons in general were behaving all right. One officer said some of the patrons did not have good reputations among police and some were known as being part of the "Front Street crowd". He further stated that none of the women in the place when he had gone there at the request of Spinetta were prostitutes.

Observes Hours

Earl R. Willison, investigator for the board, said he visited the place at night on at least 20 occasions and had never discovered any disturbances and the establishment was conducted all right when Spinetta was there. Willison said on several occasions Spinetta's bartender and a woman worker "got out of line", probably as a result of drinking. Willison also said Spinetta was very careful to observe the legal closing hours and usually called the police when he anticipated any trouble brewing in the place.

The board stated it had never received any complaint about the tavern except the one by Chief Flynn.

"After careful consideration of the testimony," the board stated, "we conclude that Spinetta's place of business was not operated contrary to the peace and safety of the community and therefore find him not guilty of the charge."

Loud And Noisy

"However, we think the operation of these premises is too loud and noisy and that Spinetta should take steps to control this by forbidding certain well known characters access to the tavern and by seeing to it that his bartenders constantly remain sober and at all times able to control any disturbance which might take place."

City To Support Fort Cumberland Stamp Campaign

The Mayor and Council Monday adopted a resolution calling for the issuance of a commemorative stamp to mark the bicentennial of Fort Cumberland.

The resolution, similar to one passed by the Maryland House of Delegates recently, calls for the Post Office Department to issue a stamp on January 26, 1955, to commemorate the establishment of the historic fort at the Gateway to the West.

The action was taken at the request of Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian for the Cumberland Free Public Library, co-sponsor with the Allegany County Historical Society on the stamp project.

Potomac River Dam Job Is Ahead Of Schedule

The contractor on the Potomac River industrial dam is six months ahead of schedule and is currently working around the clock when weather permits.

The E. J. Albrecht Company is at the point where it was originally planned the firm would be in July 1954.

A company spokesman pointed out the mild winter has made it possible for work to continue. There had been planned a layoff during the extremely cold months.

However, concrete was poured on the Maryland side of the dam during December and January in temperatures much below freezing through the utilization of heated mixes and heat treatment of the forms.

The coffer dam that surrounded the Maryland side for the construction of spillway and center pier is being moved to the Ridgeley side to allow pouring of the other spillway.

During transfer of steel sheeting and dirt to fill the coffer dam, cranes are working as much as 24 hours day.

The crews are on the job on two eight-hour shifts, and will remain on this schedule pending good weather.

The company spokesman said the first phase of the Wills Creek paving contract is nearly completed with only 20 to 25 working days remaining.

He added the west wall is finished and 500 feet remains to be paved on the North Mechanic Street side.

Nearly one half of the Netherlands is below sea level at normal high tide.

About 40 per cent of America's homes now have one or more dogs.

BY TED TROXELL

One of the greatest comebacks ever witnessed on an area basketball court was seen last night at Campobello by some 1,100 hoarse fans, when Coach Walter L. Bowers' Allegany High Campers put on a sensational drive in the final quarter, coming from behind to drop the Bruce High Bulldogs, 70-61.

The Campers, prior to the fourth period, hadn't enjoyed a lead in the game since late in the first quarter. That was when a foul conversion by Bob Reiber had pushed them in front, 14-13, but at the close of the initial stanza, the Bulldogs led, 15-14. The count was tied three times during the second quarter, but when the half ended, Bruce was in front, 31-25.

The story was much the same in the third quarter, as the two clubs played on near even terms, with Allegany still trailing at the end of the period, 49-42.

Disaster Strikes

Disaster struck for the Westernport crew, as the final stanza opened. Dave "Spider" Steele dumped in a one-hander seconds after the tipoff, Dick Rank tipped in another fielder after Jim Hoffman had just barely missed on a push shot, and Bob Kirtley hit on his jump shot specialty, and the Campers were within one point of the Bulldogs, 49-48. All this occurred with just 55 seconds having ticked off the timer's clock.

Dave Marple finally broke the spell for Bruce, when one of his teammates spotted him standing alone under the basket, and fired him a point-scoring pass, but Steele was fouled soon after, while in the act of shooting, a one-hand push shot from near quarter court. The field goal attempt went swishing through the hoop, and Steele added the foul, to tie the contest for the first time in the second half, 51-51.

Prior to this unexpected flourish on the part of the Campers, Bruce had, on two different occasions, held a 12-point bulge during the third quarter, 45-33, and 46-34.

Steele Gives Alco Lead

After Steele had tied the affair, he added insult to the Bulldogs' injury, by flipping in a layup underneath the basket, to give the Bowersmen a lead that they held, and steadily increased, during the rest of the contest.

With the Campers leading 55-52, and 4:45 remaining to be played in the all-important contest, hopes for a possible Bruce victory were all but erased, when the Marple, the Bulldogs' rebound grabber and potent scoring punch, committed his fifth personal foul, 25 seconds later, the Campers also lost their big center, when Steele, who had sparked the winners' fourth period comeback drive up to now, went to the showers via the foul route.

Bruce posted a very respectable .415 shooting mark from the floor, as they connected on 22 of 53 tries, while Allegany also received an "A" for accuracy, hitting on 23 of 60 tries, for a .383 percentage.

Marple Leads Scorers

Marple led the scorers from both teams, as he hit on 7 of 11 field goal tries, the best individual performance of the evening, and added nine of 12 conversions at the foul stripe, for a grand total of 23 tallies. Jim Cave was runnerup for the losers with 16 markers.

Steel hit on six of 14 floor tries, and hit on 7-8 at the foul line, and 19 points, to lead the Campers. Hoffman, city scoring leader, dumped in 16, Dick Rank, who continued his phenomenal foul shooting with 9-11 at the charity stripe, grabbed 15, and Kirtley contributed 12.

It was Allegany's tenth straight win, and 18th in 19 starts this year, while for Bruce, it left them with a season's mark of 15-3. It also gave the Campers a sweep of their series with Bruce, having also won the opener, in a 47-46 thriller, at Piedmont.

BY TED TROXELL

One of the greatest comebacks ever witnessed on an area basketball court was seen last night at Campobello by some 1,100 hoarse fans, when Coach Walter L. Bowers' Allegany High Campers put on a sensational drive in the final quarter, coming from behind to drop the Bruce High Bulldogs, 70-61.

The Campers, prior to the fourth period, hadn't enjoyed a lead in the game since late in the first quarter. That was when a foul conversion by Bob Reiber had pushed them in front, 14-13, but at the close of the initial stanza, the Bulldogs led, 15-14. The count was tied three times during the second quarter, but when the half ended, Bruce was in front, 31-25.

The story was much the same in the third quarter, as the two clubs played on near even terms, with Allegany still trailing at the end of the period, 49-42.

Disaster Strikes

Disaster struck for the Westernport crew, as the final stanza opened. Dave "Spider" Steele dumped in a one-hander seconds after the tipoff, Dick Rank tipped in another fielder after Jim Hoffman had just barely missed on a push shot, and Bob Kirtley hit on his jump shot specialty, and the Campers were within one point of the Bulldogs, 49-48. All this occurred with just 55 seconds having ticked off the timer's clock.

Dave Marple finally broke the spell for Bruce, when one of his teammates spotted him standing alone under the basket, and fired him a point-scoring pass, but Steele was fouled soon after, while in the act of shooting, a one-hand push shot from near quarter court. The field goal attempt went swishing through the hoop, and Steele added the foul, to tie the contest for the first time in the second half, 51-51.

Prior to this unexpected flourish on the part of the Campers, Bruce had, on two different occasions, held a 12-point bulge during the third quarter, 45-33, and 46-34.

Steele Gives Alco Lead

After Steele had tied the affair, he added insult to the Bulldogs' injury, by flipping in a layup underneath the basket, to give the Bowersmen a lead that they held, and steadily increased, during the rest of the contest.

With the Campers leading 55-52, and 4:45 remaining to be played in the all-important contest, hopes for a possible Bruce victory were all but erased, when the Marple, the Bulldogs' rebound grabber and potent scoring punch, committed his fifth personal foul, 25 seconds later, the Campers also lost their big center, when Steele, who had sparked the winners' fourth period comeback drive up to now, went to the showers via the foul route.

Bruce posted a very respectable .415 shooting mark from the floor, as they connected on 22 of 53 tries, while Allegany also received an "A" for accuracy, hitting on 23 of 60 tries, for a .383 percentage.

Marple Leads Scorers

Marple led the scorers from both teams, as he hit on 7 of 11 field goal tries, the best individual performance of the evening, and added nine of 12 conversions at the foul stripe, for a grand total of 23 tallies. Jim Cave was runnerup for the losers with 16 markers.

Steel hit on six of 14 floor tries, and hit on 7-8 at the foul line, and 19 points, to lead the Campers. Hoffman, city scoring leader, dumped in 16, Dick Rank, who continued his phenomenal foul shooting with 9-11 at the charity stripe, grabbed 15, and Kirtley contributed 12.

It was Allegany's tenth straight win, and 18th in 19 starts this year, while for Bruce, it left them with a season's mark of 15-3. It also gave the Campers a sweep of their series with Bruce, having also won the opener, in a 47-46 thriller, at Piedmont.

Hundley Set Field House Record Of 62, To Play At Keyser

Rod Hundley, sharpshooting guard from Charleston, who will appear with the West Virginia University Freshmen when the Little Mountaineers play Potomac State at Keyser Thursday night, hung up a new record for the field house at Morgantown Saturday night when he scored 62 points as Coach Quentin Barnette's aggregation swamped the Ohio U. Frosh, 110-88.

The previous record of 50 points a game was first set by Mark Workman, of W.V.U. in 1951 and equalled by Hundley against W. & J. earlier this season.

Hundley racked up 21 field goals and 20-27 fouls in Saturday's game to soar his season total to 607 points in 17 games for an average of 35.7.

Prior to last night's game with Pitt, the West Virginia Freshmen had a record of 14 wins and three losses. The Little Mountaineers are playing Potomac State only once this season.

Bill Hahn and Clifton Van Roby will officiate in tomorrow night's tilt in Keyser.

Norton Says Selvy Better Than Bevo

CHICAGO, Feb. 16 (AP)—Without hesitation, Coach Ken Norton of Manhattan College today said he would pick Furman's Frank Selvy over Rio Grande's Bevo Francis if he could chose between the two for his basketball team.

Norton was put on the spot during the Chicago Basketball Writers' Assn. weekly luncheon. He spoke to the group via amplified telephone from New York.

"I've seen Selvy for two years now and he's a great all around player as well as a terrific scorer," Norton said. "In this respect I would take him over Bevo. Selvy is an excellent passer and dribbler with rebound qualities.

"Bevo is a big man with a remarkable shooting touch. But his team does not play in the same league (tougher competition) as Furman. For a big man, Bevo doesn't know how to get into a good position. All he does is shoot."

McDougald, who was rookie of the year in 1951 and the team's leading batter that season, came into the fold for a reported $18,000. The club declined to announce salary figures. They were the 23rd and 24th Yankees signed.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP) — The New York Giants announced the contract signing of a complete battery today—veteran pitcher Jim Hearn and catcher Ray Katt.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 16 (AP)—Pitcher Bob Friend signed today his 1954 contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Mt. St. Mary's Coach Resigns

Bill Clarke Will Go To New York School

EMMITSBURG, Md., Feb. 16 (AP)—Officials at Mount St. Mary's College today announced the resignation of basketball coach Bill Clarke, effective in June.

In making the announcement, Athletic Director John J. Dillon, Jr., said Clarke was resigning to accept a position as basketball coach and health education director at East Meadows High School on Long Island, N. Y.

Clarke's resignation came just prior to his team's cage battle here tonight against Goergetown.

A 1942 graduate of Fordham, Clarke is now in his third year at Mount St. Mary's. His Mountaineer teams have won 33 and lost 32, while the Mounts' record in Mason-Dixon Conference play is a 25-16.

Birmingham Refuses To Lift Ban Against Negroes And Whites

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 16 (AP)—The Birmingham City Commission today refused to restore its ban against Negroes and whites playing in football or baseball games here.

The commission recently amended its segregation laws to permit such contests.

Hugh Locks, Birmingham attorney and 1930 candidate for governor, led a delegation of more than 200 persons to request that laws prohibiting Negroes and whites playing in the same athletic contests be restored.

After the commission's refusal, Locke began passing out petitions for a referendum on the segregation issue. The law makes it mandatory for the commission to call an election if 5,000 voters sign such a petition.

Hundley Set Field House Record Of 62, To Play At Keyser

Rod Hundley, sharpshooting guard from Charleston, who will appear with the West Virginia University Freshmen when the Little Mountaineers play Potomac State at Keyser Thursday night, hung up a new record for the field house at Morgantown Saturday night when he scored 62 points as Coach Quentin Barnette's aggregation swamped the Ohio U. Frosh, 110-88.

The previous record of 50 points a game was first set by Mark Workman, of W.V.U. in 1951 and equalled by Hundley against W. & J. earlier this season.

Hundley racked up 21 field goals and 20-27 fouls in Saturday's game to soar his season total to 607 points in 17 games for an average of 35.7.

Prior to last night's game with Pitt, the West Virginia Freshmen had a record of 14 wins and three losses. The Little Mountaineers are playing Potomac State only once this season.

Bill Hahn and Clifton Van Roby will officiate in tomorrow night's tilt in Keyser.

Norton Says Selvy Better Than Bevo

CHICAGO, Feb. 16 (AP)—Without hesitation, Coach Ken Norton of Manhattan College today said he would pick Furman's Frank Selvy over Rio Grande's Bevo Francis if he could chose between the two for his basketball team.

Norton was put on the spot during the Chicago Basketball Writers' Assn. weekly luncheon. He spoke to the group via amplified telephone from New York.

"I've seen Selvy for two years now and he's a great all around player as well as a terrific scorer," Norton said. "In this respect I would take him over Bevo. Selvy is an excellent passer and dribbler with rebound qualities.

"Bevo is a big man with a remarkable shooting touch. But his team does not play in the same league (tougher competition) as Furman. For a big man, Bevo doesn't know how to get into a good position. All he does is shoot."

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 16 (AP)—The Birmingham City Commission today refused to restore its ban against Negroes and whites playing in football or baseball games here.

The commission recently amended its segregation laws to permit such contests.

Keyser Council To Take Action On Pool Project

Bids Higher Than Available Funds

KEYSER—A special meeting of Keyser City Council, with Mayor John C. Freeland presiding, and the Citizens Committee and Recreation board in attendance, will be held this evening in the council chamber to take final action on accepting bids for the Keyser swimming pool. Bids were opened and read at a special meeting Monday evening, and discussed at the regular meeting today.

The lowest bid submitted was sent in by the Scott Trucking Company, Charleston, W. Va., the combined total being $73,000. The mayor and council broke down the total into the first two sections, $49,000 for the pool and $15,000 for the skeletonized bathhouse together with the necessary plumbing work and recreational equipment, amounting to approximately $64,000. The third section of the original bid, which is for sanitary equipment and other plumbing work will be dropped and not taken up at this time. Later, as money is available it will be completed.

The city has the following sums to work with at this time, in carrying on the pool construction; $43,996.96 remaining for pool construction; $20,260.56 in the sinking fund, for a total of $64,257.50. Remaining in the recreation fund, there is $6,827.95, which, added to the total of bond money and sinking fund, makes a total of $70,085.47, which can be used for construction of the pool, bath house and necessary plumbing underground for the recirculation equipment.

With these figures on hand, the mayor, council and Citizen's Committee, which must pass on such expenditures, will meet at 7 p. m. this evening to vote on the pool problem. The sum shown above takes care of finishing the pool and meeting major expenses of the bathhouse together with plumbing equipment. The items referred to in section three of the bids will be held up until there is sufficient money on hand to do the work.

Mrs. Stevenson said at the meeting of the United Organizations Monday at Westernport Library, the following women are assisting in the solicitations: Mrs. Mary Wilt, Miss Mazie Kitzmiller, Mrs. Mary Miller and Mrs. Rex Chilcote, Piedmont Flat; Mrs. Elmer J. Shaver, East Fairview Street; Mrs. Madge Carey, West Fairview Street; Mrs. Harry K. These families are staying with relatives until houses can be obtained for them to rent.

All money collected will be turned over to the United Organizations to give the stricken families relief. People having clothing are asked to give it to the organization so they can classify it as to sizes.

The supply of food stuff is getting depleted and it was decided to hold a pick-up day when a truck will visit the entire Tri-Towns area in a door-to-door solicitation when each family will be asked to donate an article of non-perishable food.

The tentative date suggested was February 27.

Wayne Ritchie, chairman of United Organizations reviewed the work accomplished recently and told about letters received from school teachers citing the needs of some children coming to school without sufficent clothing to keep them warm.

Following a suggestion that a Bundle Day be held in the schools. Ritchie stated that he would contact the principals of the schools in the Tri-Towns asking them to request pupils who can, bring an article of clothing.

Racks, shelves and bins will be placed in the two rooms of the building owned by Roy Walker, Second Street, Piedmont, for the storage of clothing.

Ritchie who recently addressed the Westernport and Luke Lions Club was assured that this club will cooperate with the United Organizations.

Ritchie reported that he contacted the McCulloh Furniture Company and Acme Furniture Company of Piedmont for used trade-in furniture.

The next meeting of the group will be held March 1.

Keyser Council To Take Action On Pool Project

Bids Higher Than Available Funds

KEYSER—A special meeting of Keyser City Council, with Mayor John C. Freeland presiding, and the Citizens Committee and Recreation board in attendance, will be held this evening in the council chamber to take final action on accepting bids for the Keyser swimming pool. Bids were opened and read at a special meeting Monday evening, and discussed at the regular meeting today.

The lowest bid submitted was sent in by the Scott Trucking Company, Charleston, W. Va., the combined total being $73,000. The mayor and council broke down the total into the first two sections, $49,000 for the pool and $15,000 for the skeletonized bathhouse together with the necessary plumbing work and recreational equipment, amounting to approximately $64,000. The third section of the original bid, which is for sanitary equipment and other plumbing work will be dropped and not taken up at this time. Later, as money is available it will be completed.

The city has the following sums to work with at this time, in carrying on the pool construction; $43,996.96 remaining for pool construction; $20,260.56 in the sinking fund, for a total of $64,257.50. Remaining in the recreation fund, there is $6,827.95, which, added to the total of bond money and sinking fund, makes a total of $70,085.47, which can be used for construction of the pool, bath house and necessary plumbing underground for the recirculation equipment.

With these figures on hand, the mayor, council and Citizen's Committee, which must pass on such expenditures, will meet at 7 p. m. this evening to vote on the pool problem. The sum shown above takes care of finishing the pool and meeting major expenses of the bathhouse together with plumbing equipment. The items referred to in section three of the bids will be held up until there is sufficient money on hand to do the work.

The tentative date suggested was February 27.

Wayne Ritchie, chairman of United Organizations reviewed the work accomplished recently and told about letters received from school teachers citing the needs of some children coming to school without sufficent clothing to keep them warm.

Following a suggestion that a Bundle Day be held in the schools. Ritchie stated that he would contact the principals of the schools in the Tri-Towns asking them to request pupils who can, bring an article of clothing.

Racks, shelves and bins will be placed in the two rooms of the building owned by Roy Walker, Second Street, Piedmont, for the storage of clothing.

Ritchie who recently addressed the Westernport and Luke Lions Club was assured that this club will cooperate with the United Organizations.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 16 (INS)—Paul Douglas is such a honey in that honey of a picture, "Executive Suite," that he rates a repeat engagement at MGM. He's the third headliner in "Green Fire" with Stewart Granger and Grace Kelly.

This story of the emerald mines of Colombia means another long location jaunt for the cast — although Granger and Grace should be used to traveling. Stewart just finished "Beau Brummel" with Liz Taylor in London. And, last year, Grace was six months on "Mogambo" in Africa.

The big trip in Missy Kelly's life right now is of a romantic nature. She'll ask time off from "Country Girl" to go to Washington, D. C., for the March 4 wedding of her brother, John, to swimming champion, Mary Freeman. John met his bride-to-be in Helsinki, in 1952, when she was a member of the USA Olympics team.

When I first met Mart Blanchard I knew she was going places. She is so serious about her work and she has proved herself such a good actress.

Now she gets Gary Cooper and Burt Lancaster in "Vera Cruz," which will be filmed in Mexico. She'll also have Cesar Romero who'll play Maximillian, and Basil Rathbone who plays a minister.

Mari's only competition is the second femme lead, a beauty named Serita Montiel from south of the border. She's been called the Marilyn Monroe of Mexico and has 25 Spanish language pictures to her credit.

Chatter in Hollywood:

The big romance in Arlene Dahl's life is Rudolph Schrimer, son of Gus Schrimer, music publisher, and Mrs. Charles Monroe. Young Schrimer's mother is socially prominent and owns a beautiful villa on the Riviera.

I never thought that Arlene would get over Fernando Lamas, but apparently she has, and is vary happy with the tall, dark and handsome Mr. Schrimer, who recently obtained a divorce.

Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will be present March 4, when "Knock on Wood," Danny Kay's comedy, has its international premiere in Melbourne, Australia.

Danny has known the queen from the days when he was a favorite with the royal family, charmed all of them with his talent, and particularly pleased them because he never discussed his friendship with them.

My telephone has been jingling merrily with calls from Palm Springs ever since word came that Ike and Mamie are going to be the house guests of Paul Helms there.

Andrea Leeds and Bob Howard are presenting Ike with the first annual Sunshine Award, as the guest who has contributed the most recognition to Palm Springs. Andrea doesn't have to shout to the house tops that she's a Republican; she stated so in the newspapers a few weeks ago.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The other night, Bing Crosby sang "That's My Baby" and then added, "It depends upon the columnist, who's really my baby."

The notices about Audrey Hepburn's performance in "Ondine" in Boston are sensational. They call her the great actress of the future.

Shirley Temple has reservations at the Santa Monica Hospital in March to have her third baby. That's the hospital where she, herself, was born.

Nurses at the same Santa Monica Hospital think they're seeing double when Fred Astaire visits his standin and double, Joseph Niemyer. Joe had an auto accident, and he looks enough like Fred to be his twin.

The wedding invitations of Joan Benny and Seth Baker are out, and the date, as the whole town knows, is March 9 in the Crystal Room of the Beverly Hills Hotel. Joanie has been shopping like mad getting her wardrobe, and I hear Don Loper has made her some beautiful things.

Edmund Gwenn, who was so severely stricken wtih arthritis, has experienced an almost miraculous cure. He went to one of the California springs.

Someone who saw Rita Hayworth and Dick Haymes in a back room booth at "21," was shocked at how bad Rita looks, but she still says all their troubles have drawn them closer together.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Two Thousand Screen Stars

Speaking of security risks would you hire a minotaur for a babysitter?

Would you send a cabbage leaf by a rabbit? Would you bank your money on a slanting roof on a windy day?

These are security risks that we are all too chipper to go for. So you must figure the government has a complete right to screen its employes.

We are living in a time when the walls have ears and the keyholes have eyelashes.

But if your conscience is as clear as consomme you can sleep on a circular stairway without wrinkling your pants.

President Eisenhower streeted around two thousand riskeroos since he changed the oil on the executive swivel chair. Some for disloyalty and some for reasons you would whisper to a Sixth Avenue druggist's clerk.

Some were rumpots, some were blabbermouths and some were just some.

Ike switched a century old political slogan with his dismissals of the spotted minority. To the victors do not belong the spoiled.

This writer has been perstonicated by the frankness of both the committees and the newspapers in printing the details. They've stopped spelling out things in front of the White House reporters.

Would you say a bartender with a wet mustache is a bad security risk? Would you hire a color-blind paint mixer?

How long would you last with a victim of hay-fever sneezing in your loose stamp collection? Would you care to have your hair cut by the Australian champion wood-chopper?

If you screen candidates for jobs why not the government? We like a man who whistles at his work. Especially when he's hulling our strawberries. It's only when he's silent that's he's eating..

Try these menus for three days and you'll see how satisfying a good diet can be!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Now is the time for all whose scales register unwanted poundage to part company with the foods that are distorting the figure! Face up to the fact that the pleasures that slide past your palate are not equal to the displeasures that your mirror registers.

Adopt a new pattern of eating, and soon you'll discover that new satisfactions and pleasures are coming your way to replace the questionable enjoyment you have been finding in unneeded food.

If you wish to lose at the rate of a couple pounds per week, which is as much as is adviseable, cut your food intake to about 1250 calories a day. Does that sound like a frightfully 'abstemious diet? It isn't! Look at the following:

Breakfasts: (1) Three stewed prunes, poached egg on thinly buttered whole wheat toast; (2) 6 oz. orange juice and cooked cereal with 1 tp. sugar and ¾ cup of skim milk, thinly-buttered toast. Each day, plain coffee or tea.

Luncheons: (1) beef bouillon, sliced chicken and lettuce sandwich on rye and a fresh fruit cup; (2) 2 eggs scrambled in 1 tp. of butter served with stewed tomatoes; (3) toasted cheese and bacon on one slice of bread and an apple. With each you may have plain coffee, tea or a glass of skim milk.

Dinners: (1) 2 medium-sized broiled lean beef patties plus two leaf green vegetables and an everage serving of gelatin dessert; (2) broiled lamb chops, a small baked potato with 1 tp. butter, a tossed green salad with lemon or vinegar, and orange sherbert; (3) 1 slice of broiled liver with 1 well-broiled slice of bacon, parsley potato lightly buttered, fresh string beans and compote of banana and orange slices. With each dinner, plain coffee or tea.

On any day, you may have a cup of skim milk, a glass of tomato juice or a cup of beef bouillon as a between-meal pick-up.

If for three days in a row you follow the above pattern of eating you will discover that streamlining is not as difficult as it is supposed to be! Using the above as mealplanning patterns and with a calorie chart to guide you, you can easily work out equally satisfying, nutritious meals that will slim your figure at the rate of a couple of pounds per week and retain your tastes to a preferance for what will keep your figure in line—with health!

YOUR BEAUTY DIET

No matter what your weight problem—whether you want to gain, lose or remain the same — YOUR BEAUTY DIET will provide you with a safe and sane pattern of laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's need. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving, and the tasteful, appetizing meals it contains require no extra planning or preparation! Terror Isn't What It Was

As an old fan of Wilkie Collins' "The Moonstone," a story that used to chill me to the marrow, I turned to it on "Suspense" the other night with a mixture of anticipation and dread. I didn't think "Suspense" could transfer to the screen Mr. Collins' wonderful feeling of hopeless terror. As it developed, it didn't.

John Crosby

I don't know that this is anyone's fault. "The Moonstone" may be just beyond the scope of translation into dramatic terms. The moonstone itself is an immense diamond that had been stolen in 1690 from the brow of a Buddhist idol in Java and had had a curse on it ever since. This is the old mysterious East malarkey, for which I have had a deplorable weakness for years, and "Suspense" did it up brown with sinister orientals slinking about, smirking idols and dancing girls.

As the heiress who is the latest to inherit the jewel and the curse, Phyllis Kirk, who is just about the prettiest thing on television, proved she could look as terror-stricken as Laura La Plante who, long ago in the films, was my dream girl in this highly specialized respect. I don't know, though. Terror has lost its terrors for me. Either I am getting on in years or terror stuff is not what it once was, conceivably because we have our private nightmares which are as bad as anything Wilkie Collins can dream up.

Speaking of that, an educator I know once asked a small child what TV program he liked. The child named a program and the educator asked him why he liked it. "Because," said the child happily, "it gives me nightmares." Perhaps all children don't dislike nightmares as much as the parent-teacher societies would have us believe.

Another recent "Suspense" production was a dramatization of "the Man Who Wouldn't Talk," the big literary hoax. This one presented some unique dramatic problems. George Du Pre, the man who talked too much, in Quentin Reynolds' rueful phrase, had, of course, made the whole thing up. Still, the "Suspense" production started out as if it were all the real thing and I found myself getting all emotionally involved in this tale of a Resistance operative refusing to break under Gestapo torture.

Even though I knew it was a fabrication, I got carried away, spurred among other things by a fine performance by Harry Townes as a dimwitted French peasant. Then, suddenly, Du Pre is confronted by a man who traps him into revealing the hoax and I felt acutely let down. The whole drama came apart at the seams right there. If anyone ever does "The Man Who Wouldn't Talk" again which is unlikely, I suggest they just do it as straight fiction and let it go at that.

Quentin Reynolds, who wrote the story under the impression it was true, acted as narrator and, at the end, he said that he asked George Du Pre why he had done it. "He said he came out of the war with a message of faith. Of course, he went about it the wrong way, but the message is valid. If a man has real faith in his heart, he can endure anything."

Including, I expect, exposure as a fraud.

To me the fascinating thing about the Du Pre story was its wealth of detail, small terribly authoritative detail. This story must have grown and grown in his mind until I doubt that Du Pre could himself remember whether it was true or not. The come-down when he had to admit — not to the others but to himself — that it was all a daydream, must have been frightfully painful.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 16 (INS)—Paul Douglas is such a honey in that honey of a picture, "Executive Suite," that he rates a repeat engagement at MGM. He's the third headliner in "Green Fire" with Stewart Granger and Grace Kelly.

This story of the emerald mines of Colombia means another long location jaunt for the cast — although Granger and Grace should be used to traveling. Stewart just finished "Beau Brummel" with Liz Taylor in London. And, last year, Grace was six months on "Mogambo" in Africa.

The big trip in Missy Kelly's life right now is of a romantic nature. She'll ask time off from "Country Girl" to go to Washington, D. C., for the March 4 wedding of her brother, John, to swimming champion, Mary Freeman. John met his bride-to-be in Helsinki, in 1952, when she was a member of the USA Olympics team.

When I first met Mart Blanchard I knew she was going places. She is so serious about her work and she has proved herself such a good actress.

Now she gets Gary Cooper and Burt Lancaster in "Vera Cruz," which will be filmed in Mexico. She'll also have Cesar Romero who'll play Maximillian, and Basil Rathbone who plays a minister.

Mari's only competition is the second 'femme lead, a beauty named Serita Montiel from south of the border. She's been called the Marilyn Monroe of Mexico and has 25 Spanish language pictures to her credit.

Chatter in Hollywood:

The big romance in Arlene Dahl's life is Rudolph Schrimer, son of Gus Schrimer, music publisher, and Mrs. Charles Monroe. Young Schrimer's mother is socially prominent and owns a beautiful villa on the Riviera.

I never thought that Arlene would get over Fernando Lamas, but apparently she has, and is vary happy with the tall, dark and handsome Mr. Schrimer, who recently obtained a divorce.

Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will be present March 4, when "Knock on Wood," Danny Kay's comedy, has its international premiere in Melbourne, Australia.

Danny has known the queen from the days when he was a favorite with the royal family, charmed all of them with his talent, and particularly pleased them because he never discussed his friendship with them.

My telephone has been jingling merrily with calls from Palm Springs ever since word came that Ike and Mamie are going to be the house guests of Paul Helms there.

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

HOIST BY OWN PETARD

IN BRIDGE, as in any other human competition, a participant may be hoist by his own petard. A smartly conceived move may be accurately interpreted by his opponent and hence prove the guide to his own destruction. That is the case sometimes with a lead of the main side suit of the declarer. It informs him that the leader has a singleton and expects to gain a defensive ruff or else such great length that he hopes he can give his partner a ruff. The declarer therefore may refuse to try a trump finesse, but instead lay down the ace on the first round, as insurance against a ruff, thereby perhaps dropping a singleton king of his partner's clearly marked four-card suit—since with five cards the pair would bid a major on the first turn regardless of the minor's greater length, he preferred that suit to a No Trump small slam.

North reckoned his partner as likely to be able to ruff a diamond, so opened the fifth-best of that suit, though it be declarer's longest on the side. When the dummy won that, he felt sure West would finesse spades to his singleton K, and a second diamond lead would be ruffed by South to beat the contract.

West, however, saw through that, so led to the A on the second trick, felling the K. Thereafter he could lose only one trick, to the diamond J, so made his contract.

Except for the diamond lead, West said he probably would have used a diamond for a dummy entry to finesse spades, which of course would have beaten his contract.

The opponents not having bid, what is South's right play at 3-No Trumps after the spade 5 lead, East playing the J?

Here at work was a pair of players who disdain such crutches as the Blackwood convention, using every bid in its apparent meaning. From West's first-round diamond jump and his later two bids of spades, East reckoned the slam try was sound. Having four

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

HOIST BY OWN PETARD

IN BRIDGE, as in any other human competition, a participant may be hoist by his own petard. A smartly conceived move may be accurately interpreted by his opponent and hence prove the guide to his own destruction. That is the case sometimes with a lead of the main side suit of the declarer. It informs him that the leader has a singleton and expects to gain a defensive ruff or else such great length that he hopes he can give his partner a ruff. The declarer therefore may refuse to try a trump finesse, but instead lay down the ace on the first round, as insurance against a ruff, thereby perhaps dropping a singleton king.

	♠ K ♥ 10 4 3 2 ♦ J 8 7 4 3 ♣ 10 6 3
♠ A Q J 6 ♥ K 6 ♦ Q 10 9 6 5 ♣ K 5	N W E S	♠ 8 7 4 3 ♥ A Q 9 ♦ A K ♣ A J 7 4
	♠ 10 9 5 2 ♥ J 8 7 5 ♦ 2 ♣ Q 9 8 2

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 NT	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	3 NT	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	4 NT	Pass	5 ♠
Pass	6 ♠

Here at work was a pair of players who disdain such crutches as the Blackwood convention, using every bid in its apparent meaning. From West's first-round diamond jump and his later two bids of spades, East reckoned the slam try was sound. Having four of his partner's clearly marked four-card suit—since with five cards the pair would bid a major on the first turn regardless of the minor's greater length, he preferred that suit to a No Trump small slam.

North reckoned his partner as likely to be able to ruff a diamond, so opened the fifth-best of that suit, though it be declarer's longest on the side. When the dummy won that, he felt sure West would finesse spades to his singleton K, and a second diamond lead would be ruffed by South to beat the contract.

West, however, saw through that, so led to the A on the second trick, felling the K. Thereafter he could lose only one trick, to the diamond J, so made his contract.

Except for the diamond lead, West said he probably would have used a diamond for a dummy entry to finesse spades, which of course would have beaten his contract.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ 7 2 ♥ J 10 ♦ A Q 10 3 ♣ K J 10 7 3
♠ Q 10 6 5 4 ♥ 7 6 5 ♦ K 8 2 ♣ 6 2	N W E S	♠ J 9 8 3 ♥ A Q 4 2 ♦ 6 4 ♣ Q 9 5
	♠ A K ♥ K 9 8 3 ♦ J 9 7 5 ♣ A 8 4

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

The opponents not having bid, what is South's right play at 3-No Trumps after the spade 5 lead, East playing the J?

Card of Thanks

We take this means to thank our neighbors, friends and relatives for their kindness extended to us during our recent bereavement, the death our beloved husband and father, Duane Robert Young. We also wish to thank those who sent flowers and loaned cars for the funeral.
Mrs. Duane Robert Young & Children

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our mother, Bessie A. Nield, who passed away February 17, 1948.
Our hearts still ache with sadness,
Our eyes shed many tears,
God knew how much we miss you,
At the end of six long years.
We have only your dear memory,
To remember our whole life through,
But the sweetness will linger forever,
As we treasure the memory of you.
The family

Card of Thanks

We take this means to thank our neighbors, friends and relatives for their kindness extended to us during our recent bereavement, the death our beloved husband and father, Duane Robert Young. We also wish to thank those who sent flowers and loaned cars for the funeral.

Mrs. Duane Robert Young & Children

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our mother, Bessie A. Nield, who passed away February 17, 1948.

Our hearts still ache with sadness,
Our eyes shed many tears,
God knew how much we miss you,
At the end of six long years.
We have only your dear memory,
To remember our whole life through,
But the sweetness will linger forever,
As we treasure the memory of you.

The family

Stock Market Suffers Its Deepest Loss This Year

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP) — The Stock Market ran afoul of heavy profit-taking today and tumbled into its deepest loss of this year.

All sections of the market were pressed down by the selling, but the targets were the recent favorites that have been climbing steadily ahead on their own initiative.

Losses in significant areas went to around 3 points at the outside, and there were many gains going as far as a point. Douglas Aircraft was a big exception. It was able to maintain its strength and push ahead for a gain of 2½ at 105.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell back $1.20 at $113.30. It was off 40 cents yesterday. The industrial component of the average was off $1.60, the railroads fell $1.30, and the utilities lost 30 cents.

Volume amounted to only 1,870,000 shares. That compares with 2,080,000 shares traded yesterday.

New York Central again was the outstanding issue in the midst of the battle by Robert R. Young for control of the railroad. It was the day's most active issue, the fourth straight day, off 1⅛ at 24⅛ with 123,200 shares traded.

In second place was RKO Pictures off ⅛ at 5½ on 81,200 shares including a block of 45,000 shares at 5½. It was followed by Graham Paige up ¼ at 1½, the Milwaukee Road preferred off ⅜ at 38⅝, and Pennsylvania Railroad off ¼ at 18.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Stock Market Suffers Its Deepest Loss This Year

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP) — The Stock Market ran afoul of heavy profit-taking today and tumbled into its deepest loss of this year.

All sections of the market were pressed down by the selling, but the targets were the recent favorites that have been climbing steadily ahead on their own initiative.

Losses in significant areas went to around 3 points at the outside, and there were many gains going as far as a point. Douglas Aircraft was a big exception. It was able to maintain its strength and push ahead for a gain of 2½ at 105.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell back $1.20 at $113.30. It was off 46 cents yesterday. The industrial component of the average was off $1.60, the railroads fell $1.30, and the utilities lost 30 cents.

Volume amounted to only 1,870,000 shares. That compares with 2,080,000 shares traded yesterday.

New York Central again was the outstanding issue in the midst of the battle by Robert R. Young for control of the railroad. It was the day's most active issue, the fourth straight day, off 1⅛ at 24⅛ with 123,200 shares traded.

In second place was RKO Pictures off ⅛ at 5½ on 81,200 shares including a block of 45,000 shares at 5½. It was followed by Graham Paige up ¼ at 1½, the Milwaukee Road preferred off ⅜ at 38⅝, and Pennsylvania Railroad off ¼ at 18.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Ordinance Asked To Aid Cleaning Of Business Area

Alternate Parking Plan Is Proposed

Regulation of night parking in the downtown area will be sought by the Street Department in order to do a better job of cleaning streets in the business area.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, announced yesterday she has asked Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, to prepare the ordinance.

The ordinance would specify a schedule for parking on alternate sides of the street during night hours, when the motorized street sweeper is assigned to the business area.

Complaints Received

Mrs. Roeder said the department has received a number of complaints, most of them justified, from merchants who say streets have not been properly cleaned.

A number of plans have been tried to secure cooperation of motorists during nights when the sweeper is scheduled to clean streets. She said police have cooperated in the drives, in an attempt to provide a cleaner city.

"We can't get to first base," she commented, as long as sweeper crews have to run a zigzag path, avoiding parked cars.

Last week, the Street Department had its sweeper running around the clock in order to remove dirt left from recent snows, and officials said the crews did a fine job on streets where they were not hampered by parked cars.

Many Plans Tried

A number of plans have been used here in order to make full use of the sweeper. One was to post signs on streets, listing the sweeping schedule, and asking drivers to park elsewhere on sweeping nights. Slips asking cooperation were attached to the windshields of parked cars.

The ordinance would put teeth into the alternate parking plan, and may give the Police Department power to tow away cars illegally parked on streets to be visited by the sweeper crews.

Commissioners Approve $1,600 In Contributions

Contributions totaling $1,600 for two campaigns were approved yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

These gifts will match the contributions of a year ago. The Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, will receive $1,000 and the Allegany County Heart Association will get $600.

At yesterday's session the commissioners received a 1953 Heart Merit Award for their efforts in behalf of the Heart Fund Drive. The certificate was sent by David Kauffman, president of the Allegany County Heart Association.

The commissioners also received a check for $153.60 from the Farm Bureau Mutual Auto Insurance Company for damage done to the Locust Grove Bridge across Wills Creek in the Narrows. The damage occurred in December when the automobile of William B. Bennett rammed the bridge and ended up in Wills Creek.

A letter from Ross Shaw of Oldtown, urging the commissioners to approve a resolution asking the Postmaster General to authorize issuance of a commemorative stamp for the 200th anniversary of the founding of Fort Cumberland, was received.

Mrs. Roeder To Attend Meet

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, has accepted an invitation to attend the White House Conference on Highway Safety, which opens today in Washington.

She will represent Cumberland on the Women's Group, one of seven divisions into which the three-day forum is divided.

President Eisenhower has called the conference to develop nationwide support, on the community level, for proven methods of highway safety.

Safety officials already know how to reduce accidents and the purpose of the conference is to translate this knowledge into results by securing continuing public support for safety rules.

The immediate goal of the safety crusade is to cut the highway toll by 40 per cent this year. The expected results—saving the lives of 15,000 who would be killed on the highways, and another 50,000 from injuries.

Governor Will Break Ground For Hospital Job

Frostburg Ceremony Planned For Friday

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin will move the first shovelful of dirt for the new addition to Miners Hospital in Frostburg in a groundbreaking ceremony, which will get under way at 10:30 a. m. Friday.

Register of Wills A. Charles Stewart, chairman of the Board of Directors of Miners Hospital, has arranged the program.

Dr. Paul V. Taylor, pastor of Frostburg's Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, will open the program by delivering the invocation.

Stewart, who will preside at the ceremonies, will introduce a number of persons who have been instrumental in the hospital program. He first will introduce S. Russ Minter, architect for the job, and Edgar D. Vandegrift, president of the John I. Vandegrift Company, who will build the addition.

Others to be presented include Miss Mary Howie, superintendent of Miners Hospital; members of the hospital Board of Directors, officers of the hospital Ladies Auxiliary and guests of Governor McKeldin.

The Governor then will be called upon for a few remarks after which he will turn the first spadeful of dirt for the project.

Rev. Regis F. Larkin, assistant pastor of St. Michael's Catholic Church, will pronounce the benediction.

When the State Department of Public Improvements opened bids January 14 in Baltimore on the hospital project, the Vandegrift firm was low among five bidders. The low offer was $342,700. Originally, it had been hoped to build the addition for about $250,000. The addition will be used primarily for maternity and juvenile patients. A dangerous loop in the road leading to the hospital will be removed. An access road will be added behind the new construction.

Action In Baby's Death Pending Mental Report

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher said yesterday no further action will be taken, in connection with the death of a four-month-old girl in a semi-filled bathtub, until a report on a mental examination of the mother is received.

The mother, Mrs. Shirley (Geary) Rephann, 23, of Bowman's Addition, was returned from Baltimore Monday night after having been given mental tests by Dr. Mannfred Guttmacher, criminal pschiatrist of the Baltimore Supreme Bench. She has been confined in the detention room of the Allegany County Infirmary since the death of the child last Thursday.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, gave a verdict of death by drowning following an autopsy by Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, pathologist.

The body of the infant, Karen Gail, was discovered by the father when he returned from work last Thursday morning.

Limited Parking Will Be Started At Court House

Beginning at least by next Tuesday, a 15-minute parking zone will be established along Washington Street in front of the Allegany County Court House.

Police Lt. Raymond R. Johnston appeared before the Board of County Commissioners yesterday to explain the plan. He wants to have it in operation by next Tuesday because that is the date on which new automobile license plates will be sold for the first time.

The commissioners agreed that it is a good idea to have limited parking for the convenience of those having business to transact in the Court House. At present, some cars are parked in front of the Court House all day long.

Unseasonal Temperature Tops Record

Climbing temperatures in Cumberland smashed another record yesterday as thermometers marched to an official 78 degrees.

It was the highest reading ever measured on a February 16 in the Queen City, according to records dating back to 1912 at Constitution Park weather station. It is second as a February high, topped only by an 88-degree reading on February 11, 1932.

In the third straight day of spring weather, Cumberland also topped readings in the "Sunny South" and the "vacation land" of Florida. The city was one degree higher than Miami, three degrees over Richmond and four degrees higher than Atlanta. Louisville and Memphis were also below the Cumberland high with 60 and 70 readings respectively.

However, Jacksonville, Fla., topped Cumberland by one degree, and New Orleans towered over this city with an 81-degree maximum. But in the "Dusty West," Cumberland was 11 degrees higher than Dallas, Texas; 22 degrees over Denver, Colo., and on the Pacific coast, this city topped Los Angeles by 13 degrees; San Francisco by 19 degrees and Seattle by 27.

Rain began falling in Cumberland about 9:30 p. m. and forecasters said scattered showers and thunderstorms this morning would cool things off a little today. However, they predicted temperatures would still be five to 10 degrees above normal.

Taking a longer look, the weatherman also saw the unseasonal warmth returning tomorrow afternoon and Friday.

CD Warning System Is In Top Condition

Arthur B. Gibson, Civil Defense coordinator, reported that Saturday's test of this city's disaster warning system was generally satisfactory.

The only hitch was that only three of the four sirens were set off when the test was touched off at noon. Due to a faulty relay, the small siren located at Brown Avenue did not get into operation during the test.

Gibson said the trouble has since been cleared up, and that all of the sirens should be in operation when they are needed.

Coverage of the simultaneous blasts was much better, he said Walter C. Byer reported, than when they were set off singly.

Training Session For Nurse Aides Scheduled Here

Workshop Will Be Held Feb. 26-27

Initial workshops in the Nursing Aide Project for Western Maryland hospitals, designed to train auxiliary nursing personnel, will be held here February 26 and 27.

Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis said the sessions, for the eight hospitals in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties, will be held at Sacred Heart Hospital.

Similar workshops for the 14 nursing homes in the three counties will be held March 5 and 6.

The first regional teacher-training institute of the Nursing Aide Project was held in Baltimore February 1-5. Co-sponsored by the American Hospital Association, the Department of Hospital Nursing of the National League for Nursing and the United States Public Health Service, the program is to help hospitals "develop on-the-job training for untrained or inadequately trained nursing personnel, not to create a new group of workers or prepare persons for licensure.

Maryland is the first state in the U. S. to start the program, which the sponsors plan to make a national project.

The program is designed for all sizes and types of hospitals and nursing homes, with particular attention to the needs of small institutions.

Nurses, selected by the state to attend the institute and teach the program, are Mrs. Lewis for Western Maryland, consisting of Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties; Mrs. Barbara Howell, Baltimore, Central and Southern Maryland; and Miss Rose Marie Bishop, Salisbury, for the Eastern Shore.

The Weather

Temperature climbed to an official 78 degrees yesterday, setting a record high for any February 16 since 1912. It was also the second highest February reading since that year. Low yesterday was 50, and at 8 p. m., mercury stood at 67 degrees. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 41 per cent. A much-needed rain began falling at about 9:30 p. m., and the Weather Bureau predicted readings today will be cooled to between five and 10 degrees above normal.

Autopsy Work In Boy's Death Will Continue

Much Time Involved In Analysis Study

Authorities last night said an autopsy report in the death of a four-year-old local boy has not been completed yet due to the many time-consuming experiments involved.

They added the cause of the death of William M. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smith, 120 South Lee Street, may not be as baffling as it appears.

The child died shortly after being admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital Sunday night. Investigating the death is Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, who was at the hospital while Dr. Benedict Skitarelic performed an autopsy Sunday.

Much Work To Be Done

There is some indication that the boy, who came home complaining of being ill, had eaten some substance that caused poisoning. Whether it was chemical poisoning or other causes is not definitely known yet.

Authorities explained that examination and experiments connected with such an autopsy take much time, sometimes several days. Although a probable cause of death may be known, nothing is definite until the numerous experiments and analysis of substances excludes any other possibilities.

These include microscopic tissue examinations, analysis of body chemicals and substances and many other factors that have to be taken into account.

Funeral Today

Police surmised that the child may have come into contact with chemicals used to extinguish the flaming house last December. The child and some companions had been playing in the burned-out house Sunday afternoon.

Detective Roy C. Hawse, who investigated, went to the damaged home and took samples for analysis. Findings of police will also be included in the autopsy report, which will be turned over to Dr. Deming.

Services for the young victim will be held today at 11 a. m. in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church. Interment will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Lincoln Day Dinner Tickets Still Available

Tickets are still available for the Lincoln Day Dinner being sponsored by the Allegany County Republican State Central Committee tomorrow evening in the recreational hall of Centre Street Methodist Church.

Edgar M. Lewis, chairman of the event, said there are a number of tickets available for those who act promptly. Tickets may be obtained at the offices of U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde in the Postoffice Building; at the office of the Allegany County Bar Association in the Court House, and by calling the Sheriff's Office.

Principal speaker at the dinner will be Governor Theodore R. McKeldin. He will talk on two subjects: the first, a review of his administration in the state during the past year, and the second, devoted to Abraham Lincoln.

Other speakers will be Edward D. E. Rollins, attorney general of Maryland; Senator Beall, and Rep. Hyde.

Earl E. Manges, chairman of the State Central Committee, said a sellout crowd is expected.

One part of the program, he added, will be a ten-minute "mystery" feature from Washington.

Drops 'Way Down

The reason for the city ban on the use of water for non-essential purposes is clearly shown in this view of Lake Gordon, which has dropped seven feet, four inches below the crest of the dam, leaving the city with a 20-day supply of water, short of pumping water over the crest of the dam. City officials have urged everyone to use good judgment in the use of water until rains come to replenish the water in the big dams in nearby Pennsylvania.

Life Underwriters' Group Offers 3 Aims For Year

After having completed 23 years of service in the Tri-State area, the Cumberland Life Underwriters' Association has three principal aims for 1954, according to its leaders.

The objectives are (1) to inform the public about new developments in life insurance, (2) to help keep agents up to date in rendering service to the public and (3) to promote professional ethics among life underwriters.

In fulfilling its program, the association meets for lunch on the third Friday of each month at Central YMCA. At the January session Albert H. Hargreaves, director of the Industrial Promotion Department of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, spoke on the topic "Sales Approach to Industrial Promotion."

Bernard J. Loraditch, an agent for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, is now the president of the association. Other officers are E. C. Rosencrance, first vice-president; Joseph F. Struntz, second vice-president; Lawrence M. Roberson, treasurer; Albert H. Macy, secretary. Directors are Thurmond O. Cassell, Richard K. Jackson, Norbert B. O'Donnell, Thomas F. Conlon Jr., D. I. DeWitt and W. L. McKenzie.

The association now has about 75 paid-up members for 1954 and they represent 15 different life insurance companies in and around Cumberland. The companies include Aetna, Atlantic, Bankers, Equitable, Farm Bureau, Home Beneficial, Home Friendly, Metropolitan, Monarch, Monumental, Penn Mutual, Peoples, Prudential, Travelers and United All States.

Organized in January, 1931, the group started as the Allegany County chapter of the National Association of Insurance Agents. Thomas F. Conlon served as president of the association during its first two years.

Conlon obtained plans for the local organization from Wallace Storer of Indianapolis, Ind., who then was national president of the association. This occurred while they were attending an insurance school of instruction in St. Petersburg, Fla., in January, 1931.

After the organization was formed a grievance committee was appointed to iron out many difficulties. The result was greater harmony and closer cooperation among agents and companies.

A number of unethical practices were stopped as a result of the association's efforts. Conlon recalled several to illustrate the point.

"At one time many of the industrial policy holders were ill advised concerning their protection by a man who appeared on a radio program," the association's first president recalled. "On his program he informed policy holders that they could cash in their policies and then reinsure. Often policy holders could not reinsure because of physical handicaps that developed after they acquired the original policy. This man was removed from this activity," he added.

Conlon also cited the case of an agent who was instrumental in having a man sign away his dividends amounting to $750. The agent then applied the dividends to the purchase of a new policy. As a result of the association's investigation the company which employed this agent was notified and the agent immediately was removed. The money was replaced to the insured's credit by the special agent of this company.

Other presidents of the association after Conlon were Walter L. Pierce, Jesse Holmes, John Park, Franklin W. Kremer, Douglas E. Ritchie, Lawrence M. Roberson, Henry K. Duke, Donald U. Moffett, Thurmond O. Cassell, Ray F. Hamner, George M. Martin, Robert O. Collins and George Remer.

Wills Creek Water Provides Supply For Washing Cars

It took an enterprising service station operator here only a short time yesterday to get around an emergency ban imposed by the city on the use of water for washing cars.

The formula: Wills Creek water, a length of water hose, a motor, and the pump mechanism from an unused gasoline pump.

Clarence Wagner, of Wagner's Esso Station, North Mechanic Street, rigged up the emergency supply within a short time after he read of the emergency restrictions ,and proceeded to offer service as usual.

Forestry Group To Meet Today

Some 35 full-time employes of the State Department of Forests and Parks from the four westernmost counties will meet at the Court House here at 9:30 o'clock this morning to begin the annual all-day winter training meeting.

The coming spring fire season and the tree planting program will come in for chief discussion, according to District Forester William H. Johnson. Leaders of the meeting will be State Forester H. C. Buckingham and A. R. Bond, an assistant forester in charge of woodland management.

When spring planting season arrives, the department will have about 1,500,000 trees for free distribution in the four counties, Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick.

The department will use its tree planting machine at a rental of $10 an acre. It takes about 1,000 trees to reforest an acre. Chief varieties available are white, red and Scotch pine and Norway and white spruce.

Penn State Alumni Meeting Is Called

The Western Maryland Branch of the Penn State Alumni Association will meet February 24 at 7 p. m. at the Queen City Brewing Company, according to William Barger, president.

The local branch has about 50 members, and an effort is to be made to interest other alumni in the area in the association, Robert J. Sutton, secretary, said.

The meeting next week is open to husbands and wives of the alumni, Sutton noted.

House Attacks Higher Fee Plan For Auto Tags

Ways And Means Group Takes Action

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 16 (AP) — A double-edged attack on higher fees for license tags opened in the General Assembly today.

The House Ways and Means Committee, including its Republicans as well as Democrats, issued a statement urging a scheduled jump in plate charges be postponed from 1955 until 1956. And next year, it said, the increase might be stricken out forever.

Chairman Thompson (D-Dorchester), said a bill to order the delay would emerge under complete committee sponsorship.

Beat To Punch

His notice followed a bill by Sen. Malkus, also a Dorchester Democrat, to do the same thing. Malkus beat the committee to the punch with an announcement that he thought tags cost enough as it is and he doubted the state needed additional revenues to carry out its 568-million-dollar roads program.

The 1953 Legislature, in adopting the 12-year highway plan, approved a penny increase in the gasoline tax and boosts of about 33 per cent in registration fees. But it held off effect of the latter until 1955. As the law stands, tags on most cars will cost $20 instead of $15. For large cars, the price will go from $23 to $30, accompanied by similar increases for trucks and other vehicles.

Ahead Of Estimates

Thompson said the committee had found roads taxes were running ahead of estimates but present forecasts were more conservative.

If the "recessive tendency of the economy continues," roads costs should diminish with revenues, he said. If not, income may exceed estimates. In either event, the picture should be clearer next year.

"For this reason, and because excess revenues in the current year should assure that the 12-year program will not be impaired, this committee has decided to introduce a bill deferring the effective date of the increase until April 1, 1956," he said. "If conditions warrant such action, it is our desire that this increase should be repealed entirely in the 1955 session."

Conditions then will govern action, Thompson said.

Otherwise in the House, Del. Robinson (D-Balto 4th) expressed an increasingly evident feeling that Gov. McKeldin's 238-million dollar budget for 1954-55 would be hard to chip.

Robinson, a member of the Ways and Means Committee, recalled that unit last year cut the better part of two millions from the administration's budget proposal.

"The governor in framing the present budget has already anticipated legislative cuts, something that he did not do a year ago."

McKeldin had said in recommending appropriations he made no attempts to put back what the legislature eliminated in 1953.

Whitworth Bill

The House Ways and Means Committee also heard arguments against a bill by Del. Whitworth (R-Allegany) to reshuffle receipts from what amounts to a personal property tax on utilities. Twenty counties would gain, but Baltimore and three counties — Wicomico, Frederick and Garrett—would suffer.

Del. Sklar (D-Balto 4th) and 20 others signed a petition which forced the House Rules Committee to let go of a bill calling for a convention to rewrite the state constitution. The committee had intended to keep the bill out of this session. Speaker Luber (D-Balto 5th), said it wasn't "apropo" for a 30-day session.

The bill went to the Judiciary Committee where it could sit for another 10 days before being forced to the floor.

Puts Off Action

The Senate put off action again on a constitutional amendment to drop the voting age from 21 to 18. At the request of Chairman Turnbull (D-Baltimore County), the measure was sent back to the Judiciary Committee. Turnbull explained later some senators wanted to add a provision that only youths in service under 21 could vote.

Del. Dempsey (D-Balto 3rd) along with Del. Acker (D-Balto 3rd) acted within less than 48 hours on a suggestion of Simon E. Sobeloff to give the Court of Appeals more discretionary powers.

They put in a bill incorporating Sobeloff's recommendation that the Court of Appeals be permitted to modify a sentence of death. The court, which Sobeloff leaves as chief judge on Feb. 25 to become U. S. solicitor general, now may overthrow the verdict of a lower court, but can't change the sentence itself.

Only the governor has the power to commute a death penalty.

Five Acres Burned On Fairview Mountain

About five acres of woodland on the west side of Fairview Mountain just east of Hancock in Washington County were destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon, according to District Forester William H. Johnson.

Monday night a dump fire along Christie Road extended into a woods and burned about half an acre. Baltimore Pike Volunteer Firemen and Johnson responded.

Ordinance Asked To Aid Cleaning Of Business Area

Alternate Parking Plan Is Proposed

Regulation of night parking in the downtown area will be sought by the Street Department in order to do a better job of cleaning streets in the business area.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, announced yesterday she has asked Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, to prepare the ordinance.

The ordinance would specify a schedule for parking on alternate sides of the street during night hours, when the motorized street sweeper is assigned to the business area.

Complaints Received

Mrs. Roeder said the department has received a number of complaints, most of them justified, from merchants who say streets have not been properly cleaned.

A number of plans have been tried to secure cooperation of motorists during nights when the sweeper is scheduled to clean streets. She said police have cooperated in the drives, in an attempt to provide a cleaner city.

"We can't get to first base," she commented, as long as sweeper crews have to run a zigzag path, avoiding parked cars.

Last week, the Street Department had its sweeper running around the clock in order to remove dirt left from recent snows, and officials said the crews did a fine job on streets where they were not hampered by parked cars.

Many Plans Tried

A number of plans have been used here in order to make full use of the sweeper. One was to post signs on streets, listing the sweeping schedule, and asking drivers to park elsewhere on sweeping nights. Slips asking cooperation were attached to the windshields of parked cars.

The ordinance would put teeth into the alternate parking plan, and may give the Police Department power to tow away cars illegally parked on streets to be visited by the sweeper crews.

Commissioners Approve $1,600 In Contributions

Contributions totaling $1,600 for two campaigns were approved yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

These gifts will match the contributions of a year ago. The Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, will receive $1,000 and the Allegany County Heart Association will get $600.

At yesterday's session the commissioners received a 1953 Heart Merit Award for their efforts in behalf of the Heart Fund Drive. The certificate was sent by David Kauffman, president of the Allegany County Heart Association.

The commissioners also received a check for $153.60 from the Farm Bureau Mutual Auto Insurance Company for damage done to the Locust Grove Bridge across Wills Creek in the Narrows. The damage occurred in December when the automobile of William B. Bennett rammed the bridge and ended up in Wills Creek.

A letter from Ross Shaw of Oldtown, urging the commissioners to approve a resolution asking the Postmaster General to authorize issuance of a commemorative stamp for the 200th anniversary of the founding of Fort Cumberland, was received.

Mrs. Roeder To Attend Meet

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, has accepted an invitation to attend the White House Conference on Highway Safety, which opens today in Washington.

She will represent Cumberland on the Women's Group, one of seven divisions into which the three-day forum is divided.

President Eisenhower has called the conference to develop nationwide support, on the community level, for proven methods of highway safety.

Safety officials already know how to reduce accidents and the purpose of the conference is to translate this knowledge into results by securing continuing public support for safety rules.

The immediate goal of the safety crusade is to cut the highway toll by 40 per cent this year. The expected results—saving the lives of 15,000 who would be killed on the highways, and another 50,000 from injuries.

Governor Will Break Ground For Hospital Job

Frostburg Ceremony Planned For Friday

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin will move the first shovelful of dirt for the new addition to Miners Hospital in Frostburg in a groundbreaking ceremony, which will get under way at 10:30 a. m. Friday.

Register of Wills A. Charles Stewart, chairman of the Board of Directors of Miners Hospital, has arranged the program.

Dr. Paul V. Taylor, pastor of Frostburg's Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, will open the program by delivering the invocation.

Stewart, who will preside at the ceremonies, will introduce a number of persons who have been instrumental in the hospital program. He first will introduce S. Russ Minter, architect for the job, and Edgar D. Vandegrift, president of the John I. Vandegrift Company, who will build the addition.

Others to be presented include Miss Mary Howie, superintendent of Miners Hospital; members of the hospital Board of Directors, officers of the hospital Ladies Auxiliary and guests of Governor McKeldin.

The Governor then will be called upon for a few remarks after which he will turn the first spadeful of dirt for the project.

Rev. Regis F. Larkin, assistant pastor of St. Michael's Catholic Church, will pronounce the benediction.

When the State Department of Public Improvements opened bids January 14 in Baltimore on the hospital project, the Vandegrift firm was low among five bidders. The low offer was $342,700. Originally, it had been hoped to build the addition for about $250,000. The addition will be used primarily for maternity and juvenile patients. A dangerous loop in the road leading to the hospital will be removed. An access road will be added behind the new construction.

Action In Baby's Death Pending Mental Report

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher said yesterday no further action will be taken, in connection with the death of a four-month-old girl in a semi-filled bathtub, until a report on a mental examination of the mother is received.

The mother, Mrs. Shirley (Geary) Rephann, 23, of Bowman's Addition, was returned from Baltimore Monday night after having been given mental tests by Dr. Mannfred Guttmacher, criminal pschiatrist of the Baltimore Supreme Bench. She has been confined in the detention room of the Allegany County Infirmary since the death of the child last Thursday.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, gave a verdict of death by drowning following an autopsy by Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, pathologist.

The body of the infant, Karen Gail, was discovered by the father when he returned from work last Thursday morning.

Limited Parking Will Be Started At Court House

Beginning at least by next Tuesday, a 15-minute parking zone will be established along Washington Street in front of the Allegany County Court House.

Police Lt. Raymond R. Johnston appeared before the Board of County Commissioners yesterday to explain the plan. He wants to have it in operation by next Tuesday because that is the date on which new automobile license plates will be sold for the first time.

The commissioners agreed that it is a good idea to have limited parking for the convenience of those having business to transact in the Court House. At present, some cars are parked in front of the Court House all day long.

Unseasonal Temperature Tops Record

Climbing temperatures in Cumberland smashed another record yesterday as thermometers marched to an official 78 degrees.

It was the highest reading ever measured on a February 16 in the Queen City, according to records dating back to 1912 at Constitution Park weather station. It is second as a February high, topped only by an 88-degree reading on February 11, 1932.

In the third straight day of spring weather, Cumberland also topped readings in the "Sunny South" and the "vacation land" of Florida. The city was one degree higher than Miami, three degrees over Richmond and four degrees higher than Atlanta. Louisville and Memphis were also below the Cumberland high with 60 and 70 readings respectively.

However, Jacksonville, Fla., topped Cumberland by one degree, and New Orleans towered over this city with an 81-degree maximum. But in the "Dusty West," Cumberland was 11 degrees higher than Dallas, Texas; 22 degrees over Denver, Colo., and on the Pacific coast, this city topped Los Angeles by 13 degrees; San Francisco by 19 degrees and Seattle by 27.

Rain began falling in Cumberland about 9:30 p. m. and forecasters said scattered showers and thunderstorms this morning would cool things off a little today. However, they predicted temperatures would still be five to 10 degrees above normal.

Taking a longer look, the weatherman also saw the unseasonal warmth returning tomorrow afternoon and Friday.

CD Warning System Is In Top Condition

Arthur B. Gibson, Civil Defense coordinator, reported that Saturday's test of this city's disaster warning system was generally satisfactory.

The only hitch was that only three of the four sirens were set off when the test was touched off at noon. Due to a faulty relay, the small siren located at Brown Avenue did not get into operation during the test.

Gibson said the trouble has since been cleared up, and that all of the sirens should be in operation when they are needed.

Coverage of the simultaneous blasts was much better, he said Walter C. Byer reported, than when they were set off singly.

Training Session For Nurse Aides Scheduled Here

Workshop Will Be Held Feb. 26-27

Initial workshops in the Nursing Aide Project for Western Maryland hospitals, designed to train auxiliary nursing personnel, will be held here February 26 and 27.

Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis said the sessions, for the eight hospitals in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties, will be held at Sacred Heart Hospital.

Similar workshops for the 14 nursing homes in the three counties will be held March 5 and 6.

The first regional teacher-training institute of the Nursing Aide Project was held in Baltimore February 1-5. Co-sponsored by the American Hospital Association, the Department of Hospital Nursing of the National League for Nursing and the United States Public Health Service, the program is to help hospitals "develop on-the-job training for untrained or inadequately trained nursing personnel, not to create a new group of workers or prepare persons for licensure.

Maryland is the first state in the U. S. to start the program, which the sponsors plan to make a national project.

The program is designed for all sizes and types of hospitals and nursing homes, with particular attention to the needs of small institutions.

Nurses, selected by the state to attend the institute and teach the program, are Mrs. Lewis for Western Maryland, consisting of Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties; Mrs. Barbara Howell, Baltimore, Central and Southern Maryland; and Miss Rose Marie Bishop, Salisbury, for the Eastern Shore.

The Weather

Temperature climbed to an official 78 degrees yesterday, setting a record high for any February 16 since 1912. It was also the second highest February reading since that year. Low yesterday was 50, and at 8 p. m., mercury stood at 67 degrees. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 41 per cent. A much-needed rain began falling at about 9:30 p. m., and the Weather Bureau predicted readings today will be cooled to between five and 10 degrees above normal.

Autopsy Work In Boy's Death Will Continue

Much Time Involved In Analysis Study

Authorities last night said an autopsy report in the death of a four-year-old local boy has not been completed yet due to the many time-consuming experiments involved.

They added the cause of the death of William M. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smith, 120 South Lee Street, may not be as baffling as it appears.

The child died shortly after being admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital Sunday night. Investigating the death is Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, who was at the hospital while Dr. Benedict Skitarelic performed an autopsy Sunday.

Much Work To Be Done

There is some indication that the boy, who came home complaining of being ill, had eaten some substance that caused poisoning. Whether it was chemical poisoning or other causes is not definitely known yet.

Authorities explained that examination and experiments connected with such an autopsy take much time, sometimes several days. Although a probable cause of death may be known, nothing is definite until the numerous experiments and analysis of substances excludes any other possibilities.

These include microscopic tissue examinations, analysis of body chemicals and substances and many other factors that have to be taken into account.

Funeral Today

Police surmised that the child may have come into contact with chemicals used to extinguish the flaming house last December. The child and some companions had been playing in the burned-out house Sunday afternoon.

Detective Roy C. Hawse, who investigated, went to the damaged home and took samples for analysis. Findings of police will also be included in the autopsy report, which will be turned over to Dr. Deming.

Services for the young victim will be held today at 11 a. m. in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church. Interment will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Lincoln Day Dinner Tickets Still Available

Tickets are still available for the Lincoln Day Dinner being sponsored by the Allegany County Republican State Central Committee tomorrow evening in the recreational hall of Centre Street Methodist Church.

Edgar M. Lewis, chairman of the event, said there are a number of tickets available for those who act promptly. Tickets may be obtained at the offices of U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde in the Postoffice Building; at the office of the Allegany County Bar Association in the Court House, and by calling the Sheriff's Office.

Principal speaker at the dinner will be Governor Theodore R. McKeldin. He will talk on two subjects: the first, a review of his administration in the state during the past year, and the second, devoted to Abraham Lincoln.

Other speakers will be Edward D. E. Rollins, attorney general of Maryland; Senator Beall, and Rep. Hyde.

Earl E. Manges, chairman of the State Central Committee, said a sellout crowd is expected.

One part of the program, he added, will be a ten-minute "mystery" feature from Washington.

Drops 'Way Down

The reason for the city ban on the use of water for non-essential purposes is clearly shown in this view of Lake Gordon, which has dropped seven feet, four inches below the crest of the dam, leaving the city with a 20-day supply of water, short of pumping water over the crest of the dam. City officials have urged everyone to use good judgment in the use of water until rains come to replenish the water in the big dams in nearby Pennsylvania.

Life Underwriters' Group Offers 3 Aims For Year

After having completed 23 years of service in the Tri-State area, the Cumberland Life Underwriters' Association has three principal aims for 1954, according to its leaders.

The objectives are (1) to inform the public about new developments in life insurance, (2) to help keep agents up to date in rendering service to the public and (3) to promote professional ethics among life underwriters.

In fulfilling its program, the association meets for lunch on the third Friday of each month at Central YMCA. At the January session Albert H. Hargreaves, director of the Industrial Promotion Department of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, spoke on the topic "Sales Approach to Industrial Promotion."

Bernard J. Loraditch, an agent for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, is now the president of the association. Other officers are E. C. Rosencrance, first vice-president; Joseph F. Struntz, second vice-president; Lawrence M. Roberson, treasurer; Albert H. Macy, secretary. Directors are Thurmond O. Cassell, Richard K. Jackson, Norbert B. O'Donnell, Thomas F. Conlon Jr., D. I. DeWitt and W. L. McKenzie.

The association now has about 75 paid-up members for 1954 and they represent 15 different life insurance companies in and around Cumberland. The companies include Aetna, Atlantic, Bankers, Equitable, Farm Bureau, Home Beneficial, Home Friendly, Metropolitan, Monarch, Monumental, Penn Mutual, Peoples, Prudential, Travelers and United All States.

Organized in January, 1931, the group started as the Allegany County chapter of the National Association of Insurance Agents. Thomas F. Conlon served as president of the association during its first two years.

Conlon obtained plans for the local organization from Wallace Storer of Indianapolis, Ind., who then was national president of the association. This occurred while they were attending an insurance school of instruction in St. Petersburg, Fla., in January, 1931.

After the organization was formed a grievance committee was appointed to iron out many difficulties. The result was greater harmony and closer cooperation among agents and companies.

A number of unethical practices were stopped as a result of the association's efforts. Conlon recalled several to illustrate the point.

"At one time many of the industrial policy holders were ill advised concerning their protection by a man who appeared on a radio program," the association's first president recalled. "On his program he informed policy holders that they could cash in their policies and then reinsure. Often policy holders could not reinsure because of physical handicaps that developed after they acquired the original policy. This man was removed from this activity," he added.

Conlon also cited the case of an agent who was instrumental in having a man sign away his dividends amounting to $750. The agent then applied the dividends to the purchase of a new policy. As a result of the association's investigation the company which employed this agent was notified and the agent immediately was removed. The money was replaced to the insured's credit by the special agent of this company.

Other presidents of the association after Conlon were Walter L. Pierce, Jesse Holmes, John Park, Franklin W. Kremer, Douglas E. Ritchie, Lawrence M. Roberson, Henry K. Duke, Donald U. Moffett, Thurmond O. Cassell, Ray F. Hamner, George M. Martin, Robert O. Collins and George Remer.

Wills Creek Water Provides Supply For Washing Cars

It took an enterprising service station operator here only a short time yesterday to get around an emergency ban imposed by the city on the use of water for washing cars.

The formula: Wills Creek water, a length of water hose, a motor, and the pump mechanism from an unused gasoline pump.

Clarence Wagner, of Wagner's Esso Station, North Mechanic Street, rigged up the emergency supply within a short time after he read of the emergency restrictions ,and proceeded to offer service as usual.

Forestry Group To Meet Today

Some 35 full-time employes of the State Department of Forests and Parks from the four westernmost counties will meet at the Court House here at 9:30 o'clock this morning to begin the annual all-day winter training meeting.

The coming spring fire season and the tree planting program will come in for chief discussion, according to District Forester William H. Johnson. Leaders of the meeting will be State Forester H. C. Buckingham and A. R. Bond, an assistant forester in charge of woodland management.

When spring planting season arrives, the department will have about 1,500,000 trees for free distribution in the four counties, Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick.

The department will use its tree planting machine at a rental of $10 an acre. It takes about 1,000 trees to reforest an acre. Chief varieties available are white, red and Scotch pine and Norway and white spruce.

Penn State Alumni Meeting Is Called

The Western Maryland Branch of the Penn State Alumni Association will meet February 24 at 7 p. m. at the Queen City Brewing Company, according to William Barger, president.

The local branch has about 50 members, and an effort is to be made to interest other alumni in the area in the association, Robert J. Sutton, secretary, said.

The meeting next week is open to husbands and wives of the alumni, Sutton noted.

House Attacks Higher Fee Plan For Auto Tags

Ways And Means Group Takes Action

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 16 (AP) — A double-edged attack on higher fees for license tags opened in the General Assembly today.
